SAN QUENTIN BUILDING PREPARED FOR COURT HEARINGS

ACTION ANGERS REAGAN

Senate Kills Tax Revision Plan

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate killed Gov. Ronald Reagan's $1 billion tax revision plan by one vote last night and the governor angrily vowed to resubmit the same proposal again next year if reelected.

Reagan told a hastily called late night news conference that Californians had "suffered a staggering setback in their efforts to obtain substantial and lasting property tax relief."

The bill failed to pass the Senate by only one vote as the Legislature sped toward adjournment tonight of its 1970 session.

The roll call was 26-13, with 27 votes needed for passage. All 13 opponents were Democrats except for one lone Republican, Sen. Clark L. Bradley of San Jose.

Reagan would have had his 27th vote had Sen. Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando, not been hospitalized with diabetes. Senate leader Jack Schrade emotionally told his colleagues that Carrell's wife had called him and asked if one of the opponents would cast a "courtsy" vote for her husband. Schrade asked them "to look at their consciences."

Opponents already had caused and decided not to cast a "courtesy" vote for Carrell. They pointed out Republicans, and Reagan, previously had deined so-called "courtesy" votes to them.

Reagan's package, which he regarded as his most important legislative program since becoming governor, would have established state income tax withholding.

It's main purpose, however, was to provide substantial homeowners property tax relief. This it would have done by raising other taxes, such as sales.

Two bills of Reagan's tax package had cleared both the Assembly and the Senate, but the third and final measure required 27 votes—two-thirds of the House.

The same bill also was blocked July 28 by one vote. Administration forces waited until Thursday to take it up again in anticipation of Dennis Carpenter's swearing in as a senator. The state Republican chairman won a special Orange County election Tuesday.

But Carpenter's presence was canceled out by the sickness of Carrell, who voted for the measure.

The same 13 senators who blocked the bill the first time killed it outright Thursday night. All parlimentary devices to keep the bill alive were exhausted after that.

The defeat was a bitter blow for Reagan who campaigned on a property tax relief plank in 1966. The governor said he had "no plans" to call a special legislative session, but wasn't ruling it out.

The measure's legislative sponsor, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, told newsmen he saw "no point" in calling a special session this year because it was clear the governor didn't have enough votes to pass a tax program.

Reagan was asked whether he would submit the same program again next year, and (campaign) promise four years ago and I still mean it. I think one of the most antiquated, out of date taxes that we have is the property tax. We'll try again."

The governor vowed to "do my best" to see that voters are constantly reminded of who killed the measure, and noted he will have plenty opportunity to do this during the fall campaigning.

"The hopes of millions of Californians for tax relief were dashed by the irresponsible actions of a small minority of 13 senators who chose to put face-saving considerations—for primarily partisan political reasons—ahead of the interest of the people," he charged.

Reagan included Republican Bradley in his criticism.

But the conservative San Jose senator told newsmen, "I sincerely and honestly believe the defeat of this tax program is in the best interests of the people. You have to put principle above politics."

Senate Democratic floor leador George Moscone of San Francisco said "The integrity of the legislature has been maintained. Finally, enough senators withstood the governor's demands and decided they were going to do the job they were elected to do—namely watch out for the welfare of the people."

There was very little debate on the measure, whose floor manager was Sen. Robert Lagomarsino, R-Ojai. The roll call was left open in the gaslit chamber for seven hours while

Senate Gives Cambodia, Laos A Financial Blow

Votes To Bar Aid To Foreign Troops

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted unanimously today to bar U.S. assistance to foreign troops fighting in support of Cambodia and Laos.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. J. William Fullbright, D-Ark., was rushed through by voice vote without objection as an amendment to the $19.2 billion defense procurement bill.

Both Fulbright and Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., emphasized it would not affect any operations in border sanctuary areas abutting Vietnam; nor would it affect sending of foreign troops into Laos or Cambodia on the part of countries acting on their own, without U.S. aid.

The Senate had first decided to put off a vote on the proposal, but then reversed itself and approved it. Stennis is floor manager of the military procurement bill.

If the amendment becomes law, it could throw a wrench into a reported tentative agreement between the United States and Thailand for sending 5,000 Thai regulars into Cambodia to shore up the Phnom Penh government.

It could also stop any plans by Vietnamese forces to assist the Laotian government.

"Wherever American tax dollars for waging a war go, the American flag inevitably follows," Fulbright said. "There will be no winning of the war in Cambodia on the cheap, by paying foreign forces to do the fighting."

Fulbright, however, assured Stennis that the amendment would not interfere with present U.S. air strikes and other allied activities in Laos or Cambodia designed to head off aggression in Vietnam.

The proposed amendment builds on language added to the bill by the Senate Armed Services Committee before it came to the floor.

The committee has charge of all foreign military assistance programs relating to the war in Vietnam. Last year, this authorization covered "Vietnamese and other free world forces in Vietnam."

But after the Cambodian operation was under way last May, the committee decided to "clarify" the language this year to provide funds for "Vietnamese and other free-world forces in support of Vietnamese forces."

In its report —but not in the actual law —the committee declared that the change in no way sanctioned the support of allied forces "in actions designed to provide military support and assistance to the Cambodian government."

That provision surprised many, since Stennis and other members of the committee had fought a closely-contested amendment to bar support from Cambodian mercenaries when the issue came up in June

ABAG Will Launch Study Into A Super Urban Renewal Agency

by PAUL E. PETERZELL

The proposal envisioned creation of a regional development agency to buy vacant land for later sale to developers in accord with the land uses in ABAG's regional plan for the next 20 years.

Sonoma and Santa Clara counties will be the targets of the one-year, $120,000 federally-funded feasibility study proposed by the planning and research firms of Eckbo, Dean, Austin and Williams and Volt Information Sciences.

The association's executive committee voted unanimously to apply for the grant and to employ the joint venture firms as consultants.

Executive director J. Julien Baget said the pilot study had "major future significance" as a means to carry out ABAG's regional plan. The plan, adopted this summer, called for development of population clusters to preserve open space.

Baget stressed that such a new public agency would have "to supplement, rather than supplant existing governmental units." It would be designed to become part of any limited function, multipurpose regional government formed in the future, he said.

The consulting firms' proposal declared that "the challenge of new communities, low-income housing, and opening of our nation's residential communities to all of our citizens, clearly requires action that can break the impasse created by restrictive local practices and an endless array of legal maneuvers designed to prevent the introduction of substantial numbers of minority Americans into the suburbs."

Clearly envisioning a super urban renewal agency, they called for an agency to assure planned urban growth to end the "vacuum that encourages precisely the kind of sprawling urban growth with which America is cursed."

The new agency would be "responsive primarily to the public good rather than to merely private gain," they said.

U.S., MEXICO AGREE TO END LAND DISPUTE

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (UPI) — The United States and Mexico today formally agreed to a settlement of all pending land disputes along the Rio Grande border and to a formula for settling such controversies in the future.

The agreement calls for a division of the disputed tract near Presidio, Tex., which would give 1,606 acres or 74.3 per cent of the area to Mexico and 556 acres or 25.7 per cent of the area to the U.S.

The agreement, first announced by Presidents Nixon and Gustavo Diaz Ordaz Thursday, will be incorporated into a treaty which must be approved by the senates of both countries.

Another Cost Of Living Rise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cost of living of Americans continued to rise last month at an annual rate of almost 5 per cent, but the purchasing power of workers' wages improved, the government reported today.

The Labor Department said the Consumer Price Index, one of the key indicators of the pace of the nation's economic pulse, rose 0.4 per cent in July —the same rate as for May and June. A full year rise at that rate would be 4.8 per cent.

But the report said that for the third consecutive month, spendable earnings of rank-and-file workers rose at a greater rater than the price index. That figure for July was $108.55 a week, up 80 cents from June, for an average worker with three dependents.

The index for July stood at 135.7—representing a jump of 5.9 per cent over July, 1969. The index meant that it cost $13.57 last month to buy the same goods and services that could have been obtained for $13.52 in June, $12.82 in July,

Israel Near Envoy To Mideast Talks; Nasser, Hussein Confer

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel is expected to name its representative to the Middle East peace talks by Monday, diplomatic sources in Tel Aviv said today.

While preparations for an early beginning to the talks were under way in Israel, President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and King Hussein of Jordan were meeting in Alexandria to plan Arab strategy for the discussions.

The question of where and at what level the talks would be held remained to be settled, but an Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman indicated Israel would be willing to drop its opposition to New York as a site.

Gunnar V. Jarring, the United Nations mediator in charge of the talks, has been quoted by a U.N. spokesman as agreeing with Israel that the talks should begin at the foreign minister level rather than the lower ambassadorial level favored by the Arabs.

Most Israeli newspapers today carried reports from Washington and New York saying that the United States would provide Israel with air-to-ground missiles and sophisticated radar systems capable of knocking out Soviet-Egyptian missile concentrations along the Suez Canal.

These reports said the United States was trying to restore the balance of power along the Suez Canal which the Israelis say has deteriorated severely following Arab missile movements in the area.

There was no confirmation of the reports from Israeli military sources.

The diplomatic sources in Tel Aviv said the Israeli representative probably will be appointed at the weekly cabinet meeting Sunday but the announcement will probably be withheld until Monday so it can be discussed in the Knesset (parliament).

The Knesset began its summer recess last week but was called back into session by the

Cambodian Troops Repel Enemy Push

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Outnumbered Cambodian defenders smashed the most determined Communist threat yet to Phnom Penh's defenses Thursday night to climax 24 hours of intense fighting that killed 500 North Vietnamese, military spokesmen said today.

Communiques from Saigon said North Vietnamese forces around Artillery Base O'Reilly near the Laotian border came under mortar attack twice during the night but there were no casualties. One American was killed and two U. S. troops and two South Vietnamese wounded Thursday when Communist ground fire shot down an American OH58 observation helicopter 12 miles east-southeast of Saigon.

As the Cambodian command claimed victory at nightfall, Communist units fired rockets and mortars into the fringe of downtown Phnom Penh for the first time.

The Mekong River stands between the Communist forces and Phnom Penh.

Cambodian spokesmen said the defenders were outnumbered 3-to-1 by 1,000 North Vietnamese but broke up the Communist drive at a point seven miles north of downtown Phnom Penh.

"It was vicious fighting—fierce fighting," a military spokesman said. He praised what he said was the heroism of the defenders, including a Cambodian commander who refused to be evacuated after he was wounded.

"He insisted on remaining with his troops to lead them to victory," he said.

Military spokesmen said Cambodian forces lost 19 men killed and 124 wounded and claimed 500 North Vietnamese killed and an unknown number wounded.

In a delayed report, the military spokesman said Cambodian troops have found 700 Communist bodies buried in mass graves in a forest near Skoun, 35 miles northeast of Phnom Penh. He said the communists evacuated 1,000 wounded northward after the eight-day battle in Skoun which ended Aug. 8.

Witnesses To Tell Of Manson Visit

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles Manson has denied repeatedly that he ever visited the Tate estate but prosecution witnesses will swear on the witness stand of seeing him talk to the slain actress, it was learned Friday.

A court official said Manson was seen on several occasions in the house and on the grounds talking to Sharon Tate before the pregnant actress was slain along with four other persons.

Rudy Altabelli, owner of the $225,000 estate leased by Miss Tate and her husband, film director Roman Polanski, a nd the star's personal photographer, S. Hatami are expected to testify next week of seeing Manson at the home.

When court convened Friday the presiding judge went personally to Manson's jail cell to investigate complaints he was harassed by sheriff's deputies.

Pentagon Admits Drug Abuse, Changes Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon, admitting to an "alarming increase" in drug abuse among American servicemen the world over, has ordered sweeping changes in its policies to prove it is serious in cracking down on drugs.

Keyed to education and rehabilitation the new crackdown also suggests granting legal amnesty to drug-troubled servicemen who wan to kick their habits.

The decision to take a new tack on combating drug abuse was made public Thursday before a senate subcommittee by Vice Adm. William P. Mack, a deputy assistant defense ssecretary who headed a special Pentagon drug task force.

He said Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird had approved the task force report Wednesday. Later, the Pentagon said Laird's approval made the report effective and that it would be implemented immediately. Mack testified on the last day of hearings begun more than five years ago by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn, into reports of rampant use of marijuana and narcotics in the military, particularly in Vietnam.

Dodd, however, was not quite satisfied. He grilled Mack and Frank A. Bartimo, an assistant general counsel at the Pantagon, about "why it took so long" for the Defense Department to act. He also demanded why Pentagon officials had denied the existence of a drug problem when they appeared before his committee two years ago.

"Because the situation today is far different then it was two years afo," Bartimo said. "In just two years the situation has become very serious indeed."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Diphtheria Spreads

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — A 13-year-old boy who lives on the city's north side became the city's 55th diphtheria case of the year Thursday, causing officials to fear the epidemic may have broken loose from its original confines.

Twenty-five cases have been reported in the last month.

The illness of the youth reflected a slight movement of the disease from the south and-southwest portions of the city, predominantly inhabited by Negroes and Mexican-Americans.

Sunken Ship Explodes

CAPE MAY, N.J. (UPI) — An explosion occurred Thursday when an old Liberty ship carrying 5,000 tons of obsolete ammunition hit the Atlantic Ocean floor. The Navy originally had planned to sink it near a mustard gas burial ground.

Navy officials said escort vessels five miles away felt the blast from the explosives aboard the Liberty ship David Hughes, but none of the vessels was damaged. The site was 118 miles due east of Cape May.

Hijacked Jet Back

MIAMI (UPI) — A Delta Airlines Super DC9 returned to the United States early today from Cuba where it was forced to fly by a stocky Latin American passenger who said he had a bomb in his attache case.

The plane arrived at Miami International Airport at 2:45 a.m. EDT after a 30-minute flight from Havana. it later proceeded toits destination, Savannah, Ga., after a brief stop.

Submarines Collide

TOULON, France (UPI) — The French submarine Galatee collided with the South African submarine Maria van Riebeek in the Mediterranean off this naval base Thursday night. Four seamen on the French vessel were killed, four were injured and two were missing.

The Galatee was beached after the collision but the Maria Van Rebeek limped to Toulon Naval Base. None of its crew was injured.

Naval officials refused to confirm reports that the collision resulted in an explosion aboard the Galatee and declined to give details of the accident which occurred on the surface a mile off Toulon.

Czech Anniversary

PRAGUE (UPI) — Life was normal in Prague today on the second anniversary of the Soviet-led invasion that crushed the liberal movement of former Communist party leader Alexander Dubcek.

Fewer people were in the streets than on normal working days. Streetcars, usually packed to capacity, were less crowded.

Illegal leaflets circulated earlier this month urged Czechoslovaks to boycott shops, movies and newspapers as a "silent demonstration" against the invasion.

Storm Kills Five; Damage At $5 Million

SUDBURY, Ont. (UPI)—The sky blackened and fat raindrops splattered against the workmen aloft on the 1,200-foot smokestack of the International Nickel Co. smelter.

"My house is blowing away, my house is blowing away," screamed a terrified female voice.

Then the line went dead.

It was after 8:30 a.m. (EDT) Thursday and a killer windstorm — probably a tornado — lashed without warning across the mining country of northern Ontario, striking through four communities.

LIKE DOLLHOUSES

The storm knocked over buildings like dollhouses, picked up railroad cars and heavy industrial machinery and blasted apart houses in puffs of lumber.

It sank boats, started fires from downed electrical wires, sailed roofs through the air like frisbees, splintered thousands of windows and snatched pedestrians and bowled them along the ground.

Sudbury police identified five dead. The city's hospitals reported more than 200 persons injured, 44 of them seriously. Six of those were listed as critical.

$5 MILLION DAMAGE

Len Turner, mayor of nearby Lively—a "model town" built for the nickel company's smelter workers—estimated damage at $1.5 million. the storm also sliced through Copper Cliff and, in Field 45 miles to the east, police said half the buildings in town were blown down, including the lumber mill that was the main industry for the town's 600 residents.

Sudbury is a nickel and coal mining town of about 100,000 about 200 miles northwest of Toronto. Copper Cliff, with about 3,600 persons, is about six miles to the west. Lively, with 1,000 inhabitants is four miles to the west.

More Terrorism Seen Aimed At U.S. Envoys

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department has told Congress it expects more assassinations and kidnappings of American diplomats abroad and wants money and manpower to counteract the terrorism.

Specifically, the department wants to organize emergency action teams, including a Navy Seabee armors expert, that could be deployed quickly to trouble spots.

It also has asked for a fleet of heavily armored vehicles, more Marine guards at embassies and money to hire more local guard forces.

"The steady increase in terrorist activities directed against U.S. government personnel and operations abroad, including assassinations and kidnappings, shows no signs of abatement. In fact, all indications point to an implification of the problem for some time to come," the department said.

The request came to light when the Senate Appropriations Committee released testimony taken last June. The department asked for $1,250,000 to launch three of the emergency action teams, bu the special armored cars and other vehicles and pay the salaries of the extra marines and local security guards.

Since the, Daniel Mitrione, a U.S. official, was murdered by terrorists in Uruguay. Another official, Claude Fry, is still a hostage there.

These victims were the latest in a series of slayings and kidnapings of U.S. diplomats in recent years.

Transportation Department Aide Criticizes Use Of Federal Funds

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — Strong criticism of planning on how to use transportation money came yesterday from a high federal source — a deputy assistant secretary in the Department of Transportation.

Michael Cafferty, in a meeting with 30 local, state and federal transportation officials, made it clear that the old dominance of highways over urban mass transit was going to end. He stressed that transportation planning also must consider social and environmental goals.

The $10 billion is the amount promised in pending legislation over the next 12 years for urban mass transit. Cafferty predicted final congressional approval of the measure within six weeks.

The federal government has been appropriating about $240 million a year for urban mass transit. The increased funding under the pending legislation would set up a trust fund, thus assuring continuing funding without annual appropriation fights.

By contrast, the federal government pumps about $5.5 billion a year in trust funds into highways.

Cafferty, reporting on "some very preliminary conclusions" of his department's survey of what is wrong with transportation planning, also criticized the common failure to involve citizens before major decisions are made.

He faulted failures to try new technology in transportation, to coordinate all forms of transportation, and to determine the goals of transportation planning. Such goals can include cutting congestion and inducing or controlling growth, but planning has failed to resolve the conflicts among competing goals, he said.

Cafferty said that his department's overhaul of planning processes was the first attempt to make some logical sense out of its aid programs. The overhaul was asked by the Office of Management and Budget, formerly the Bureau of the Budget, he said.

He repeatedly raised the issue of what kind of regional planning institution should be encouraged to do the needed planning. The job is being done in the Bay Area by the Association of Bay Area Governments, which called yesterday's meeting for Cafferty at the Hotel Claremont.

But the Legislature has approved a bill to take the job away from ABAG and give it to a Metropolitan Transportation Commission. ABAG nominally reviews local applications for grants, but has dodged federal requests that it assign priorities to show which projects are most important.

The MTC would be required to review all applications for grants, and to forward only those which were in accord with its regional transportation plan.

"We've reached a point in this country where we're not going to do things the way we've done them in the past," Cafferty declared. "There's a tremendous frustration in the country that there's no alternative to highways," he said.

The few officials who responded to Cafferty's presentation mainly objected that the $10 billion for urban mass transit was not enough.

"It's barely a start," said John Tolen, deputy for development to San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto. As for involving citizens in planning, he added, "sometimes we have too much citizen participation — although we're in favor of it, of course."

Cafferty, however, insisted the $10 billion was "very adequate," that the nation probably could not digest much more than this amount in the next few years, and that "if we use it wisely, then we can go back to Congress and get additional funds."

Human Resources Job Testing Set

An examination for jobs as employment and claims assistants at local offices of the Department of Human Resources will be held Sept. 12 at the San Rafael office of the department, according to Office Manager Edwin W. Ayer.

The job requires two years of work experience performing clerical, sales, technical, professional or managerial tasks, or equivalent education. The starting salary is $3.37 an hour.

ABAG Itself Is Bay Environment Award Nominee

I-J Special Report

Sonoma County Supervisor Ignazio A. Vella, president of ABAG, won prompt approval by the executive committee for his proposal to nominate the association for the 1970 award to be made by the Bay Area Council.

The council, a civic and development organization, presents its annual environment award to the citizen or organization making "the most significant contribution to the preservation and enhancement of our environment."

Vella said that ABAG deserved the award for its regional plan for the next two decades. The plan calls for development of population in clusters to preserve open space.

Vella said the plan "will have long-range impact on the development and conservation of the Bay Area."

Psychiatrist Says Rivas Under Stress

Ronald Rivas's ability to know right from wrong was "substantially impaired" the night he fatally shot his father, Fidel I. Rivas, in the family home at 59 Raposa Vista, Novato, on July 17, 1969.

This was the finding of Dr. Martin G. Blinder of San Anselmo, a psychiatrist put on the stand by the defense in young Rivas's murder trial being heard without a jury by Superior Court Judge Thomas F. Keating.

The doctor said that the stress of previous years of violent acts by Fidel Rivas toward his wife and mother of 13 children, Marjorie Rivas, and his threats and "tyranny" over the children had "decommissioned the thinking processes" of young Rivas to the point that he acted more or less automatically the fatal night, after the elder Rivas resoundingly slapped Mrs. Rivas.

While on the witness stand relating his memories of the night he shot his father, young Rivas had said it was if he were "outside" himself, hearing himself speaking and seeing himself acting without being able to control his actions.

The trial, now in its second week, is expected to wind up the middle of next week.

Sausalito Rec Panel Studies Tiffany Park

The Sausalito Recreation Commission last night reviewed precise plans for development of Tiffany Park and decided to hold a special meeting with its architect to prepare a presentation to the city council.

Chairman John P. Vetromile said the meeting date was not set. The plans call for benches, trees, grass and shrubbery at the quarter-acre park, which lies between North Street and Bridgeway in southern Sausalito.

The commission re-elected Vetromile chairman and Margaret Meeks secretary, and seated two new members, Harold T. Rogers of 106 Bridgeway, and Midge Lester of 8 Spencer Court. Commissioners also accepted the resignation of Mrs. Lee P. Perrone, who is moving from town, Vetromile said.

I-J's SUMMER INTERN

Not The Stereotype Of A Copy Reader

By DAVID DIETZ

Stereotype holds that a newspaper copy reader — one who struggles with reporters' pampered works — is a baldish, sometimes hardened, but sage fellow who wears a green eyeshade and is known to take a nip or two at the neighborhood tavern during his lunch hour.

It is a version widely exploited — and even embraced by newspaper people themselves because of attachment to Damon Runyonism.

But then along comes winsome Julie Fleece — dean's list student at Stanford University, third runner-up in the national Junior Miss Pageant in 1967 and member of Theta Sigma Phi, a journalism honor society.

Miss Fleece is 20 years old and probably has never laid eyes on the musty interior of a corner bar and even appears the type that leaves parties when things get raucous.

For eight weeks, Miss Fleece has been working on the Independent-Journal copy desk as an intern through the Newspaper Fund, Inc., an organization sponsored by the Wall Street Journal to provide college students with summer journalism experience.

Miss Fleece, who will receive a $500 scholarship from the fund toward her last quarter at Stanford this fall, said the experience has been enlightening and challenging.

"I never thought I'd write headlines as fast as I do now," she said. "On this paper, it's deadline pressure all the time."

Under the guidance of news editor Donald G. Davis, Miss Fleece has been laying out pages — the job of deciding placement of stories in the newspaper — in addition to headline writing.

"Because the Independent-Journal is a small paper, I got an awful lot of help," she said. "And because it's a small paper, I got a better overall view of newspaper operation."

Miss Fleece, who intends to resume copy desk work upon graduation in December, was one of 60 interns chosen by the Newspaper Fund for the summer program, others going to papers of varied size throughout the West. She is the first copy editing intern in Stanford's history and the fifth journalism intern hired by the Independent-Journal the past two summers.

Her internship was marked dramatically by the Hall of Justice shoot-out. Colleagues recall Miss Fleece busily taking information from reporters in the field and rewriting headlines for stories that were cleared from originally-assigned pages to make room for news of the tragedy.

"Because of that, I think I got better experience than anyone else in the program," she said.

While attending high school in Honolulu, where she has lived since the age of 5, Miss Fleece said she "kind of backed into" journalism while still undecided about a teaching career.

Her father, Jeffrey Fleece, is an assistant dean at the University of Hawaii and the author of prize-winning one-act plays. Her mother, Marianne, is concert master of the Honolulu Symphony.

Miss Fleece has been a Stanford Daily staffer since her junior year, serving as night and afternoon editor — and in the self-appointed post of bowling editor.

"I was on the Stanford bowling team and the coach kept trying to get me to get some publicity in the paper," she recalled. The all-male sports desk viewed the assignment with uproarious amusement, she said.

Deputies Arrest Trio Of Soldiers

Booked into county jail and each held for Army disposition in lieu of $2,250 bail were:

Stephen James Lisak, 23; John Patrick Hickler, 21, and Tae Kim Stures, 21. Each was charged with possession of pot, having paraphernalia for using marijuana and being in a place where marijuana was being used. Deputies said a search of the car turned up marijuana seeds on the floor, a lid and a vial of green vegetable matter — apparently marijuana — in the glove compartment, and a pipe with a bowl that was still warm.

Real Mystery Posed By Missing Patient

CAIRO (UPI) —Hospital authorities have good reason to be puzzled by the disappearance of a woman patient who apparently scaled a 10-foot high wall surrounding a city medical center.

The woman is 30 years old and paralyzed in both legs, authorities said.

Patrick Is Involved In New Legality

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — William Penn Patrick, San Rafael manufacturer, is again involved in legal action.

Patrick, who last month was ordered to pay pollster Mervin Field of Belvedere $300,000 for libel, was accused yesterday by the state attorney general's office of trying to sell an automobile engine conditioner through an illegal "chain letter" process.

Deputy Atty. Gen. John. C. Porter said the state is seeking an injunction prohibiting the distribution scheme, $2,500 for each false misrepresentation, and $250,000 punitive damages from Patrick, H.M. Labs — incorporated in Nevada, but with offices at 56 Harbor Street, San Rafael — and five employees of the firm.

Porter said the firm gives distributorships in return for purchase of a substantial inventory plus a promise to recruit five new distributors each month.

He said prospective distributors were falsely promised high earnings at a series of "opportunity meetings". The firm allegedly promised earings of $120 the first month, $1,290 the second and $2,190 the third, but had no evidence to support its claims, according to Porter.

He said the people who get into the scheme first may make a lot of money, but those who buy in late won't because the market will be saturated. They would be left holding substantial quantities of the product with no market, Porter said.

In an investigation of a similar sales plan by another company, a statistician found that every Californian would have been a distributor within 10 weeks, according to Porter.

"The entire scheme is based upon an inexhaustible number of new investors and could succeed only if the chain were endless," the suit says.

The other five named in the suit are H.K. White, president of the San Rafael firm, Andrew Gusick, vice president, Carol Gallagher, secretary, and Danny Theabold and Sal Talesfore, agents and employees.

Another Patrick firm, Holiday Magic of San Rafael, has been involved in a Federal Trade Commission suit charging deceptive practices, restraint of trade and price fixing and in cases similar to the one against H.M. Lab brought by Illinois and Michigan last year.

DEBATE

during the seven-week debate over Cambodia.

Fulbright, however, was not satisfied. He asked that the language of the committee's report be incorporated into the actual law. In addition, he asked the senate to go one step further and apply the language to neighboring Laos.

The bill as it is written, Fulbright said, means "that we will foot the bill for whatever deal the Cambodians and the Thais decide to make among themselves" and "for any operations the Vietnamese choose to undertake, including an invasion of Laos or China."

Stennis agreed it was "not our purpose to sustain or underwrite the government of Cambodia. We looked upon that as another war."

He indicated he would accept the measure, and take it into conference with House negotiators on the procurement bill, on Fulbright's stipulation that it would not "roll back" any current allied operations in Southeast Asia.

Donkeys Trigger Presidential Quip

When one of the little donkeys that run loose in the town blocked traffic, he asked that it be brought up to the car so he could pet the animal.

terns were condemned in their report for "enormous inefficiency, sprawl and chaotic land-use patterns that have resulted when direction and timing of development is left to the private developer."

Zoning and subdivision standards merely "have resulted in mediocrity and dull uniformity," they said.

Existing growth patterns also "make public services planning and construction chaotic, unpredictable and generally out-of-phase with development," the consultants found.

They noted their proposal may win support because many Bay Area citizens are "relatively friendly toward innovative ideas."

Sonoma and Santa Clara counties were picked, they explained, because they are especially diversified, with a variety of rural and urban situations. The Sonoma Valley vineyards, they said, "are now threatened with low density urban sprawl and leapfrogging residential and mobile home subdivisions of the most ordinary kind."

Both counties, they declared, "provide near classic examples of the sprawl engendered in the post-World War II period of uncontrolled development and land speculation."

They also noted that Sonoma County's coastline "has become a target for the second-home recreation subdivision industry."

Improved freeways and highways, and the possible extension of rail rapid transit to Santa Rosa, assure "that almost all of both counties can be considered subject to eventual urban pressures," the consultants cautioned.

They also suggested that the new development agency could sell surplus land to cover its overhead and to provide a subsidy fund for low-incomehousing. Such sales also could raise money to buy open space, they said.

"If the concept is basically sound it will withstand the test of a trial," the consultants concluded, "and it is assumed that no static model, however brilliant, will ever substitute for a pragmatic experiment."

The proposal was termed by Alameda County Supervisor Joseph P. Bort as "one of the most venturesome proposals that has been presented to us."

John Anderson, deputy director for development for the San Francisco, said, "If you're going to come to grips with planning, sooner or later you have to decide to carry it out."

Bagley and Lagomarsino lobbied opponents in an attempt to gain one more vote. Reagan was asked by a newsman why it was with all the power of the governor's office he couldn't secure the final vote for passage. The governor said he offered "no deals."

The Senate defeated two proposed amendments—one erasing everything from the program except withholding, and the other eliminating a tax break for undeveloped "open space" land.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, the over-all increase in July in the index was 0.3 per cent, same as in June but only about half of the rate last winter, the department said.

Joel Popkin, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said that in the year from July, 1969, prices showed "a general acceleration until about the first of the year and slowing down since then that has become more pronounced in June and July."

Popkin listed these examples of specific price changes in July: eggs, up 14.6 per cent; meat, up 0.5 per cent; white bread up 1.2 per cent; apples up 7.2 per cent; green peppers down 28.5 per cent; cabbage down 16.9 per cent; celery down 24.2 per cent and tomatoes down 9.3 per cent.

Over-all food prices were up 0.5 per cent in July while the cost of fuel and utilities jumped 0.9 per cent. Clothing and laundry-cleaning costs dropped 0.6 per cent.

About 70,000 workers will receive wage increases ranging from a penny to 9 cents an hour because of the July index rise, based on cost-of-living escalator clauses in wage contracts.

Officials in Cairo said the discussions, expected to last three days, would cover the Egyptian - Jordanian position toward Israel; the military situation along the Jordanian front and coordination with the Egyptian front; and the situation in Jordan, which is complicated by the Palestinian guerrillas' rejection of the American proposals.

Egyptian Information Minister Mohammed Hassanein Heikal said in Cairo today the presence of SAM3 antiaircraft missiles in Egypt was a warning to the United States that Russia will not tolerate another Arab military defeat by Israel.

Heikal compared the buildup of Russian missiles in Egypt to the situation in 1956 when he said the Soviets used the threat of nuclear weapons to deter Britain, France and Israel from attacking Egypt.

Communist diplomats in London said Thursday Russia has told the United States the peace negotiations must proceed on the basis that Israel return all occupied Arab territory, without exception.

The Soviets have given Nasser assurances the Kremlin will back him to the hilt in the insistence for the return of all occupied territory, including the Syrian Golan Heights and Jordanian Jerusalem, the diplomats said.

Israeli jets bombed and strafed guerrilla positions in the North Jordan valley Thursday in retaliation for rocket and mortar attacks along the Jordan River cease-fire line.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Senate Beats Vote Age At 18 Again

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate early today refused for the second time to approve a proposed constitutional amendment giving 18 year olds the right to vote and all other adult responsibilities except the privilege of drinking in bars.

On a 22-13 vote senators rejected the proposal by Assemblyman John V. Briggs, R-Fullerton. Two weeks ago they rejected the same measure 23-8.

Sen. John F. McCarthy voted for the measure.

The opposition on the second go-round was led again by Sen. Clark L. Bradley, R-San Jose, who said he doubted 18 year olds could exercise correct judgment in the polling booth.

"I do not believe an 18 year-old has the maturity and judgment to be a resopnsible voter," Bradley said. "And if he doesn't have the judgment to be a responsible voter, he doesn't have the maturity to be an adult."

He also said enfranchising high school and college students could escalate campus disturbances because "those institutions would be turned into political arenas."

But Sen. Lewis F. Sherman, R-Berkeley, floor manager for the measure, argued Californians should at least have the right to decide whether their youth should vote at 18.

"The question is whether the voters of California—who are all over 21—have the maturity to vote on this," Sherman said.

Senate Democratic leader George Moscone of San Fracisco reminded colleagues that the platforms of both his party and the Republicans called for lowering the voting age.

Specifically the amendment would have allowed 18 year olds to serve on juries, enter into contracts and be tried as adults for crimes in addition to voting.

HIGHWAYS

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill boosting populous Southern California's share of highway construction funds returned to the Senate today to face its final legislative obstacle.

The Assembly approved the measure by Sen. James Mills, D-San Diego, on a 41-31 vote Thursday and sent it to the Senate for concurrence in house amendments.

The bill would raise Southern California's share of highway construction funds from 55 to 60 per cent and lower the north's apportionment from 45 to 40 per cent.

Backers of the plan also are holding in reserve an identical bill by Sen. Lawrence Walsh, D-Huntington Park. The Walsh bill is pending before the Assembly but supporters said it would be approved only if the Mills bill dies in the Senate.

Assemblymen voted approval of the Mills plan along strict north-south lines with northerners staunchly resisting the measure.

Both the Walsh and Mills bills were denounced by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, chairman of the Assembly Transportation Committee, for disrupting what already "is probably a lousy formula."

Foran said state highway construction was being hampered by the "stupidity of a formula adopted by political compromise some years ago."

For years Southern California legislators have tried unsuccessfully to increase the south's share of the highway construction funds.

But this year the committee approved both the Mills and Walsh measures although an identical bill by Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes, R-San Diego, was rejected.

BLACK DAY

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly was asked today to give final legislative approval to a bill designating March 5th as Black American Day in California.

The measure by Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, was passed 23-1 Thursday and returned to the lower house for concurrence in Senate amendments. Sen. Clark L. Bradley, R-San Jose, cast the sole dissenting vote.

Originally the bill set Jan. 15, the birthday of Martin Luther King Jr., for the observance, but the March 5th date was amended into the bill by the Senate Finance Committee.

The date marks the death of Crispus Attucks, "the first black American martyr of the Boston Massacre" during the American Revolutionary War.

COASTLINE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Pete Wilson says Senate Leader Jack Schrade was "gutless" in refusing to hold a hearing on his bill for regulating California coastline development.

"The only reasonable inference that can be drawn from Senator Schrade's refusal is that he wishes to kill the bill without the embarrassment of having to publicly cast a 'no' vote," Wilson told a news conference Thursday.

"I call this a faceless, gutless default of an elected official upon his duty to judge legislation on the merits, and a performance which discredits the Senate," he added.

Wilson, like Schrade a Republican from San Diego, noted a scheduled hearing on his proposal was abruptly cancelled. He said courtesy dictated he should have been permitted to present his measure.

When a newsman asked Schrade the reason for the cancellation, he replied: "I can't find anyone on the committee, but one, who was for the bill. A hearing would have been a waste of time. This late in the session we have no time to waste."

The measure simply died when it failed to get a Senate hearing.

STERILIZATION

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly voted 35-12 Thursday to permit hospitals to refuse to perform sterlization if the surgical procedure violated the institution's moral principles.

The approval was on changes made to a bill by Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Bevervea prohibiting hospitals from requiring that persons seeking the operation meet specific qualifications. The changes by Assemblyman Frank Murphy, R-Santa Cruz, needed approval in the upper chamber.

Women Good Risks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Insurance Information Institute says women are better auto insurance risks than men. Between the ages of 17 and 24, an unmarried woman driver pays lower premiums on her car than a married male under 25.

NEW CONDUCTOR — Dr. David L. Sloss, a graduate of Harvard and Stanford universities, will conduct the Sonoma State College Philharmonic and Chorus this year. He plays the violin and piano and will serve as an instructor in the music department.

Hub Bicyclist Hurt In Accident

A 19-year-old San Anselmo girl said she would see a private physician after her bicycle collided with a car on San Anselmo Avenue at the entrance to the Pine Street parking lot.

San Anselmo police said the bicycle was ridden by Mary Ann Murray of 40 Grove Lane and the car was driven by Helene H. Hjort, 70, of West Road in Ross.

Father Performs A 'Mercy' Killing

HYERES, France (UPI)—Alain Dubuc, 30, hanged his 4-year-old retarded and deformed daughter in what he saw as a mercy killing, then tried to commit suicide, police said Thursday.

Dubuc appeared to be recovering from an overdose of barbiturates, police said. The body of his daughter, Magali, was found hanging from a tree.

Huge Wasp Nest To Be Displayed

They were wasps who lived in a huge, 30-pound nest in the attic of a Victorian-style home.

The owner of the home said he had heard a funny buzzing for about six months, but didn't think much of it until he got stung one day. It took the exterminators three days to kill the possibly dangerous insects and remove the next.

Christmas decorations add a little holiday spirit to the intersection of Fourth and A streets in San Rafael. The middle of August might seem a bit early for some people, but it seemed a fine time for the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce to fidn out if they like the decorations. To help the chamber board and Fourth Street merchants decide, more decorations will be put up next week at the intersection of Fourth and D streets.

PRINCESS' BIRTHDAY

Controversy Arises Over Royal Portrait

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaret turned 40 today.

Her latest portrait, the first major rendering of a royal family member in abstract, tainted her birthday with controversy.

Queen Elizabeth's younger sister has become matronly plump at 40. Her 10-year marriage to photographer Lord Snowdon weathers regular rumors of imminent divorce.

She has cut down on nightclubbing and champagne suppers at posh restaurants but regularly attends private parties given by friends. She favors youthful fashions and hats and is slowly passing to Princess Anne, 20 last week, some of her heavy load of royal public appearances.

Margaret's latest portrait went on public view today at the national portrait gallery. "It does not flatter her" and "it looks incomplete" were among the comments of first viewers.

The British artist, 35-year-old Bryan Organ, defended the 61-by-55 inch oil on canvas that shows only Margaret's tiara-crowned head in pale bleu-gray and flesh tones against a backdrop of dark gray. Her face is far thinner than in reality.

"I'm not concerned with reaction. My work is finished," Organ said. "I mustered all available facilities and reached a conclusion. To me it is the ultimate."

Margaret, who was spending her birthday at Balmoral Castle in Scotland with the rest of the royal family, personally picked Organ for the painting. Organ would not say what she thought about the finished portrait but a close associate of her husband's said: "I understand she is delighted with it."

British newspapers were critical of the painting. "To some observers it appears the princess is being fired out of a cannon," said the Times.

Art students liked it. "It's fabulous," said 26-year-old Neville Grant. "At last we are getting rid of the starchy, still-life image of the royals. It shows extreme character and an element of daring on the part of the artist to knock protocol."

Dr. Roy Strong, director of the National Portrait Gallery, said "It is a breakthrough in royal portraiture. It's obviously an abstract vision of her presiding at a formal dinner. It's rather like an icon and it is regal."

Senator: Government Should Buy Boxcars

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says if the Defense Department bought its own railroad boxcars, it would help alleviate a nationwide shortage.

The Defense Department uses about 50,000 boxcars a year, Mansfield said Thursday, adding to a shortage of railroad cars that has become a year-around problem instead of the seasonal one usually associated with grain harvests.

Planners Approve River Suggestions

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Planning Commission yesterday endorsed recommendations for improvements to the Petaluma River.

The report submitted by a citizens committee received complete approval from the panel.

The commission's resolution called the report "an excellent informational and source report" and said the county will cooperate with the city of Petaluma in making necessary ammendments to the general plan.

The commission agreed with the report's findings on recreational potential for the river and forwarded the report to the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors for consideration.

The report, completed in April, also suggested that steps be taken to preserve the ecology of the river as well as open space.

Agnew Comes To Praise Murphy And Stays To Lambaste Demos

Addressing some 1,000 persons at a $500-a-plate dinner for Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., who is seeking reelection, Agnew concentrated mostly on rebutting charges by Democratic National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien and Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield.

"If you look at the whole picture," Agnew said, "you will see that there has been a complete reversal of priorities since the Nixon administration took office. In the current fiscal year the expenditures for defense, as a percentage of gross national product, will be the lowest since 1950, the start of the Korean War."

Agnew devoted more than five pages of his eight-page text to attacks on the Democrats. He was frequently interrupted by applause from the partisan crowd at the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

In the area of education, Agnew said the Nixon administration will spend "$2.4 billion less on the military than on education."

In 1968 "with a Democratic administration in Washington, the American people spent $23 billion more on the military than we spent on education at all levels, public and private."

He charged Democrats were "trying to spend their way out of America's imagined difficulties" and would drive the country into socialism were it not for Republican fiscal restraint.

"Some day the American people are going to reject that Democratic cotton candy and leave the fiscally responsible party in office long enough to restore true prosperity without inflation and war." He also jabbed at the news media saying:

"The real story in my speech tonight is the accomplishments of a great senator—George Murphy of California. However, you will probably not see much of that reported tomorrow."

Agnew, who referred to Murphy by his nickname of "Murph," praised him as "a Republican in the best sense of that word. I want you to know that the President needs him and that we want to see him re-elected . . . I am here tonight to praise this man who has tried to solve the problems of our nation in a way that is compatible with our American system.

Grape Boycott Might Just Fade Unnoticed

FRESNO (UPI)—The nationwide grape boycott which came in with a bang two years ago may go out with a whimper—almost unnoticed.

For all practical purposes the boycott ended last month when Cesar Chavez's United Farm Workers Organizing Committee signed contracts with major Delano grape growers putting more than 75 per cent of California's table grape crop under union contract.

At that time Chavez announced that the boycott would continue on the remaining non-union growers.

UFWOC Assistant Director Larry Itliong said Thursday that since then almost all 60 principal grape growers in Fresno and Tulare counties have signed contracts. But growers were continuing negotiations.

Itliong said he was not exactly sure how many growers have not yet signed but said some growers who have not actually signed contracts will be permitted to use the union label on their grapes so long as they use union labor.

Thus there are few grapes left to boycott.

Most of the contracts call for $1.75 to $1.80 in hourly wages plus 20 cents a box incentive pay. Overtime is paid at the's rate of 25 cents an hour for any work over the 54-hour regular work week.

On other fronts, Itliong said the union is studying a request that the UFWOC organize some 25,000 migrant Puerto Rican farm workers in the East.

"We know there are a lot of migrant workers there who need help," he said. "When we do anything depends on how soon we resolve the problems here in California."

It also was announced that the board of directors of the Coit ranches near Mendota have agreed to a contract.

The agreement with UFWOC provides that the 200 melon pickers at the ranch receive $12.50 a day as minimum pay plus 53 cents a box.

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (UPI)—President and Mrs. Nixon presented President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz a multi-faceted standing plaque of Steuben crystal bearing an engraved American eagle inside a five-pointed star and surrounded by 50 stars.

It was inscribed "Warmest best wishes to our good friends, the President of the United Mexican States and Senora Diaz Ordaz on the occasion of a memorable visit to Mexico.

The Nixons also presented a family portrait to their hosts. For ailing Mrs. Diaz Ordaz, there were porcelain Boehm birds perched on a branch.

A hastily-summoned doctor plucked a feather from his throat. It had fluttered down into his open mouth from a nest of pigeons in the rafters and nearly strangled him.

Angela Davis Placed In Area Of Shooting

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A court affidavit has placed Angela Davis in the San Rafael area on Aug. 7 within three hours of a courtroom shootout that left four dead.

The state attorney general's office made the disclosure in an affidavit used to obtain a warrant to search Miss Davis' 1959 station wagon which was found Tuesday night in front of the home of a Black Panther party member.

The affidavit, filed by Assistant Attorney General Albert W. Harris Jr., stated Miss Davis took a plane from San Francisco to here at about 2 p.m. Aug. 7. The shootout occurred at about 11 a.m.

It gave no indication of where Miss Davis went after reaching Los Angeles International Airport.

Harris, when questioned about the affidavit, said authorities do not know where she may be now.

The affidavit, filed yesterday, said the ticket purchase was made "after information of the death of . . . Jonathan Jackson . . . had been made public." had been made public."

On Aug. 7, Jackson, 17, a frequent companion of Miss Davis, armed three San Quentin prisoners in a courtroom with four guns which records show were bought by Miss Davis.

A shootout followed and Judge Harold J. Haley, Jackson and two of the prisoners were killed.

Miss Davis' green Rambler was found in front of the home of Franklin D. Alexander, 29, a Black Panther and chairman of the Communist Che-Lumumba Club, to which Miss Davis belongs.

Alexander was served a subpoena and questioned Wednesday by Harris. He appeared for the questioning with his wife and three attorneys and reportedly took the Fifth Amendment.

Harris said he questioned Alexander because Alexander was the last person known to possess one of the guns bought by Miss Davis which Jackson used in the shootout. Alexander had the .38-caliber automatic in his possession when he was held briefly during a robbery investigation here in 1968.

Seale Ignores Counsel To Testify About 'The Truth'

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) —National Black Panther Party Chairman Bobby G. Seale took the stand against his lawyer's advice today to "testify about the truth" in the murder conspiracy trial of Panther Captain Lonnie McLucas.

Seale testified after conferring in the Superior Court building with chief Panther counsel Charles A. Garry of San Francisco and two other top Panther leaders, cofounder Huey P. Newton and Chief of Staff David Hilliard.

Seale, one of seven other Panthers awaiting trial on charges of conspiring to kidnap and to murder alleged police informer Alex Rackley, took the stand moments after Garry told the court:

"I have advised Mr. Seale not to testify because he faces serious charges, similar to those against Lonnie McLucas."

"I'd like to testify about the truth," Seale said as he faced the court in a blue sweater and dark trousers.

Seale, accused by key prosecution witness George Sams Jr. of ordering Rackley's death, was asked by defense counsel Theodore I. Koskoff if he was aware of the charges facing him.

"I'm aware of a lot of false charges against me," he said.

Seale testified he met Sams in San Francisco in 1968.

"Sams had already been kicked out of the party," Seale said. "Stockley Carmichael was begging me to let him back in after he had stabbed a brother in the leg. That's when I saw him the first time. I've never seen him since."

Sams, who had worked as a bodyguard for Carmichael when Carmichael was leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, has testified that Seale ordered Rackley executed during a visit to New Haven because Rackley, a New York Panther, was suspected of having informed on the Panther 21 arrested in an alleged bomb plot in New York. Sams has pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the Rackley killing.

FBI Reports No Evidence Of Sniper

KENT, Ohio (UPI)—A staff member of President's Commission on Campus Unrest said today an FBI report shows there was no evidence of sniper fire at Kent State University before four students were shot and killed by Ohio National Guard troops.

George V. Warren told the commission that the FBI report into the May 4 shootings indicated the only shots fired were by National Guard troops called to the campus following a series of disturbances.

"The FBI conducted an intensive search for any evidence dealing with the possibility of the existence of a sniper," Warren said, "including an investigation around the firing line for non-military bullets.

"The evidence indicates that there was no person other than a Guardsman who discharged a firearm on May 4, 1970."

The Ohio National Guard contended shortly after the shootings that Guardsmen fired a volley after being fired upon by a sniper.

Brig. Gen. Robert Canterbury testified Thursday that the Ohio Guard, in its own investigation, had been unable to prove that a sniper had actually fired.

Warren also said the report showed 34 members of Troop G, 107th Armored Cavalry, of Ravenna, Ohio, the troops that confronted the demonstrators, were injured by rocks and other missiles.

Warren also told the commission that an investigation by campus patrolmen showed that a .38 caliber revolver found at the scene had not been fired and said a photographer who had been on top of a nearby building was cleared of any possible charges of sniping.

Canterbury told the commission Thursday he had canvassed all the officers at the scene "to determine who, if anyone, gave an order to fire. The answer was negative."

Canterbury, the assistant Ohio adjutant general, gave his first public testimony on the Kent shootings Thursday at hearings by the President's Commission on Campus Unrest.

He was asked if it ever was proven that a sniper fired the first shot.

"No," Canterbury replied.

"There was a shot fired but we have never been able to locate exactly where it came from or who fired it."

He said the guardsmen started firing when "a mob began closing in" and throwing rocks.

The first shot, Canterbury said, apparently came at "a great distance" from the main body of troops and from the left rear. It was closely followed by a volley from the troops, he said.

He did not say whether he believed the first shot was fired by a sniper or a guardsman some distance from the formation facing the demonstrators.

The commission asked no further questions about the "sniper shot" and Canterbury did not mention it again.

"I immediately ran to the right flank, grabbed a couple of people by the shoulder and ordered a cease fire and so did the other commanders," he said.

Canterbury said he then took a count of the guardsmen's ammunition and obtained the names of those who had fired weapons. The troops were ordered not to fire again unless touched by an officer and directed to fire at a specific target.

The presidential commission, headed by former Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, was told it is in a race with the calendar. Several witnesses Thursday urged the commission to convey to President Nixon the frustration felt by college students if it is to head off further campus unrest during the coming school year.

Japanese Fishing Boat Is Seized

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Coast Guard has seized a Japanese fishing boat off the southern coast of Alaska because it was fishing in American waters, according to the Coast Guard.

The ship was identified as the Kaki Maru. It was intercepted earlier this week 9½ miles off Middleton Island in the Gulf of Alaska and taken to Seward.

Lot Concern Delays Subdivision Policy

Concerned about lot width requirements, the Cotati City Council last night delayed action on a proposed subdivision ordinance.

The council said it would attend the planning commission meeting next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the ordinance in more detail.

Councilmen Herbert Winter, Kenneth Garner and John L. Groom said that developers should also be contacted to determine if the ordinance is workable with the required 65-foot lot frontage minimum.

Mayor Alfred Falletti and Councilman Frank J. Dolinsek urged immediate adoption of the ordinance, saying that it provided for variances if developers wanted changes.

Free-Wheeling Marin City CSD Round

During a three-and-a-half hour, free-wheeling session, Executive Director Harold B. Brooks Jr., came under fire in his bid for managerial authorities.

Challenges and discontent were expressed as the topics ranged from a charge of improper staff use of gasoline credit cards to placing the 701 planning program under the distict.

Storm clouds gathered at the start when the board leanred the district didn't own the site between the Rosa Building and Drake Avenue selected for a new fire station.

There was a call for the board to fill the fifth seat, vacant since the resignation of Gussie Blakely, who moved, and a proposal to form a new corporation to run the recreation program at the Manzanita Center.

Near the close of the meeting Director Doretha Mitchell charged misuse of the gasoline credit cards, and directors suspended use of the two cards until after a closed session not yet set, to investigate the charge.

The meeting got under way on a low note when Wallace K. Shepherd, interim executive director of the Marin County Housing Authority and county redevelopment agency, reported the district didn't own the fire station site, as it had been assumed.

According to the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the redevelopment agency owns the 1.7 acre parcel covering the planned firehouse site, Shepherd reported.

The agency is required by regulations to sell the land at private market value, but possibly could sell just the "quarter acre or so" needed for the actual site and dedicate the remainder of the parcel as recreation land, Shepherd said. This alternative could cut the land cost, he explained.

Several residents wanted to know why the ownership of the land wasn't determined before the site was selected, and Brooks said it had been believed the district owned the land until just recently.

Brooks ran into objections when he asked that he be given the title of "general manager," a title he said was listed under the state code, and requested that he have repsonsibility for equipment purchases and supervision and employment of staff.

Director C. J. Williams said the proposal called for study, and Edward T. Anderson of 65 Buckelew Street questioned Brooks "taking that authority."

Brooks replied that he has only the authority that the board grants him.

Juanita Cobb, a former member of the district board, told directors, "You cannot relinquish your power to the director."

Collie B. Gaines, a member of the Marin City Council, asked: "The power we invested in the CSD, is that to be taken and given to Mr. Brooks? I don't think that should be done."

Director Arthur Miller said the district used to have rules and regulations on the executive director's duties, but "all the records have been destroyed. "We had a director here before and he didn't have that power."

There also were questions about a trip that Brooks took to Washington in July, for which he asked the district "to share part of the personal expense."

Mrs. Gaines wanted to know if he was paid while gone, given time off or had board permission to leave, but her questions went unanswered.

Mrs. Gaines also wanted to know why the board hadn't called an election to fill the fifth seat on the board, and was told a motion had been made once, but never voted upon.

Directors took a cautious approach toward a proposal by Brooks that a nonprofit corporation be formed to operate the recreation program of the Manzanita Center as a social group work agency.

A nonprofit corporation could qualify for private funds from foundations and the United Bay Area Crusade, whereas the district as a public agency, cannot, he explained.

Directors sought assurances that such a move wouldn't interfere with the operation of the Boy's Club of Southern Marin, as existing nonprofit corporation providing recreation in Marin City.

Brooks said that under the proposal, the activities of the boy's club could be included, and a special appropriation could be set aside for club activities. The club would still have its own budget, he said.

Directors agreed that Brooks and Manford (Manny) Chandler, executive director of the boy's club, check into the feasibility of proposal and report back.

Brooks explained that the nonprofit corporation would pay rent to the district for use of the Manzanita Center. The district would get out of the business of operating "this recreational facility," he said.

At the close of the meeting there were protests from residents because a proposal to switch the 701 planning program to the district from the Marin City Council originated outside the community.

Mrs. Mitchell wanted to know why the board and the community wasn't involved before the proposal was drafted. "We have to live with these decisions. The citizens should have some input," she said.

The proposal came in the form of a memorandum from Thomas E. Cordill of the Marin County Planning Department, liaison representative to the community's 701 planning program.

Shepherd said no decisions had been made and the community could reject the proposal if it wished.

Police Panel Leadership Is Questioned

James O. Quiett, chairman of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, said last night he was tired of seeing the county's police-community relations program "becoming a political football."

"I'm not knocking down the program, but I think it's in the hands of the wrong people, "Quiett asserted at a meeting of the Marin City Community Services District Board in Marin City.

Quiett's comments came as the district received a request from Bella Aaron, chairman of the police-community relations committee, for a representative to serve on a citizens' advisor committee.

"I want people from Marin City to serve on the committee itself, Quiett said. "Black people are tired of being on advisory committees.

Directors agreed to invite Mrs. Aaron and committee members to one of their meetings to discuss the police-community relations program.

With restruturing, and the cooperation of Marin City, the program "can be made meaningful," Quiett declared.

Teens Who Burned Boy Are Sought

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Stockholm police searched today for two teenagers who poured gasoline over a 10-year-old boy and set fire to him Thursday.

A police spokesman said the boy's life was saved by a playmate who wrapped his coat around him and managed to extinguish the fire.

The boy suffered severe burns on his legs but he was reported in fair condition in a Stockholm hospital today.

Marin Dining And Wining

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

La Petite Auberge Points To Smoothness In Fine Restaurant

Half the pleasure in dining out comes from the restaurant's smoothness and skill in serving.

One very good reason why you are there in the first place is to get away from the home table. Not that it does provide excellent fare, but occasionally all members of the family need to be relieved. They want to be pampered a little, to relax and be made comfortable.

Smart restaurateurs know this and employ waiters who can promote this feeling among their patrons. And their tables are almost always well filled.

If it comes to a toss-up between two restaurants, all else being equal, you'll probably choose the one that has the best waiters — even if you don't recognize this as the reason for your choice. You may think you were influenced by something else entirely.

Good waiters are by no means the most subservient. Principally they should be good psychologists, for no two diners are alike. They know when it's time to blend in with the woodwork and remain almost unnoticed and when it's time to give a little play to their own personalities.

One good waiter in a restaurant is an asset. Having a full complement of them is a blessing. It seems to me that La Petite Auberge in San Rafael is so blessed. The dining room staff here is as smooth and capable as you'll find anywhere — from partners Paul Devaux and Pierre Grigaut at the top right down to veteran Joe Palmieri who busses the tables and pours your coffee.

Since the other half of the pleasure in dining at the restaurant must come from the food, I must mention that chef and third partner Roger Poli is as insistent on having a good staff under him in the kitchen as Paul and Pierre are in the dining room.

Put them all together — and voila! That's what you get in a good French restaurant.

THE CAPRICE RESTAURANT'S retail wine cellar in Tiburon has a limited supply of one-gallon casks made from wine-seasoned oak staves. Gift package includes two 72-ounce bottles of old tawny porto wine and eight glasses. Engraved brass name plate is available for the barrel at no extra cost for the gift package.

Kirby Atterbury now has a method of purchase of his vintage porto to be stored in Portugal for five years before being shipped to the United States. It saves wine collectors laying away the bottles on their own shelves until the drinking stage is reached.

FRED CHERRY'S WINE DISCOVERIES, San Anselmo has its own champagne vinegar now commencing to appear in stores in Marin and San Francisco. Fred claims it to be so delicate he even has it included in a recipe for a pie.

TRAMPING OUT THE VINTAGE TIME is near for families who plan to make wine for home consumption. Internal Revenue Service regulations permit a properly registered head of the household and his family to make up to 200 gallons of wine a year tax free.

And I know it won't be long before I receive a note from Pietro Pinoni, owner of Pietro's 311 Restaurant in San Francisco, that he's having in the neighborhood youngsters to do the tramping in the basement of his home in Greenbrae.

Every year Pietro observes this ritual and I must say he has become an expert at it. His wine is good, too.

To register with the Internal Revenue Department, the home vintner must fill out the department's Form 1541, "Tax Free Wine for Family Use" and turn it over to the nearest office of the IRS Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division at least five days before you start production.

You can make wine — but making distilled spirits or home brew is something eles. It's forbidden except by a registered distillery or brewery.

IF YOU LIKE to do your restaurant visiting by water, Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael is the place to go. And if you haven't been here for quite awhile, be advised that the docks have been repaired and are in new condition again.

Facilities will accommodate about five average-sized boats, so unless your party constitutes a flotilla there should be plenty of room for you.

JOAN EMRSON of Ross, featured artist at Rubini's in Fairfax, has a showing of batiks which will be on display all through August.

NEW NAME for the Hi Fi Drive In on Mirabella Avenue near the 101 Highway, Novato is Frenchy's Drive In.

AUGUST ZUNINO of Kentfield, who operates Shaw's ice cream and candy store in Larkspur, and Dominic Pomilia of Corte Madera, head a group who have taken over this place. They've refurbished it and are promoting an extensive line of French bread sandwiches. More remodeling is planned later.

Frenchy's is open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

THIS WEEK I ran across Carl Holm, who is chef at Franchini's Tee House at Buckingham Golf and Country Club in Lake County. He tells me that Roy and Bee have done some major remodeling here and their season is a busy one.

Franchini's is located near Mount Konocti, about midway between Lakeport and Lower Lake in the heart of the recreation country. Include it in your next visit to the area.

ENTERTAINMENT at the Lion's Share, San Anselmo, features for tonight and tomorrow night the Flaming Groovies and Loose Gravel with Mike Wilhelm, formerly of the Charlatans. Sunday the Flaming Groovies are on again, along with Abraxas Rising. Auditions and guest performances Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Doors open at 8 p.m. Show starts at 9 p.m.

IN SAN FRANCISCO, a trio of strolling troubadours called the Wry Catchers entertain patrons at the Elizabethan-styled Ben Johnson Restaurant in the Cannery. They appear Tuesday through Saturday nights.

State Candidates Urged To Debate

HAYWARD (UPI)—California's two gubernatorial candidates should pool their television money for a series of debates and stop trying to sell themselves as "a bar of soap," says Edmund G. Brown Jr., a candidate for secretary of state.

Addressing a fundraising gathering Thursday, the Democrat declared: "I am concerned that voters will get a very distorted picture of the various candidates if each candidate buys hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of TV time and tries to sell himself like a bar of soap."

He did not mention that Gov. Ronald Reagan's campaign coffers are full while Democrat Jess Unruh is having difficulties raising the necessary funds.

Large Industrial Park Eyed For Bel Marin Keys

Another large industrial park, similar in appearance to Northgate Industrial Park, is planned at Bel Marin Keys north of Hamilton Air Force Base.

Marin Soiland of Soiland and Associates of Bel Marin Keys owns about 250 acres of flat land to the east and south of Bel Marin Keys Boulevard. The area is in county territory just outside the Novato City limits and will be called Novato Industrial Park.

A master plan for the industrial park, drawn up by Carlos E. Gonzalez, will be presented to the Marin County Planning Commission on Sept. 28 at the Civic Center.

"We plan to create a new lake of 50 acres, with Pacheco Creek draining into it," said Gonzalez. "The lake and its shoreline, 100 feet in width, will be dedicated to the county for public use. A 10-acre public park will also be dedicated to the public."

A 32-acre parcel in the industrial park master plan is set aside for 215 mobile homes north of Hamilton runway and adjacent to and just east of the existing 200-unit Las Robles Mobile Home Park.

The rest of the land will be used for light industrial, business offices, and warehousing facilities. "It will be an extension of the Northgate Industrial Park, which is just about filled up," said Gonzalez. "Northgate now has only two unused lots left in the entire 60 or 70 acres. This one will be much larger than Northgate Industrial Park."

Gonzalez estimated that Novato Industrial Park will be worth $2 million in site preparation and utilities, before the buildings or the mobile home park are installed.

Russian Fishing Fleet Questioned

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has asked Secretary of State William P. Rogers to determine whether the Russian fishing fleet off the California coast is violating U.S.-Soviet agreements.

"I am very much concerned about the Soviet fishing fleet operating off the north and central California coast," Reagan said Thursday in a letter to Rogers.

The governor said his concern was based on unverified reports which "could constitute a disregard for agreements the United States signed with the U.S.S.R. on Jan. 31, 1969.

Governor Hits Nixon's Visit To New Orleans

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Gov. John McKeithen called President Nixon's recent visit to New Orleans "pure hypocrisy" Thursday and said the trip was part of a plot to discredit Louisiana and the entire South.

In a freewheeling impromptu news conference, McKeithen charged the national administration and the Northern press with conspiring to discredit the South. Recent national magazine articles alleging Mafia influence in Louisiana government are part of the plot, McKeithen said.

"We are being used as political pawns by those bunch of hypocrites up there in two ways," McKeithen said. "One, with what they call school desegregation and the second is Mafia influence in state government."

Nixon traveled to New Orleans last week to meet with his Committee of Southern Advisors on Education.

San Francisco Names Negro To Utilities Panel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—For the first time, a Negro has been named to San Francisco's Public Utilities Commission.

Mayor Joseph Alioto on Thursday named to the commission Welton Flynn, 48, an accountant and member of the city's Committee on Crime.

The mayor also named five men to the city's new Airport Commission which on Sept 1 will take over management of the world's sixth largest airport. Previously San Francisco International Airport had been operated by the PUC.

The five are William K. Coblentz, 48, attorney and University of California regent; Wallace R. Lynn, 73, retired rice grower and former PUC member; Joseph P. Mazzola, 53, Plumbers and Steamfitters Union business manager; William E. McDonnell, 45, restaurant owner and PUC president for 2 1-2 years; and John A. Sutro, 65, attorney and State Bar president.

Turned On Shrubs

RUTLAND, Vt. (UPI)—Police cut down a lot of the deer shrubbery in front of Rutland high school Thursday—including a five-foot hedge that contained about 50 marijuana plants.

Five Plead Innocent To Cocaine Charges

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Five of seven Marinites charged with conspircay to sell cocaine have pleaded innocent in U.S. District Court here.

Their cases were continued to Sept. 11 and Sept. 14 in the court of Judge Sidney Wallenberg for setting the trial date.

Two of the five, Robert Bernard Ford, 21, and Mark Robert Shanahan, also 21, both of 1106 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, were arrested May 22 at San Francisco International Airport in connection with the sale to narcotics agents of cocaine that would market for $250,000. They are to appear Sept. 11.

Marcia Freet, 27, of 107 Marion Street, Sausalito, also arrested at the airport, and Mitchell Junior Howard, 22, of 9235 Drake Avenue, Marin City, and Steve Howard, 24, of Gate 2, Sausalito, were arrested for a separate transaction April 14 in Sausalito, and are to appear Sept. 14.

The Howards were arrested in Sausalito shortly after the airport bust.

Dorothy Weakens

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI)—Tropical storm Dorothy weakened to 50-mile-and-hour intensity today, but churned steadily through the Caribbean after sparing the tiny islands of Martinique and St. Lucia.

U.S. Will Support Any Korean Unity

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department says it would "welcome any measures that might lead to a relaxation of tensions" between North and South Korea.

A spokesman made the comment Thursday in response to South Korean President Park Chung Hee's recent indication of willingness to explore a reunification of the Koreas. Park had said he was willing to take "epochal and more realistic measures" toward a reunification if Nort Korea renounced the use of force.

Bill Conflict Averted Just Before Vote

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation that would have created regional environmental planning councils throughout California was dropped today by its author just before the Senate was scheduled to give the measure final approval.

The author, Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, discovered at the last moment that his bill, AB 2345, would have conflicted with another measure to create a Metropolitan Transportation Commission in the Bay Area. That measure, AB 363 by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, already is on the governor's desk for his signature.

Knox's bill would have empowered the regional environmental planning councils to do transportation planning as well. But an amendment to the Foran bill provided that the commission must merge with "any multifunctional regional government organization if it has transportation planning responsibilities."

A probable result of passing the Knox bill thus would have been to kill the commission as soon as it got hatched. Under the Knox bill, the Association of Bay Area Governments would have been designated as the regional environmental planning council for the Bay Area.

The association strongly opposed the Foran bill.

A spokesman for Knox said that the effect of the amendment to the Foran bill was not discovered until today.

Rare Shakespeare Folios Displayed At Civic Center

The Marin Shakespeare Festival today hosted county and school officials at a format viewing of rare editions of William Shakespears's works in the Marin County Library at the Civic Center.

Barbara Young, festival administrator, said Brebner borrowed the works from the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington, D.C. They will be on display at the library until next Friday.

Among the collection is the first folio of Shakespeare, printed in 1923, and other plays and tragedies, all published in the 1600s.

Downtown Committee Seeking One Change

By WAYNE RATLIFF

The Novato Downtown Study Committee, in joint session with the planning commission, last night recommended approval of the Sedway-Cooke downtown plan with only one change.

Approved as presented in Sedway and Cooke's preliminary report were plans for the Diablo triangle sub-area, Pinheiro regional center and West Grant sub-area.

The committee recommended that the present commercial zoning of property on Machin Avenue between Grant and DeLong Avenues be retained in preference to Sedway and Cooke's recommendation of office use for the property.

The change, if upheld, would permit Ben Ostlind to proceed with long-delayed plans to construct a pizza hut restaurant on the corner of Machin and DeLong Avenues.

The committee also recommended that the city council and planning commission attempt to contact property owners affected before holding public hearings on Sedway and Cooke's plans for downtown areas to discuss and explain recommendations.

The planning commission participated in discussion but did not vote in last night's meeting because recommendations made in the meeting will be referred to the commission for public hearing before recommendations are presented to the city council, planning director Brian Mattson said.

Plans approved for the pinheiro regional center include attempting to accomodate 250,000 to 300,000 square feet of floor space in initial construction for the shopping center, with expansion to 900,000 square feet later. The center would be located 200 feet scuth of the Atherton Avenue and 2,200 feet north of the DeLong Avenue interchanges on the proposed Highway 101 bypass.

Recommended tenant distribution was 23,600-31,600 square feet for food and food service uses, 400,200-614,000 square feet for general merchandise, 51,-000-63,000 square feet for clothing and shoes, 29,300-40,200 square feet for other retail, 14,-000-17,000 for financial services, 11,000-13,500 feetf for personal services and 7,000-10,000 square feet for entertainment uses.

A central rapid transit station and motel, conference center and office facilities are also proposed for the area; and Redwood Boulevard (present Highway (11) was to provide primary access to the center.

The East Grant sub-area, bounded by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way, Redwood Boulevard, DeLong Avenue and Vallejo Avenue, was planned primarily for entertainment and office uses. City offices also would be located in the area.

The West Grant area, bounded by Vallejo Avenue, Redwood Boulevard, Tamalpais Avenue and property lines south of Grant Avenue, was planned to be the primary administrative financial and professional service center for Northern Marin and Southern Sonoma counties.

Some retail, personal service and business service uses would be encouraged on ground-floor space.

The Diablo Triangle between Center Road, South Novato Boulevard and Diablo Avenue, was planned to provide quality apartments close to downtown activities and transportation facilities. Neighborhood-serving commercial facilities were to be allowed.

Next study session on the Sedway-Cooke downtown plan and program was set tentatively for Thursday, time and place to be announced.

Youth Cuts Face In Auto Accident

Monchiy Largalsbada, 14, of 13 Melinda Lane, Petaluma, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with facial cuts suffered in an accident yesterday at 10:50 at 125 Liberty Street, Petaluma.

Police had few details on the accident, but said Largalsbada was a passenger in a car which struck a parked car.

Local Firm Fights Army Bid Practice

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Sausalito firm told a federal court yesterday that the Army had made it possible for a competing firm to "obtain two bites at the bidding apple" for a generator contract.

A. G. Schoonmaker Co. is asking a permanent injunction against the Army opening second bids for the contract. Judge Joseph C. Waddy in U.S. District Court already has issued a preliminary injunction.

Schoonmaker, low at $31.7 million when bids were first opened, said it had complied with the Army invitation concerning prices for preproduction and production models of the electrical generators.

M.Y. Sullivan, Schoonmaker executive vice president, said his firm interpreted the invitation as permitting different prices, but Schoonmaker charges the Army privately told Boague Electric Co. of Paterson, N.J., that the prices should be identical.

The difference was the basis for second bids.

"At no time was Schoonmaker advised or put on notice that the Army, Department of Defense or Boague interpreted the invitation as requiring identical prices," declared Alan Y. Cole, attorney for Schoonmaker.

"The information given by the Army solely to Boague and the failure to incorporate this information into an amendment to the invitation offered Boague an unfair advantage over the other bidders, including Schoonmaker, making it possible for Boague to obtain two bites at the bidding apple," Cole said.

With most car makers trying to hurtle you to 60 miles an hour in record time, it's nice to know someone cares about bringing you back.

Volvo does. So we give you something most others don't: four-wheel power disc brakes.

Disc brakes are better than conventional drum brakes because they resist fading even after repeated emergency stops.

Another good thing about Volvo brakes: there are two separate braking systems. Each one is connected to three wheels—two fronts and one rear. Should one system ever fail you still have 80% of your original braking power. You could still get from 60 to 0 in under five seconds.

This is exclusive with Volvo.

Novato Urged To Avoid Creek Project Pitfalls

In planning flood control projects, more attention should be paid to aesthetic values and recreational potential.

Concern for aesthetics came too little and too late in the planning of the ugly oversize, concrete canal which is replacing Corte Madera Creek at Kentfield.

There should be provision for a walkway along the waterway. A bike trail and a horse trail would be even better.

CORTE MADERA Creek, according to the federal government, is a navigable waterway all the way to Kent Avenue at College of Marin. When the present flood control project is complete, navigation probably will be limited to tots' toy sailboats. There will be no way, of course, for tots to get to the water's edge to sail their toy boats, however.

Bel Marin Keys Community Service District is about to embark on a $15,000 study of how flood control needs along a section of Novato Creek can best be met.

Since more than half the money will come from Marin County funds, everyone in Marin has a stake in the study.

Those who do the planning should bear this in mind, as should directors of the District.

NORTH MARIN already has a group organized to work for the development of trails on the banks of Novato Creek. Said group certainly should be consulted for its recommendations on the Bel Marin Keys flood control project.

Bike riders and horsemen have actively sought the development of more trails; they, too, should be consulted.

Novato Creek is recognized as a navigable waterway upstream as far as the Black Point Cutoff highway. Leaders in the Bel Marin Keys boaters' organization most certainly should be invited to express their views on any proposal for flood control work on that section of Novato Creek.

LAST, BUT NOT least, the Marin County Parks and Recreation Dept. has perceived the need and demonstrated an interest in providing water-oriented recreational facilities. That body certainly should be consulted, as should similar interests in the city of Novato since the North Bank of Novato Creek lies within city boundaries.

Only if all this is done can repetition of the mistakes of the Corte Madera Creek project at Kentfield be avoided.

As the Novato Creek Citizens Committee recently emphasized, Novato Creek does have a great potential for enhancing our environment. It should be nurtured and protected.

Tattle-Tale

Is your wash sparkling white, ladies? If so, maybe you ought to feel a little bit ashamed rather than proud as the television commercials would have you feel.

Soaps made from lye and various kinds of fats were the common cleaning agents from time immemorial until the 1930's when synthetic detergents, even the biodegradable ones, contain sulfonates which damage the chemoreceptors of fish, and phosphates which fertilize the algae and other plant life until they overcrowd their invironment and die. The plants then decay, using up vital oxygen in the process. Eventually the water becomes a stinking mess in which most fish are unable to survive.

Some of the detergents, such as Axion and Biz, are about 40 per cent phosphates, and the majority are over 20 per cent. There is little doubt that phosphates give us whiter washes.

Perhaps, the time is approaching when a too white washing will be an object of scorn rather than envy, and tattle-tale gray will become the status symbol of the environmentally-conscious.

Postal Reform Measure Might Mean Very Little Improvement

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — One has to be charitable, and at least give the post-office a chance to make good now that President Nixon has signed the great "reform" measure which is supposed take the mail distribution system out of politics, and eventually fix it so the public can get its mail on time.

But while giving the post office its chance, and this probably will be the last one it gets for a long time to come, one has to keep tongue-in-cheek because nothing has been proven as yet; there continue to be all kinds of troubles with the mail, and one cannot help but think the president's signature is merely going to open the door to another nationwide boondoggle.

It's ten to one the reforms, as far as they benefit the public, will be minor. Already, the move is on for eight-cent letters, which no doubt will end up being ten cent letters. If the public got its money's worth out of a ten cent letter, probably the public would be more than willing to pay ten cents to send a letter through the mail.

BUT IT IS disgusting to pay even six cents, and have to put up with the numerous delays that occur in the mailing system.

And another thing no one wants to bet on. Will new postal reform practices eliminate the junk mail which is dished out by the million pieces by the Senators and Congressmen of the nation?

And junk mail it is, designed primarily to cause the re-election of Congressmen. This has been a traditional perogative of congressmen and U.S. Senators for something more than a hundred years, and is not likely to go down the drain simply because the President signs a bill, no matter how valid the premise might be that the public is the victim of a big gyp in this granting of special privilege to those public servants who use the public trough to further their own ends.

PRIMARILY IN the new bill is the authority for the new commission which theoretically will run the postoffice, to set new rates. Mark well the fact there is no authority for abolition of the mailing frank for congressmen, senators, and questionable governmental departments.

Also, there is the authority to increase salaries of postal employees, which no doubt should be increased. But on the other hand, have any of the postal employees considered how much better service they will be able to give for increased pay, and increased postal charges to the public?

And then, changing an emblem isn't going to go very far toward improving the postal service. No matter what kind of emblem the postman wears, he isn't apt to deliver the mail any faster.

HOWEVER, one should be charitable, and adopt an attitude of wait and see.

But it's going to be difficult when one knows that senators and congressmen continue to eat at the public trough on the franking system, while the public is forced to pony up additional funds to foot the bills run up by public servants.

Help Invaluable In Death Cause Study

I certainly wish to express my thanks and deep appreciation for your kindness in making it possible for us to find the "metal detector" man who was the last person to see and talk to George J. Stempel, Jr. The information he gave us was of tremenduous value in our study of just what caused Mr. Stempel's unfortunate death on June 29. I should appreciate it very much if you would express to your city editor my thanks for his aid in making it possible for us to contact this particular witness.

I should mention that a few hours after the appearance of that issue of your newspaper we got a call from this particular individual whom we had sought for in vain for over a month.

Clem Miller's Seashore Worry

There is a "special magic" in the 53,000-acre Point Reyes National Seashore that Congress delineated in 1962, contrary to your editorial of July 13. The magic is not in the number of acres. Rather, it is in the lay of the land comprising the 53,000 acres.

My late husband, Congressman Clem Miller, had seen hundreds of redwoods lost to erosion inside supposedly protected Rockefeller Forest along Bull Creek in Humboldt Redwoods State Park. This erosion was tragically set in motion by logging on private land upstream. Clem was determined that the lesson of Bull Creek be applied at Point Reyes — that the boundaries of the Seashore be based on the lay of the land itself in order to protect the ecological integrity of the Seashore. As he explained to the House Interior Committee in 1962.

"This curtain or backdrop of Inverness Ridge does indeed protect this entire peninsula and it should not be disfigured."

. . . The foresight of Congress in 1962 in setting aside nearly the entire peninsula is everyday more evident. Today Limantour and Drake's Esteros are the last remaining unpolluted estuaries on the West Coast, and the least altered by man. These estuarites, (irreplaceable research areas), can only be protected from pollution by reserving from development the entire watershtd that feeds them, all the way to the crest of Inverness Ridge — as the 53,000 acre seashore will do.

Marin County now finds itself guardian of an incomparable National treasure — Point Reyes. To quote Clem again:

"My own belief is that the overriding priority is the preservation of space, Open Space . . . By the year 2000 our resource-based needs will be 40 times what they are today. Our . . . resources, instead of expanding, are being subjected to murderous pressures to reduce them."

I hope henceforth Marin's only daily newspaper will not align itself with such pressures.

I believe the people of Northern California, after their recent resounding success in persuading Washington to release the $38 million to complete Point Reyes, will insist on the integrity of the original boundaries.

Against Airport At Smith Site

In regard to your editorial, the Smith Brothers' Airport, we who have bought homes in Santa Venetia, only to see an illegal airport sneak in and be accepted, will do our best to keep the Smith field from enlarging. Through our Community Service District, we of Santa Ventia have allowed the airport to stay with the provisions that it would become no larger, not engage in commercial activities, or give flying lessons, all of which we know are taking place by some of the pilots in violation of the use permit.

We are opposed to commercial flying, helicopter, or commute flying because of the added hazard and the extreme noise that this would bring into our neighborhood. Fortunately the courts are now giving large awards for inconvenience caused by airfields, and these are fields that were established early before homes were built around them, not for a field that was dropped into the middle of homes illegally.

If you want an airfield in your own back yard, fine; but we don't want any more noise in our's just to make it more convenient for the wealthy to fly to work or for their personal recreation.

We strongly recommend that more effort be concentrated toward a joint field at Hamilton or Gnoss Field and leave our residential neighborhood alone.

Taxpayers Becoming Political Football?

The lack of progress in Governor Reagan's tax relief plan, for one reason or another, has me convinced more than ever that our politicians are using the taxpayer as a political football.

I would like to point out that they who voted for Prop. 1-A sold their votes to defeat Prop. 9 for $70; then through property reassessment would up with $10 or less.

During our last election the voters were "conned" into voting for the Bagley — Reagan plan, not even the promise of $70 this time!

Perhaps now is the time to remind the voters that the only time Mr. Unruh and Gov. Reagan ever saw eye to eye was in 1968 — about Oct. 10 when they united their efforts to defeat Prop 9. Undoubtedly, neither wanted to spoil a good thing.

THE MEALS served in the commissary of a big television station are so bad that the hired help are on the point of open rebellion. The other noontime a guest inquired, "Why is the service so slow here?" His host, a noted band leader, explained bitterly, "They're just waiting for the food to spoil."

THERE'S SUCH a thing as overdoing a pep talk to the hired help, warns Howard Johnson, Jr. "The last time I urged a waiter to show a little more initiative," recalls Johnson, "he rounded up a couple of backers and opened a restaurant right across the street from one of our most lucrative locations."

Northeastern States Can Boast Lowest National Crime Increase

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The section of the United States — the Northeast — that presidential candidate Barry Goldwater suggested for sinking into the Atlantic, today shows the lowest increase in crime in the nation.

THE EXPERTS find it difficult to expalin this unexpected, perhaps implausible but encouraging record. But here it is from the latest FBI Uniform Crime Report:

For the first three months of this year, as compared with the same period last year, the crime rate for the Northeast rose 4 per cent while the total rate increase for the rest of the country was 16 per cent.

In every category of crime, the record of the Northeastern states — Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and New England — was markedly better than the rest of the nation. Violent crime in the Northeast was up 6 per cent, the rest of the nation up 13 per cent. Property crime in the Northeast was up 4 per cent, elsewhere up 17 per cent.

And the record of New York City itself is best of all. The rate of crime increase was lower in every category, while for example, in Phoenix and Tucson, Ariz., the picture was quite the opposite. The FBI statistics also show that the rate of increase of violent crimes in the major cities in the first quarter of the year slowed by 7 per cent and by only 3 per cent in the nation as a whole.

THIS PROGRESS, however welcome, is not sufficient to alter the fact that crime in the United States has been mounting massively in recent years — eight times more rapidly than the rise in population.

Our system of criminal justice is inadequate. Our system of crime prevention and crime detection is inadequate. The criminal is apprehended in less than 20 per cent of reported crimes, and many more crimes are not reported than are. Our courts of justice are so clogged with backlogs of cases and so slow that they become courts of injustice. Many of our prisons are not much better than the rightly criticized tiger cages in Vietnam. And our correctional institutions have been neglected so long that they are woefully inadequate.

The lower crime-rate increase in the Northeast puzzles the experts who tend to explain it away rather than to explain it. Perhaps they are right in wanting to watch the trend over a longer period before reaching a conclusion.

THEY POINT out that the FBI's statistics come from voluntary reporting by thousands of police districts and vary in quality. But there is little reason to conclude that they are significantly more uneven from one part of the country than from another.

Authorities suggest that since more crimes are committed in fair weather, the winter period of the first three months of the year might help account for the Northeast's crime rate during those months. But the North Central states showed no comparable decline, and the weather was certainly as crime-resistant there as in the Northeast.

The improving crime situation in the Northeast seems to us somewhat meaningful and, if further reports continue the trend, it will deserve study for application elsewhere.

FOR ONE THING, New York City, which has the largest number of people under one police jurisdiction, has made some reforms under Mayor John Lindsay — more police, better qualified, better trained, better paid.

Further, with partial help from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration of the Justice Department, some 4,000 New York City addicts are off heroin through the use of methadone.

A CRIME-SUPPORTED heroin user will commit several hundred crimes and will steal goods worth $35,000 a year to get the money to buy the drugs he craves. Taking 4,000 heroin addicts off the drug and off the streets may well bear directly on the fact that in New York, crimes of larceny — thefts of $50 value and over — dropped from 30,881 during the first three months of 1969 to 26,908 during the same period in 1970.

These developments go to show that the inordinate crime in the United States can be licked when we are ready to do what is needed.

FOREIGN NEWS COMMENTARY

Palestinian Guerrillas May Battle King Hussein Again

By PHIL NEWSOM, UPI Foreign News Analyst

Another, and possibly decisive, round may be shaping up between Jordan's King Hussein and the Palestinian commandos who use his kingdom as a launching pad for their attacks against Israel.

If so, it will be only one result of the U.S.-instituted Arab-Israeli cease-fire which is so severely shaking Arab loyalties.

IT WOULD BE the third confrontation within a year between Hussein and the commandos, and, should Hussein lose again, it could mean the end of the "Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan" as it has been known since June 2, 1949.

As a straw in the wind, Hussein has recalled to active duty his cousin, Brig. Said Bin Shaker, as assistant chief of staff.

Bin Shaker formerly commanded the crack Third Armored Division. Commando pressure forced Hussein to dismiss him during last June's confrontation in which hundreds were killed or wounded in the streets of Amman. Bin Shaker is said to have declared he could wipe out the guerrillas in three days if given a free hand.

PALESTINIANS have accused both Hussein and President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic of betraying the commando cause by accepting a cease-fire with Israel. In this they have been joined in even stronger language by Iraq.

The Iraquis have accused Egypt especially of both treason against the Arabs and cowardice.

AS THE BATTLE lines formed within the Arab world, Egypt expelled 140 Iraqi students accused of belonging to either one of two Arab extremist groups.

Kuwait declared it would continue its financial support for the "hero" commandos.

Lebanon legalized the political party run by the Marxist Leninist leader of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine. He is George Habbash, a declared enemy not only of the Israelis but also of conservative Arab governments as represented by Hussein and King Faisal of Saudi Arabia. Nasser is on his list as a "has been."

LEBANON'S LEFTWING Interior Minister Kamal Jumblatt said the action was taken to present Lebanon's new president "with a fait accompli."

Nasser's renewed willingness to seek a political solution to the Arab-Israeli conflict is said to be based upon two factors: 1. A conviction that the United States is moving away from total support of Israel and closer to what Cairo considers the spirit of the November, 1967, U.N. Security Council resolution calling for Israeli withdrawal from seized Arab territories. And (2), Nasser's hopes for the economic development of the U.A.R. partly through his new partnership with Libya and the Sudan.

Mill Valley Mayor Actually Votes To Keep Government Costs Low

In this lean year, every governmental official is talking about cutting expenses, but few are voting that way. One of the few is Mill Valley Mayor George E. Wickham.

Wickham knows that talk is cheap, but the cost of local government is spiraling. While everyone is throwing up his hands about the soaring cost of living, Wickham actually votes to keep costs down.

In fact, he frequently has been on the losing side of 4-1 votes on the Mill Valley City Council on matters of fiscal cutbacks.

Example: Wickham voted against retaining the position of zoning administrator at a cost of $10,200. He was outvoted, 4-1.

Example: The mayor cast the lone dissenting vote against including $60,000 in the budget for salary increase for city employees. He said he agreed with City Mgr. William H. Cunningham that city employees who work 35 hours a week (mostly women clerks) should receive a smaller raise than other workers.

Example: He voted against allowing $500 mileage expenses for the city's senior citizen worker, and lost, 4-1.

"The only ways I know to cut the budget are to reduce personnel, salaries or expenses," Wickham said. While backing him in principal, the council just couldn't bring itself to cut the payroll.

While not agreeing with the mayor that such economy is necessary, many of the citizens who regularly attend city council meetings admire him for making an honest attempt to trim the city's record budget and reduce the tax rate.

EVEN WHILE the city council is considering enacting a leash law for downtown Mill Valley, compaints are coming in about packs of dogs running loose in other sections of the city.

Mary Engelhart, who lives near Boyle Park, said that she often sees such packs wandering through the park when she walks her Chihuahua there.

As if that's not enough, they even attacked her once. "I was walking in the park when a team of dogs came up to me," she said. How did she know it was a team? "One positioned himself in front of me barking, and one stayed behind, nipping at my heels," she said.

Anxious to make Boyle Park safe for people as well as animals, Mrs. Engelhart called the police department but was told the Humane Society is responsible for enforcing the animal control ordinance.

A woman at the Humane Society said that they do patrol Mill Valley, but there is only one officer for all of southern Marin, and he must divide his time.

Mrs. Engelhart feels that a leash law may be an answer. "But until then," she said, "How am I supposed to walk my dog?"

MILL VALLEY HAS won a five-year battle with the owners of Small World Travel, 25 East Blithedale Avenue. No longer will the globe in front of the office revolve.

Although the city council outlawed revolving signs five years ago, the small world sign, in existence at the time, was exempt from the ordinance.

But discussions with City Atty. Leland H. Jordan convinced the owners of the agency that they should stop the world, and Zoning Administrator Howard R. McGill has reported to the architectural advisory committee that they have.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Some Light Shed On Finally Giving Mid-Management Raises

Fusselman

Judging by the telephone calls, many of you are somewhat puzzled by the personnel in county management positions not having received a raise along with the other county staff at budget hearings and perforce were granted equality last week.

About 138 employees were involved. These individuals work in the various departments beside those, who being organized, had received increases after the bargaining sessions, which were carried on for many weeks.

These 138 were people with the same or even more extensive background training than those who had been raised. But because they were midway between department heads and staff and had supervisory authority, they hadn't joined the bargaining groups.

THE ADMNISTRATOR Alan Bruce, headed up the supervisors' bargaining committee. Now, each of the supervisors has said that they didn't realize this discrepency existed on that day when hundreds of concerned and irate citizen-taxpayers climbed heartbreak hill to the elegant hearing room out at Brasilia.

Question: Why not? Wasn't Bruce reporting the entire situation to them? Didn't the supervisors know the structuring and operation of county departments? Have they become so insulated from realities, by Bruce that they really don't know?

Some light can be thrown on that by the concern expressed by Supervisor Michael Warnum — to wit — "That such a valuable person as county administrator Alan Bruce might take another job, if not adequately recompenced." Valuable to whom, may we ask? Warnum and Co.? A list of the debacles Bruce has headed up during the past five years would raise the eyebrows way above the hairline.

WELL IN SPITE of all this, the guy who said he was "going to run this county and don't you ever forget it" was given a raise of 5 per cent as of January 1, 1971. — Yup, he's valuable to Warnum & Co. The value is expressed with your coin. Read the following carefully and you can get some idea how it works.

On the front page of the I-J last Saturday was an item that some of you might have missed during the week-end activities. Here it is.

"Mountanos, Staff Map Plans To Tighten Hall of Justice Security." "Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos and his staff yesterday came up with the first of a series of proposals to increase security at the Marin County Hall of Justice.

"The ideas include additional manpower to guard prisoners being taken from the jail to court rooms and back, an alarm system throughout the courtrooms and additional roving building patrols with walki-talkie radios.

"The suggestions have been handed to County Administrator Alan Bruce for staff review of merit and cost. Mountanos said his staff and Bruce probably will meet Monday or Tuesday to review the security plans."

The article went on to say that the superior and municipal court judges will also meet to talk of ways to prevent a repetition of the sad affair of August 7. Their recommendations to be presented to Mountanos and the administrator.

I IMAGINE YOUR reaction to this will be about the same as mine was. Why Bruce? What does he know about security and such things? Why not let the supervisors in on the thinking?

Did the supervisors make this important matter the first order of business for Tuesday's meeting? Nope. Bruce didn't put it on the agenda.

What did they do? They held a workshop with the planning commission on protocol, to determine if toes were needlessly being stepped on. There has been a long continueing desire on the commission's part to be free from restraints — to eliminate the right of applicants to appeal to the board of supervisors on a decision of the commission.

ACCORDING TO reports, the only reference made by Bruce in his oral report to the board was a request for about half a dozen extra deputy sheriffs of two different grades.

Again, doesn't all this wonder you? — Not so good, my friends, not so good.

Novato Planners To Eye Permit For Plant Nursery

The Novato Planning Commission will consider a use permit for a plant nursery and patio supply center near Nave Drive and Highway 101, a the commission's 8 p.m. meeting Monday.

The center plans to provide lawn care and garden and landscaping architecture services.

The planning commission will also consider use permits for temporary operation of the Dolphin Club child day care facility in the Grace Lutheran Church and rental of U-Haul trailers at the Hancock Service Station at 7409 Redwood Highway.

The commission will also consider requests from four Novato Shell Service stations to erect 28 square foot signs on 10-foot poles to advertise giving of coffee mugs in a sales promotion.

Plea Entry Set In Auto Embezzling

Clarence Frank Spanos, 38, accused of embezzling a car from a Mill Valley firm last October, remained in jail today in lieu of $2,500 bail. He was to appear again in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon for appointment of an attorney and to enter a plea to the felony count.

Judge Peter Allen Smith yesterday refused to release Spanos on his own recognizance because three other counties have issued traffic warrants against him.

Woman Faces Further Tests

Grace Patricia Halloran, 24, accused of arson in her home at 10 Gustafson Court, Novato, on Tuesday, was ordered held for further psychiatric examination, by Municipal Judge Peter Allen Smith. The public defender has asked for her release on her own recognizance.

Judge Smith refused to set bail in the case Wednesday, and again yesterday after the district attorney argued that she may be a danger to herself and to the community.

Miss Halloran was to appear again this afternoon for hearing of the doctor's report and possible entry of plea in the felony case.

ALMANAC

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1968 Soviet and other Warsaw Pac forces invaded Czechoslovakia to choke off a growing drive to free the nation from Moscow Communist rule.

A thought for the day: Miguel de Cervantes said, "Fortune may have yet a better success in reverse for you, and they who lose today may win tomorrow."

White House Flag Flies At Night

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American flag now flies over the White House day and night instead of from sunrise to sunset.

Sources said that President Nixon ordered the precedent-setting practice when Mrs. Nixon discovered that it was legal to fly the Stars and Stripes at night if it was illuminated.

A floodlight has been installed to light up the flag which is displayed on a pole on the south portico of the executive mansion.

Wounded Bird Routine Can Lead Enemy Hunters Astray In Slam

A certain kind of bird has a way of leading hunters astray when they get too close to her nest. She flutters along the ground as though she had a broken wing, always getting farther away from the nest. eBlieve it or not, Los Angeles bridge expert Eddie Kantar is that kind of bird. (If you don't believe it, here's a hand from the recent world pair championship to prove it.)

PROSPECTS SLIM

West led the ten of hearts, and prospects for the slam were not very rosy. Kantar could take the ace of hearts, but he would eventually have to knock out the ace of clubs, and then the hunters would take the heart trick to defeat the slam.

How could Kantar lead the opponents astray?

WOUNDED BIRD

Our hero went into his wounded-bird routine. He went up with the ace of hearts and led the queen of spades from dummy. East covered with the king, naturally enough, and Kantar won with the ace.

Now Kantar drew two rounds of trumps and led the king of clubs to force out the ace.

GUESSES WRONG

East had to guess whether to try to cash the king of hearts or the jack of spades. East really had to be an awful fish to try the jack of spades, but this was a world championship and he actually did lead the spade instead of the heart.

Kantar kept a straight face as he ruffed the jack of spades. Then he ran the clubs to discard dummy's jack of hearts, and the rest was easy.

Incidentally, if you think the hand was overbid, I won't argue with you. Still, if you're never in a worse slam than this one, you can't complain about your slam-bidding.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - K J 9 8
♡ - K 6 4 3
♦ - 8 2
♣ - A 10 9.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

The hand is not quite worth an opening bid. You would bid if your jack of spades were the queen or if your six of hearts or your ten of clubs were the jack. In other words, you need one other point in one of your strong suits.

Better Management Of Wildlands Pushed

A University of California scientist says California could alleviate two of its perennial problems — finding jobs for the unskilled and costly control of wildland fires — by turning more attention to wildlands management.

The unemployed, says Dr. R. Merton Love, of the UC campus a Davis, offer a labor resource to change grassy ranges, woodland, and forest areas from fire hazards into more productive, park-like landscapes for greater public benefit.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Gray Drug Optimistic Earnings Will Resume

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I bought 100 shares of Gray Drug Stores some time ago at 31¼. Do you think I should sell or retain this issue? — F.G.

A. A liberal yield — 6.3 per cent — and history of successful growth make these shares worth retaining for future improvement. Formerly a drug chain operator, Gray Drug has expanded and diversified into a general merchandiser. In addition, the company has strengthened its position in the mushrooming discount department store field. From 1964 to 1968 net income advanced consistently year-to-year, and more than quadrupled from $0.95 million to $4.19 million. In 1969, however, net fell below the previous year's figure due largely to the surtax which amounted to about 10 cents per share. For the first nine months of 1970, sales increased 11 per cent, while higher operating costs reduced per share profits 5 per cent year-to-year. With new store openings continuing at a rapid pace and with volume rising at present locations, management is optimistic that earnings will resume their past growth pace.

Q. I would like to purchase Phillips Petroleum. Is this advisable? — M.A.

A. A leading domestic oil company, Phillips is one of the most broadly based in the industry, with important representation in natural gas liquids, petrochemicals and plastics. Since the future livelihood of any integrated oil firm depends essentially on its ability to develop reserves, Phillips' North Sea discovery this June is of major importance and greatly enhances the company's prospects. Phillips is also in an enviable position with respect to the natural gas industry. Company owns what is probably the largest U.S. natural gas reserve stake of any single concern — another big plus in view of the growing shortage of this energy source. Although gross income managed to show a small gain in the first half, share earnings declined slightly to 80 cents from 82 cents. Purchase is recommended.

New Natural Gas Discovery Is Told

NEW YORK (UPI) — Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) and Royal Dutch Shell has announced what appears to be a natural gas discovery of commercial importance in the North Sea 53 miles off Den Helder, Holland.

If so, it would be the second commercial petroleum discovery in waters off Holland. The first field discovered by Tenneco, Inc., is not yet in production.

Upbeat Near Day's Close Market On

NEW YORK (UPI) — Signs that inflation may be slowing kept the Stock Market on the upbeat today. Turnover was moderately active.

Shortly before 2:30 p.m. the Dow Jones Industrial Average of 30 selected blue chips was ahead 10.48 at 740.08.

Of the 1,565 issues traded, 994 advanced and 305 declined. A four hour volume of 9,600,000 shares rose from the 6,940,000 traded in a comparable period yesterday.

The Labor Department's announcement today that consumer price index rose at the same rate in July as May and June buoyed investors analysts said. "Many investors feel that inflation is flattening out," one analyst said.

A spokesman for the Labor Department said prices showed "a general acceleration until about the first of the year and a slowing down since then that has become more pronounced in June and July."

The department added that spendable earnings of rank-and-file workers rose at a greater rate than the consumer price index—indicating their purchasing power improved.

"As more news comes in, more investors are coming off the sidelines," another analyst commented. "There is a growing tendency to 'want to' believe the government reports."

Denny's Restaurants, Gulf Oil, Texaco, Firestone Tire, Westinghouse, Rollings and Eastern Air Lines were actively traded issues.

Motors were firm, and analysts said they were reacting to an article in the Wall Street Journal which says the chances of an auto strike are lessening.

Most other major groups were firm with many quality issues showing sizeable gains.

WILLIAM HAMM JR.
A Ma Barker victim

Hamm, 76, Dies; Figure In Kidnaping

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) —William Hamm Jr., heir to a St. Paul brewery fortune and victim of a sensational ransom kidnapping by the Alvin Karpis-Ma Barker gang in the prohibition era, died Thursday.

Hamm, 76, was honorary chairman of the board of the Theodore Hamm Brewing Co., St. Paul, and the third generation of his family active in the brewing company management.

On June 15, 1933, two years after Hamm had become president of the firm, he was approached by a member of the Alvin Karpis-Ma Barker gang as he was walking home from the brewery for lunch.

Thinking the stranger was an out-of-town business customer, Hamm extended his hand in greeting and was quickly forced into a waiting car occupied by three other men.

Hamm, then 39, was taken to Bensenville, Ill., a Chicago suburb, and released four days later unharmed near Wyoming, Minn., after his family—responding to a series of anonymous telephone demands—paid out $100,000 in ransom.

The then-fledgling Federal Bureau of Investigation pinned blame for the kidnapping on the Karpis-Barker gang.

Karpis avoided numerous traps set by FBI agents. He eluded FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover's agents in a six-hour gun battle at an Oklawaha, Fla., hideout in which Ma Barker and son, Fred Barker, were killed and another Barker brother, Arthur, was captured. He wriggled out of another trap a few days later in Atlantic City, N.J.

A picked squad of G-men finally seized Karpis on May 1, 1936, in New Orleans. He was returned to St. Paul, tried for the Hamm kidnapping and sentenced to life in prison. He was freed in January 1969, and went to Canada.

Charles J. Fitzgerald, another man sentenced to a life term in the kidnaping, died in Leavenworth Federal Prison in 1945.

Hamm became chairman of the board and, following his retirement in May 1966, honorary chairman.

He is survived by two sons, two grandchildren, and three sisters.

Mental Patient Stabs Man, Self

CINCINNATI (UPI)—A mental patient walked into a bar Thursday night and without a word plunged a hunting knife into the back of a complete stranger and then killed himself.

Police said Fred Clayton, 41, walked away from the Veterans Administration Hospital at Lexington, Ky., earlier in the day and took a bus to Cincinnati. He purchased the hunting knife at a store a block away from the bar, officers said.

Witnesses said the man walked into the bar sat down and ordered a beer. Without uttering a word, he suddenly stood up and stabbed William Going, 35, in the back seven times.

Ross Adopts Budget; No Increase In Tax

The Ross Town Council last night adopted its 1970-71 budget of $266,808, keeping the town's tax rate at its present $1.72 per $100 assessed valuation.

The budget had been tentatively approved at the August 14 meeting.

It includes a 5 per cent pay increase for all town employees retroactive to July 1. Although the tax rate will remain at $1.72 per $100 assessed valuation, the total tax bill to Ross taxpayers will be somewhat higher because of an increase of nearly 10 per cent in the town's assessed valuation, according to councilman John H. Chase.

Breakdown on the 1970-71 tax rate is $1.13 for general government, 29 cents for parks and boulevards, 11 cents for retirement and 19 cents for drains and flood control.

The town council also met with the Ross School District trustees and renewed the yearly maintenance and capital improvement agreement for Ross Common.

Both bodies unanimously approved the agreement, which provides that the school district assume 60 per cent of the Ross Common maintenance costs, with the town paying the rest.

A joint liaison committee was also formed, with Councilman Julie Osterloh representing the town council and Trustee H. Jack Wyman representing the school board.

The councilmen and trustees agreed to construction of an 80 to 100-foot-long fence along Corte Madera Creek at the south end of Ross Common, at a cost estimated at about $500, with the two governing bodies splitting the amount 60-40.

Russia-Germany Treaty Is Hailed As Major Step

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Warsaw Pact nations today hailed the recently signed Soviet-West German nonaggression treaty as a "major step on the road toward relaxation of the tension and normalization of the situation in Europe."

A communique issued after a meeting of the top leaders of the Soviet Union and its allies said the Moscow-Bonn agreement was "in the interest of all peoples and serves all European countries."

The seven Warsaw Pact nations pledged their "firm intention to take further steps aimed at strengthening of European security, and in particular, together with other countries concerned, to take active measures for implementation in the nearest future of the proposal on the convocation of an all-European security conference."

Family Activities, Tours For Marinites

By MOLLY MARIN

Dr. and Mrs. P. R. Danford of Mill Valley have been receiving news of many activities of their family from many places. Most important was the news of the birth of a daughter, Julie, to Dr. and Mrs. Paul Backman (Debbie Danford) of Raleigh, N.C. The Backmans will soon move to Clements, S.C., where Dr. Backman will be doing research at Clements University. The Danfords are planning a trip to see their new granddaughter in October.

Dr. and Mrs. Michael Passovoy (Carol Danford) of Eltham, New Zealand, went on a skiing trip following Carol's completion of her last paper on South Asian culture for her graduation from San Diego State College.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Jorgensen of Santa Rosa (Susan Danford) are visiting his parents in Syracuse, N.Y. The Danfords' 16-year-old son Bill was just graduated from the National Outdoor Leadership School directed by the famed rock climbing specialist Paul Petzol in Lander, Wyo., and is acting as an assistant leader on mountain trips in the area. He will be home on Sept. 10.

FORMER MARIN supervisor and Sausalito councilman, Randolph N. (Rudy) Pettersen, is vacationing for two weeks with his daughter, Adeline Thompson of Martinez, in his home town, Bergen, Norway.

The 83-year-old Pettersen of Forest Knolls is a former seaman, ferryboat operator and Golden Gate Bridge construction worker and was both international light heavyweight and heavyweight boxing champion.

National Education Association Says Women Are Getting Cheated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The educated woman is being cheated in the job department.

No, this is not a woman's liberation movement spokesman sounding off. It is the National Education Association NEA. One of NEA's experts refers to discrimination against women as a "crippling" process.

Fifty years after women won the vote, they still suffer "from discrimination because of their sex, and many educators and public officials are charging that the American public school and university systems are largely to blame," says an NEA release.

Dr. Donald Klein, behavioral scientist with the National Training Laboratories Institute for Applied Behavioral Science, associated with NEA, puts the problem this way:

"It does seem to me the university trained women of the last generation are badly crippled in terms of what many of them are able to do with their lives, the way they use their skills and talents."

U.S. Department of Labor statistics show that nearly 30 million women in this country work outside the home. One in 10 is head of a household.

Yet, says NEA, the median income of a white woman with a high school education or better is $4,100 per year compared to a black man with less than a high school education who earns $4,500.

BLACK WOMEN with a high school education or better average $3,000 annually compared with white men with less than a high school education who earn $7,000.

Fewer than two per cent of the working women make over $10,000 a year.

Mrs. Elizabeth D. Koontz, director of the Women's Bureau of the labor department and former NEA president, has urged educators to examine curriculum at the secondary level, if not earlier, which tends to segregate the boys from the girls even before they join the labor market.

Mrs. Koontz calls for opening doors to new vocational opportunities, in high schools, in technical institutes, on the job and in apprenticeship programs. Don't put the label "women's work" on a job and keep women in the traditional occupations — secretaries, nurses, teachers, or assistants.

NEA SAYS that clearly the schools are not preparing girls for lucrative jobs. But the boys are introduced to the sciences, business management and the top professions of law, medicine, engineering and politics.

Teaching is open to women, but even here "discrimination rears its ugly head," says NEA.

It quotes from the report of the President's Task Force on Women's Rights and Responsibilities published last April.

The report says discrimination is even more noticeable in graduate and professional schools which may account for the fact that only 5.9 per cent of America's law students and 8.3 per cent of its medical students are women.

NEA STRESSES that even in education, the lower paying jobs are the ones open to the girls. Men constitute only 12 per cent of the elementary teaching force, but account for 78 per cent of the principalships. On the high school level, 96 per cent of the principals are male. And a 1968-69 Higher Education Directory notes that almost no women are college presidents outside of Roman Catholic women's colleges. In a survey of 2,841 colleges, only 211 are headed by women.

NEA adds that there are only two women school district superintendents out of 13,000 and of the 50 chief state school officers, only one is a woman.

Discrimination carries over to salaries, NEA says. The media income for women teachers in higher education for instance, is $1,000 below that of men.

Teens Wowed By Seeing How They Look On Video

London Express Service

NOTTINGHAM, England — Closed circuit television experiments have had a dramatic effect on teen-agers at a Nottingham Youth Club.

Video tape recordings were used to show the youngsters just how they look to others — and some of them were shocked by what they saw.

Said Storey: "Robbie Burns once said: 'If only we could see ourselves as others see us' and this got me thinking about the application of closed circuit television.

"I realized that most of us go through life with a totally false impression of how we appear to others.

For three months Storey used $12,000 worth of television equipment at Radford Youth Club in Nottingham.

"At first some of the youngsters were terrified of seeing their own images but gradually they were persuaded to cooperate. The most dramatic effect was a general smartening up in appearance," said Storey.

"Some youngsters abandoned irritating mannerisms which they never knew they had. Basically they became much more confident, well balanced people."

The experiment's biggest success was with a youth who invadiably turned up at the club in his overalls and a greasy jacket.

"After he had seen himself on the video recordings he suddenly turned up one evening in a smart suit. He looked like a completely different person," added Storey.

Recruit Graduates During Summer

URBANA, ILL. (UPI) — A college placement specialist has suggested the expansion of on-campus recruiting to include summer interviews.

Roland Swaim, coordinator of placement at the University of Chicago Circle, said warm-weather enrollments are continuing to grow and it is "increasingly difficult to provide the same placement service for summer graduates as for June and mid-year graduates."

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Sylvia Gioia Caesar, a University of Munich graduate in psychology and holder of a Fulbright fellowship, believes that behavior therapy, the new approach to psychotherapy, may be the best way to help not only adults, but also children and especially students with their daily problems.

Shocked at the high rate of suicide among students in her country, she feels a faster and less expensive method than psychoanalysis is needed to deal with personality difficulties and crisis situations.

Sponsored by the German-American Club in Munich, Germany, the 22-year-old German is in this country to continue her studies in behavior therapy, since opportunities in the field are greater in the United States than in Germany. She is staying with the family of Mrs. Richard Parino in Mill Valley on referral by the Experiment in International Living until she leaves to enter the University of Arizona at Tucson this fall.

SHE IS impressed with the Behavior Therapy Institute in Sausalito, which, when founded in March, 1966, by Mrs. Marian Frick of Sausalito, was the first such clinic in the world.

"I'm preparing for a career as a psychologist with specialty in behavior therapy," Sylvia said. "I worked under Dr. Brengelmann at the Max-planck Institute of Psychiatry in Munich, but it had no facilities for studying behavior techniques. Most therapists there came from America, and that is why I cam here."

The tawny blonde, who speaks English fluently except for technical terms, went on to explain why she feels the behavior approach is superior to psychoanalysis.

"When a behavior therapist sees a child acting in the wrong way, he doesn't ask why, as is necessary in Freudian analysis, believing that the child has simply learned wrong behavior and has to learn new behavior. It is a matter of re-training him instead of having him lie on a couch and tell his story. A child's program is one of reinforcement or desensitizing.

"For example, if a child is afraid of a dog, you begin by finding out how much fear he has. The lowest degree may be a picture of a dog, and the highest may be a dog confronting him. First you show him the picture of a dog and reinforce him to see it without fear by accompanying the showing of the picture with a positive, pleasant stimulus, such as music, until he becomes desensitized to dogs. You have to find out what is right for the particular child.

"OR NEGATIVE reinforcement may be used, as in toilet training, when water in the bed coming in contact with a device causes a slight electric shock, which wakes the child and stops the bed-wetting. However, this is controversial. Some psychologists say you can't work with negative reinforcement. In this case the child may develop a fear of electric shocks. It is experimental."

SYLVIA GIOIA CAESAR

The young psychology student explained why she prefers the behavior therapy approach.

"It is useful in all situations in daily life with both adults and children, and it is an active solution, encouraging people to reply on themselves, not the therapist, who only helps find the way. Psychoanalysis is enormously expensive because it sometimes takes four or five years, and patients become dependent. Because it is so lengthy, psychoanalysts can take only a limited number of patients, and also there are not enough of them.

"This is very important for so many students. At the University of Munich, where there is so much depression, the rate of suicide is extremely high.

Sylvia traces the cause in German universities to fear of examinations and to loneliness, which oddly enough, she says, is worse among students living in dormitories than among those living alone in their own apartments.

"STUDENTS NEVER have tests until the very end of their study, when a huge examination is given, and they have only two chances to take it. Failure means they are out permanently, and fear of failure causes many suicides."

As to why students are more lonely in dormitories than when living alone, she thinks this is probably related to the fact that loneliness is exaggerated in a large group when there are no close relationships.

"Most people need positive reinforcement in our overcrowded world today," she emphasized. "The most important reinforcements are to feel you are not alone and to work for an important cause, such as helping others with their problems. Society will be destroyed if we become too alienated from each other."

This is one of the reasons for the growth of communes, Sylvia suggests. Invited to live in one herself, she refused, observing that most of them were not successful because members started without really knowing each other first.

Returning to the subject of fear, Sylvia said she wrote a thesis based on her original research on "The Incubation of Fear, or How Fear Develops," and concluded that even the anticipation of fear can suppress learning. But she also found that many people worked better in a frightened situation because they worked harder to overcome their fear.

"We are not like animals in this respect,' she says. "We can desensitize ourselves to fear. Behavior therapy is the normal way to overcome our problems."

Widely traveled, Sylvia says her greatest hobby is meeting and getting to know people in many countries. With her keen interest in their problems, it seems likely she will make her mark in her chosen field.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

DEAR HELEN:

I'm not in love with my boss, so how do you explain the jealousy I feel when he shows interest in another secretary?

He is married. His family is great. I like his wife. And I'm married to the only man in my life. Maybe the fact that I've become an office wife has something to do with my feelings.

My boss has never shown interest in other women workers before, though he is quite attractive. Now he seeks out this new woman, and though she does nothing to really encourage him, I can see mutual attraction.

Why should this bother me when I'm not involved? — MRS. GREEN EYES

DEAR MRS. GREEN:

You're confusing jealousy with the natural protective instinct a good office wife always has for her boss. Also, you're human and female, so even though you don't love him, you do love that No. 1 spot in his business life. And you're worried too, because you see a possible threat to a great family.

Why not play it as any good wife would? Be aware, trusting, but a little bit sneaky. Tell the new girl about your boss' terrific family relationship, and steer her toward a younger single fellow in the company. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband has been overseas for a year and I got careless. Not the way you think: with my weight. When you're lonely and bored, the refrigerator is just too handy.

He'll be home in about three months, and I need a crash course in "The Power of Positive Shrinking."

Is it really true that a reducing salon can take off "up to eight inches in one day?" — 178-POUND WEAKLING (FOODWISE)

DEAR 178:

Not without a special rubber control suit which isn't for everyday wearing. And remember, this doesn't mean an overall eight-inch shrinkage, but the totaling up of measurement-loss from hips, waist, thighs, stomach, etc. And it isn't "lost," just squeezed in.

A salon can help you reduce (average cost: $200 for a six-months' contract, often not cancelable) but only if you stay on a strict diet. There is no miracle way to grow thin without cutting down on calories, though exercise, of course, burns them, and tones muscles.

See your family doctor first (not a weight clinic that offers pills without thorough examination) and then I'd suggest you join a club like "Overeaters Anonymous" or "TOPS." Group participation does wonders for your won't power — and it's a lot easier on your pocketbook too. — H.

P.S. for local addresses of reducing clubs, inquire at your library, or write to: OVEREATERS ANONYMOUS, P.O. Box 3372, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212; or TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly), 4575 South Fifth Street, Milwaukee, Wis., 53207.

DEAR HELEN:

My reaction to the letter from "Back To Nature" (whose youngsters don't like clothes):

Congratulations, lady. I'm a 67-year-old practicing Christian, a man who believes that if more boys and girls were accustomed to seeing each other as they are, there would be none of the curiosity that leads to preoccupation with sex.

Sex is an important, marvelous part of the bodies we live in, but it is not everything. Why try to keep it a deep, dark secret? As for sleeping in the nude, it's the only way to go. — ANOTHER "BACK TO NATURE"

Textured Stripes In Deep Tones For New Men's Shirts

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — The news in men's fall shirts is deep tone stripes with white accents, textured stripes including satin and raised, embroidered stripes, all over textured shirts and prints and printed stripes. But the real big news is three-dimensional jacquard weave shirts.

Deep tone shirts are still a big seller and the leading colors are blue, gold and green and some red and yellow. Shirt styles are little changed —long points up to four inches, a hight- two-inch collarband; two-button barrel cuffs seem most popular with some variations on French cuffs. A few white collar and cuff numbers were seen.

Here is what some of the leading manufacturers are showing:

Hathaway: Colors less obvious, like the old rose of an artist's chalk. The newest prints are stripes inspired by the tapestries of Verasilles. Another shirt has satin stripes in deep colors, often with white.

Lanvin had a silky shirt with widely spaced ruby, green, blue and rust against a white background. An a new line, the Romentino, in corded silk, woven geometrics and clipped figures.

John Weitz for Excello shows a bold print shirt, tapered fore and aft, with two-button suffs and in permanent press usually used by cheaper shirts.There were new diagonal weave stripings, a tapestry look and multi-colored random stripes.

Hardy Amies concentrated on the suit-shirt color coordination with lighter grounds, printed and woven and mostly woven. There were overall geometric weaves in soft muted colors, a random polka dot in anything but muted colors, herring bones, tapestry stripes and collars as long as 4½ inches , semispread.

Oleg Cassini by Barry Boonshaft: He pioneered the deep, deep tones and still has them in 22 different colors. But 60 per cent of the business is in stripes and with high surface interest — satin and corded stripes including one in blue, black, orange, tan, blue and beige. There was a print in a swirling geometric pattern in dazzling colors.

Pierre Cardin: All fly fronts with architectural seams and two collar styles, both long and pointed. Eagle, which makes Cardin shirts, had an "Innkeeper apron," a cotton darby with a black and white stripe and a wide, wide collar. Another was the Hook and Ladder, which has a raised stripe and a cross ladderlike effect. Schiapareli had a high surface interest with many jacquard stripes.

Gant: There were more than 200 patterns of stripes and 24 solid colors, and most were shown with coordinated ties. Perhaps the most important were the textured varistripes with white grounds. Some others were overall dobby weaves, woven stripes in a semi basket-weave dobby.

Bill Blass concentrated on jacquard weaves in allover geometrics and allover Greek key design. Collars were very widespread and points were four inches long. There were collar stays nearly an inch wide to give body to the collar point.

Bill Miller for M. & D. Simons: Many of his shirts were designed for wear with vest suits and "nonsuits" and there was much collar and sleeve interest with sharply contoured bodies. One called the Submarian showed paisley stripes on pale beige.

Van Heusen launched its "designer label" look with novelty fabrics that include intricately woven Jacquards in link effects, damask swirls patterns, clipped designs, fancy stripes and lines. Colors include subtle mauves, gray , pale golds, cream, mint, soft pinks and blues . Creighton: Again it was stripes and with high surface interest, including herring bones.

ON BEING BLACK

Black Children Need Homes

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

As I entered the lobby of the adoption agency, a volunteer worker in a starched pink apron stood holding a bundle of dimpled elbows and balled fists. The infant, about five months old, had huge dark eyes, long lashes and a head full of curls. A single tear hung precariousy on the edge of his brown chin.

How in the world, I thought, could this beautiful child be unattached for a single minute? How could he not be snapped up immediately by anxious, adoptive parents?

The fact is, however, that even though the number of white adoptive parents has now surpassed the number of white children available for adoption, the number of black children still far exceeds the number of adoptive parents available for them.

ONE LOCAL agency reports relatively few black families indicating an interest in adopting children. Conversely, few black girls come to them for placement of their infants.

This is not particularly surprising. For a number of reasons, blacks have not traditionally been involved in the arena of legal adoption.

First, black people have historically cared for their own. An illegitimate child is brought into the existing family unit and cared for as best possible. Illegitimate children have not traditionally been held with the same disdain in the black society as in the white society.

If for some reason the child was not cared for by the immediate family, it was given to a relative, close friend or neighbor to be cared for, without the benefit of legal adoption. This practice, indeed, has caused much friction and frustration.

Second, any black children put up for adoption have had a limited chance of being adopted. Obviously, many black mothers figured the child was going to have it rough anyway, so they might as well rough it together.

Third, because of economic inequities, most black couples have been preoccupied with the mere survival of their own family members and consequently there was little thought given to officially adopting other children.

TODAY, OF course, with a few more blacks moving into the middle-income bracket, there is quite a fervor to adopt these children.

The economic consideration is undoubtedly necessary, but unfortunately it eliminates many blacks who would make excellent adoptive parents but who very probably don't qualify because of comparatively low incomes and small living accommodations. This is particularly sad because there is still a surplus of black children who need homes and loving parents.

Several organizations seek adoptive homes for black children. In this area the Minority Adoption Committee (MAC) and various groups across the country called Parents for Interracial Adoptions are active.

There is now a movement away from the traditional matching of parents and adoptive children. Emphasis is being placed on families which can relate to, appreciate and love differences in their adopted children. This attitude ought to whittle down that unadoptable group to a bare nothing.

Changes For Femme Role

STANFORD (UPI) — As more women enter man's world of work, families may become smaller because women may feel less need to justify their role in society by having children.

This thought is offered by a Stanford University psychologist, Joseph Katz, who says that among all women who obtained a doctorate degree 10 years ago, four out of five are now employed full time.

Katz said his studies showed that more than four out of five women now in college plan to work after their children are grown, and men agreed with their objective.

Coming this Saturday in Marin Magazine

The Independent-Journal Marin Magazine tomorrow continues its series of historical features completed by the late I-J historian, Florence Donnelly, prior to her death. The subject this time—the Tiburon Peninsula and Belvedere Island. It is the story of one of Marin's most colorful and most interesting area—and of the men responsible for its development. It is a story, too, of bitter legal controversy over land ownership.

It's car show time in Marin, what with the annual Town & Country Village Auto Show scheduled to take place at Strawberry on Sunday. So tomorrow, the Marin Magazine spotlights an unusual automobile and its owners. The subjects are a 1929 Packard Runabout, Model 6-33, and the John Sweenys of Sausalito who own it and refer to it affectionately as their "Little Old Lady." It's a story Marin's many car buffs will enjoy.

Principal Figure In Inquiry—A No Show

Everybody but the key person himself showed up yesterday at a meeting to decide whether a sheriff's inspector should be disciplined for a series of patrol car accidents, particularly for the latest mishap which occurred March 12.

Inspector Kenneth L. Irving, 38, failed to appear before the Marin County Safety Commission and was criticized for not showing up.

Appearing instead were Sgt. George Reuss, sheriff's training officer, and Ronald Retana, chief of the sheriff's inspectors bureau. Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos and Undersheriff Sidney Stinson showed up just before the close of the meeting.

The commissioners set a special meeting for 9 a.m. Monday in Room 332 at the Civic Center to consider Irving's case.

"Why isn't Mr. Irving here?" asked Supervisor William A. Gnoss, a member of the safety commission. "I'm very disappointed the man is not here. I don't think he had a good excuse. He's no busier than I am."

County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom and Commissioner Paul Brusseau were also critical of Irving's absence.

Retana said it was all a misunderstanding. He said he called the commission chairman, who happens to be Sgt. Robert Bertrand of the sheriff's office, last night. Retana said Bertrand told him the meeting had been called off. Retana said he therefore assigned Irving on an Oakland assignment this morning.

Richard L. Uchida, commission secretary, submitted a detailed report on Irving's accident record and recommended that Irving be suspended for 10 days without pay.

He said Irving had been involved in six accidents in the past 11 years. The latest was a one-car mishap on Nicasio Road at about 12:15 a.m. on March 12. Irving's patrol car went off the road near the Howard Ranch and severed a telephone pole.

Irving left the car there overnight and went home. A California Highway patrolman saw the damaged car the next morning and turned in the accident report. The car was towed away by a Fairfax garage.

Irving then called the high way patrol at 9:45 a.m. to give his statement.

"The vehicle was left there overnight," said Bloom. 'Why didn't he report it?" Bloom said the patrol car has valuable equipment inside. "Any of us, if we left a damaged car over night without reporting it, would be crucified."

Mario Balestieri, deputy director of public works, and Wayne Diggs, fleet dispatcher for the county garage reported this morning that Irving's car was in good shape. Even after the March 12 mishap, several mechanics inspected the vehicle and found nothing faulty with the steering mechanism, said Diggs.

Commissioner R. Allan Ballard and Reuss criticized Uchida for releasing the information to the press yesterday.

Referring to Wednesday's report in the IndependentJournal, Ballard declared: "If that isn't prejudging, I don't know what the hell it is."

"I don't go along with the article," added Reuss. "If the public is entitled to it, it could have been offered after his (Irving's appearance and after the decision."

Uchida replied that the commission is a public agency, and subjects discussed in public meetings are a matter of public record.

Commissioner Paul Brusseau said he saw nothing in the news article that drew a conclusion. "This was before us at the last meeting, and I see no conclusion here whatsoever."

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Parents' Magazines, unless otherwise indicated. Family

"Funny Girl" — Partly fictionalized biography of comedianne Fanny Brice. Streisand recreats her Broadway musical role that is extravagantly mounted and lavishly costumed.

"OUT of Towners" — Very broad satire of hazards of New York life and misadventures of a small city businessman who brings his wife along for a job interview. Hilarious comedy.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Cheyenne Social Club" — Two carefree cowpokes inherit a bawdy house with six prostitutes. It is adult material masquerading as family fare. It lacks wit, taste and honesty. Stewart and Fonda deserve a better vehicle.

"Paint Your Wagon" — A lusy, irreverent script is framework for a musical set in a mining camp during Gold Rush days. Elaborately mounted broad comedy, raucous and at times tasteless, not suitable for young children.

"Reivers" — A weekend adventure when a 11 year old boy loses his childhood innocence and discovers the waywardness of man. Story has good human values, but it is regrettable that the action in a brothel makes the film unsuitable for younger audiences.

"Sterile Cuckoo" — A kooky college girl and a boy who is serious and square. Their love affair and first sex experience are told with simplicity and insight. Acting excellent.

"Tell Me That You Love Me, Junie Moon" — Three people with crippling defects meet as patients in a hospital and decide to share a house when released and attempt to adjust to the world.

"Too Late the Hero" — Tense war drama that pays lip service to peace but the scenes of violent combat on South Pacific island indicates where its heart really is. Acting and direction good.

"Z" — Remarkable film about a political assassination. Powerful combination of action and suspense providing profound insights into today's troubled politics. Subtitles in English.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Death of a Gun Fighter" — Sadistic western with so many people gunned down in the bloody melodrama that the story plot is lost.

"Getting Straight" — Satiric melodrama that tries to give both sides of student rebellion on college campuses as experienced by a student-teacher. Violence and sex scenes and foul language are abundant.

"Woodstock Festival" — Exciting film that tells the story of the happening last summer. Excellent rock music, much nudity, obscene language and use of druges and love making. Parental guidance advised.

ADULTS ONLY

"Loving" — The quiet desperation of suburban life is artfully explored in story of a commercial artist on the brink of disaster. Realistic frank language, sex scenes.

"M-A-S-H" — Hilarious, subtle anti-war comedy of three army surgeons who develop outlandish life-style to survive the gore that passes before their eyes. Sex, nudity and profanity.

Sanitary Staff To Make New Discharge Tests

The San Rafael Sanitary District board has directed its staff to apply a range of testing of all dischargers as ordered by the San Francisco Bay Region Regional Water Quality Control Board.

According to Ely Caillouette, city engineer, the self-monitoring system, in effect, triples the amount of previously required testing.

Also discussed Wednesday was the extension of the outfall pipe in the Marin Bay plant in Peacock Gap.

One thousand more feet of pipe are under consideration so that the discharge in the pipe can be emitted into a deeper channel in the bay.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell reported the assessed valuation of the district to be $99,580,772, Caillouette said.

Youth Burglary Suspect Arrested Inside Hub Home

San Anselmo police said they responded to a silent alarm at the 64 Fern Lane home of Walter G. Thompson at 11:22 a.m. and found Michael Earl Frank of 201 Castro Street hiding in the bedroom.

In his possession were a chrome brake adjusting tool, wire cutters, an open pocket knife and a skeleton key which was found to open a door to the house.

He also carried a metal box containing a partially smoked cigarette believed by police to be marijuana and vegetable matter residue in another container and in his pocket, police said.

He was held in Marin County Jail to appear in Marin Municipal Court.

Exhibit Opens

An exhibit of paintings by Mill Valley artist Marion McClanahan will be on display at the John Bolles Gallery in San Francisco through Sept. 5.

KEY PUNCHER

A Male Is Claiming Job Discrimination

There are some jobs a man really isn't fit for. As topless waitresses, for example, males just don't stack up against the opposite sex.

However, it's not so clear why employers don't want male key punch operators. Kenneth A. Bauman of 12 Malone Lane, San Rafale, a College of Marin student in computer operation, said he was denied a job interview for key punch operator with a Marin firm by the Jean Busching Employment Agency of San Rafael because he is a male.

Responding to a newspaper ad, he called the agency Tuesday and told them he wanted the job.

"They said it was for girls only. I explained that I was a key puncher and that the new amendment (federal) made it illegal to discriminate on account of sex," Bauman said.

"I was informed, 'I don't know why you would want to work for a company lige that,' " he said.

The agency did not consult his application for qualifications while rejecting him, he said.

Jean Busching, owner of the employment firm, confirmed his story, but blamed it on an inexperienced famale clerk.

She said the job advertised requires more than the two months experience Bauman has, but she would send him on the interview if he insists.

However, she said she couldn't understand why a man would want a job exclusively with women, and, striking a blow against women's liberation, said she wouldn't send a woman for a construction job because the employers expect her to have more sense than

ON TIME AFTER ITS TIME

Cruising into a San Francisco Bay overhung by gray skies, the Argentine Navy training frigate Libertad returns a 21-gun salute from a battery at Fort Point. Although seemingly 100 years late, the largest sail powered vessel in the world sailed downwind into San Francisco Bay yesterday on schedule, but long after sailing ships ceased to be a common sight on the bay. When it came in with all 27 sails unfurled, its cadets scurrying about yelling "Viva San Francisco" and firing salute to the Presidio and Treasure Island, the 8-year-old frigate drew a swarm of small boats and a crowd of greeters at its Pier 41 berth in San Fancisco. The ship will be open to the public from 2 to 5 p.m. tomorrow and at the same times Monday through Thursday.

Security Tailored To Separate Cases

Security measures at the Hall of Justice will be tailored to fit individual cases, Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos explained yesterday. (See photos, page 1.)

Following a series of discussions with Marin judges and the county administrator's staff, Mountanos said some steps have already been taken and others will follow as more manpower and equipment become available.

Meanwhile, Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said yesterday that he intends to ask for a jury trial inside San Quentin Prison within the next 30 days.

Public sentiment for removing trials involving San Quentin convicts from the Hall of Justice at the Civic Center has been high since Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley was slain Aug. 7 in a bloody kidnap-escape try by three convicts and an accomplice.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson, presiding judge of superior court, said today that no more pretrial appearances such as arraignments, taking of pleas and trial settings, by San Quentin convicts will take place at the Hall of Justice.

He is scheduled to hear the first calendar of such matters inside the prison Monday.

The legality of holding jury trials inside the prison, however, has not been tested, and both Bales and Wilson said today they hope that a test case will be challenged through higher courts to determine this.

Bales said that he did not yet know which case he would select for the test trial.

The district attorney said he inspected the prison facilities yesterday and found that a training hall inside the main gate but outside the prison compound would probably be an adequate setting for trials.

Marin County is reimbursed 100 per cent by the state for the cost of such inmate trials, Bales mentioned today.

Meanwhile, Mountanos said that the first hirings of additional personnel approved this week by the Board of Supervisors will be men to relieve courtroom bailiffs of the task of accompanying county jail prisoners to court.

Bailiffs will spend their entire time in the courtroom, the sheriff said, while four additional jailors will escort prisoners and guard them while they are in court.

For the time being, at least, bailiffs will be armed in the courtrooms unless individual judges request otherwise.

In addition, two deputies will be assigned to a roving patrol of the sprawling building, equipped with radios which will keep them in touch with the sheriff's office.

Expected to come more slowly will be the "devices" phase of preventing the smuggling of weapons into courtrooms, Mountanos said.

He said his staff and the county administrator's office are reviewing suppliers' proposals to furnish metal detection equipment and other devices to back up the new manpower.

Marin officials do not propose to set hard-and-fast rules such as San Francisco's recent decision to demand identification and search packages carried by anyone entering that county's Hall of Justice, Mountanos said.

Instead, when judges and the sheriff feel extra precautions are necessary, the manpower may be bolstered and mechanical devices used for searching brought into play.

The security may even extend to personal searches, but that will be the exception, not the rule, he said.

Reagan Given Bill Raising Tax Ceiling

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill increasing the maximum property tax rate of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District from 1.3 to two cents per $100 assessed valuation has won final legislative approval and gone to the governor for his signature.

The measure, AB 478 by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, was introduced at the request of the district. Increased costs for an expanded enforcement program were cit- for the tax increase.

Tentative Bid For Classrooms Accepted

A bid of $199,980 was tentatively accepted last night by Old Adobe School District trustees, Petaluma, for a six-classroom addition to La Tercera School.

Supt. Dean D. Magowan said the apparent low bid from James Construction Co. of Santa Rosa included $190,280 for building construction and another $9,700 for street improvements, parking lot and playground.

Second in the list of six bidders was Fostmeir Construction of Santa Rosa at $203,800. Award of the contract will be made after review of bids by the Sonoma County Counsel's office and state Office of Local Assistance.

Magowan said he hoped the addition would be completed by late February or early March. It will house a maxium of 180 students.

The Old Adobe School District Board Also:

TRANSFERS — Considered a policy making inter-district transfer agreements more stringent. The board said transfers should be only approved for abnormal conditions and when it will not place a financial hardship on the district.

ELECTION — Heard a report from Magowan calling the Sept. 15 bond and tax increase election of vital importance to the district. He said that if interest rates on the $130,000 bonds are not increased from 5 to 7 per cent, the district will not be eligible for a state loan to build the Miwok Valley School on St. Francis Drive. The election also requests an increase in the maximum tax rate from $1.90 to $2.40 per $100 assessed valuation.

EASEMENT — Granted an easement on district property on Crinella Drive for installation of a storm drain.

San Rafael Man Hurt In Motorcycle Crash

A San Rafael man was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for injuries suffered when he lost control of his motorcycle after turning onto Grand Avenue from Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael.

The hospital said Robert V. Andrus, 26, of 35 Fairfax Street, apartment 30, suffered scrapes on his scalp, forehead and hands.

Stereo Tape Player, Radio, Tapes Stolen

A combination tape deck and radio stereo tapes valued at a total of $148 were taken from an automobile parked in a San Rafael municipal parking lot at Third Street and Lootens Place between 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. yesterday, police reported.

Police said the vehicle was owned by Angelo F. Lancelotti of 169 Crescent Drive, San Anselmo.

Tiburon Rec Members To Key Panels

The Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission last night appointed four of its members to serve on two special planning and advisory committees, according to Asst. City Mgr. Robert L. Kleinert.

Chairman Donald K. Loomis and George Ellman will serve on a committee to study realignment and reconstruction of Tiburon Boulevard, and Polly O. Smith and David O. Teather will join the Tiburon Trails Committee.

Two planning commissioners, Alvin R. Kuhn and Charles E. Bassett, were appointed to the boulevard committee Aug. 3, and Kuhn and Allan Thompson will serve on the trails committee as well, Kleinert said.

The trails committee will study and make recommendations to the planning commission on phase two of the Tiburon trails plan, which the county planning department has referred to Tiburon.

The planning commission will review the committee's findings and make its own suggestions to the city council, Kleinert said.

The Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission also:

AYALA — Heard a report that a historical plaque is being fabricated and a base is being built on Angel Island in preparation for the Sept. 26 Ayala Day, commemorating the first survey of San Francisco Bay by Juan Manuel De Ayala in 1775.

ORDINANCE — Reviewed and made minor changes in a proposed ordinance establishing the commission. The ordinance, which will replace a resolution which established the commission in 1965, will be forwarded to the city council for its approval.

VACANCY — Announced that it has received nine letters from persons interested in being appointed to the vacancy created by the expiration of Commissioner George McKegney's term. The names will be sent to the city council.

'63 Corvette Stolen Near Owner's Home

A 1963 blue Chevrolet Corvette, bearing California license plates ZTH071, was stolen between 4 p.m. Wednesday and 10 p.m. yesterday in San Rafael, police reported.

The vehicle was parked in front of the residence of its owner, Fred Nicholas Daniele Jr. of 101 Nova Albion Way, apartment 14, police said.

County Planners Due Kappas Request To Install Berths

George Kappas, who just won the right to retain 35 houseboat berths at gate 6½ in Richardson Bay, will apply for permission to install docks and berths for 72 houseboats at Gate 6.

Kappas's application is scheduled to come before the county planning commission at 11 a.m. Monday in the Civic Center.

Gate 6 is Kappas's main houseboat area.

Hugh G. Lawrence, attorney for Kappas, said the 72 new berths will accommodate all houseboats now on Kappas's property and several that are scattered in the bay.

County planner Jan Medbo sad Kappas's plan calls for open water closet to Highway 101. Kappas will install parking spaces for 108 cars on existing fill.

Medbo said the plan conforms to the Richardson Bay specific plan and the county's houseboat and marina ordinances. He will recommend approval on several conditions, including the requirement for a landscaped pedestrian and bicycle path along the entire waterfront, and paved roadways along the railroad to connect to Gate 6½.

The commission will also consider rezoning of four acres just north of the Koch luggage plant in Corte Madera. The area is located southeast of Highway 101 and Paradise Drive and contains an empty warehouse, a single family home, and several other structures.

The Corte Madera Town Council asked for the rezoning, from light industrial and retail business district to a planned industrial district. Under the planned industrial district, any developments would require a use permit.

Other items on the commission agenda include:

VARIANCE — William M. Powell of Orinda will ask for a variance to permit his property at 15 Calle Del Ribera, Stinson Beach, to be split into two undersized lots of 4,800 square feet each. This was denied by the county zoning administrator on Aug. 3.

LAND DIVISION — Frank Joyner will appeal conditions imposed on his request to make three lots out of his property at the southeast corner of Mill Road and Wilson Avenue, Novato. Joyner will contest the planning director's requirements for replacement of culverts, improvement of a 40-foot right-of-way and relocation of existing leaching lines.

Shoreline Board Will Reapply For Special Program

The Shoreline Unified School District oBard last night voted to apply for continued participation in the county's special educational program in language arts for disadvantaged youth.

The cooperative program, known as the Title I Project, includes, but is not limited to, remedial reading courses.

The Shoreline Unified School District Board also:

ENROLLMENT — Heard a report from Supt. Charles E. McCully that 890 students were expected to enroll Sept. 1. Last year's enrollment was 852.

IN-SERVICE TRAINING — Voted to continue the in-service training program for teachers and teachers' aides begun during the summer session. The program provides supervised classroom teaching experience in specialized subject areas such as remedial reading. Instructors brought in from area colleges and universities provide supervision.

HERE'S A COMPROMISE!

Looking for a home in a top area, with 3 or 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, a fun family room, utility room, level front and rear patios AND a Bay view? Finding that for this type and quality of home the prices are astronomical? Here's the reason this home can be bought so reasonable — highway noise. Most of the problem has been solved, however, by a wrap-around, glass-enclosed deck. Consider it a minor annoyance in return for so much quality living. $41,900.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

New Summer Hazards Are Not Dangerous As They Once Were

How times change. Fifty years ago, physicians had many misgivings about the good old summertime. Fireworks killed 500 and blinded or injured another 4,000 children and adults annually. Others were gored by animals or bitten or stung by insects.

Trouble with poison ivy, green apples, and mushrooms was common. Swimming was risky, summer diarrhea was disastrous, and typhoid fever was murderous. Streams and lakes were not entirely polluted, but sanitation was not keeping up with industrial progress. Poor refrigeration, inadequate plumbing and contaminated drinking water were the rule.

NEW HAZARDS have replaced the old ones. Traffic accidents maim and kill more people than did firecrackers. Otherwise, the modern traveler faces a minimum of dangers. Stomach upsets are rare if he drinks safe water and pasteurized milk, and eats food prepared under sanitary conditions. His greatest concern as a rule, is to avoid overeating.

Our country has many excellent resorts and camping sites. Many advantages accrue to the city child who goes away for the summer. He escapes not only the dangers of the heat but the usual temptation associated with time on his hands and nothing to do.

SUMMER CAMPS are a boon to youngsters. A majority of these facilities maintain tsandards for health and happiness. The youngster has fun and profits from the experience. Camps are availble also for children with special handicaps, such as diabetes or heart disease.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.

NOSEBLEED FROM BLOWING

Miss E.T. writes: I'm 29 and never had a nosebleed until two months ago. Since then I've had two from just blowing into a tissue. Can you tell me the cause of this bleeding?

REPLY

A broken blood vessel is the most common cause. If a third nosebleed occurs, have the area examined to determine what is happening at the bleeding point. A nasal infection, especially one caused by a virus, may be followed by several spontaneous hemorrhages. Our leaflet on nosebleed can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

WALKING PNEUMONIA

REPLY

The lung condition is not severe enough to produce toxic symptoms, such as high fever and lassitude, as occurs in more severe pneumonia. Cough may be present in walking pneumonia and the victim often loses weight, tires easily, and has chest pain.

CANCER RADIATION

R.P.T. writes: Years ago, when I was a practicing nurse, radium was used freely in cancer. But now you hear only about X-ray. Is radium out of date?

REPLY

No, but it is getting strong competition from high voltage X-ray, radioactive isotopes, and the cobalt bomb. Radium still plays an important role in the treatment of many conditions.

ETHER STILL USED

M.V. writes: Is ether still used as an anesthetic?

REPLY

Yes, but not so often as it was 20 years ago. Ether is most valuable when deep anesthesia with full relaxation is needed.

Today's Health Hint—When driving, adjust the rear view mirror often and use it constantly.

Transfer Talks Slated Monday

The Mill Valley School District board will hold a special meeting Monday at 8 p.m. at Park School to adopt a permanent policy on interdistrict transfers and consider several new applications for transfers.

Supt. James A. Collins said the board probably will adopt guidelines to replace an interim policy which requires that a district which wishes to send a child to Mill Valley must pay the actual cost of educating the child. The permanent policy will be similar to the interim one, he said.

On the basis of the new policy, the board is expected to deny new requests for transfers but permit renewals of existing transfers.

Russians Begin New Scheme To Reverse Flow Of Rivers

By HAROLD KING
Toronto News Service

PARIS —The Russians have at long last, according to reliable Swiss sources, started work on a gigantic scheme which threatens to radically alter the climate from the equator to the North Pole.

The plan is aimed at turning back three huge West Siberian rivers from their natural courses to the Arctic Ocean.

The three rivers are the Pechora, the Ob and the 2,000-mile-long Jenessei, which has its source in the mountains of Outer Mongolia.

If the plan is realized, part of the waters from the rivers will be drained back southwards in order to turn semi-desert lands of Western Siberia into arable land.

Another purpose of the scheme is to raise the decreasing water levels of the Caspian and Aral seas, a phenomenon worrying the Soviet authorities.

The water level of the Caspian Sea has sunk by nearly 20 feet in the last six years. The Aral Sea is threatened with drying up completely in the next 10 or 20 years.

By draining back the waters of the three Siberian rivers, the Soviet authorities hope to gain some 80 to 90 million acres of fruitful land. Soviet geologists believe there are rich oil and natural gas deposits under the swamplands of Western Siberia.

Once these lands have been drained, the resources could be tapped and another 150 million acres of corn and grazing land could be won back from nature.

European experts fear the Soviet river scheme, if it ever came to full fruition, would affect climatic conditions from the heart of Africa up through the Mediterranean and western and central Europe — not to mention incalulable effects on the North African continent.

They think the climate would shift some 250 miles northward. You would have Sahara heat in south Italy, south Greece and parts of Spain. Summers would be warmer in Great Britain, and it might again be possible, as in the Middle Ages, to grow wine in England. Switzerland would have a warmer and dryer climate, good for farming, but possibly damaging for winter sport and hydraulic power projects.

Plans for bringing water to desert or swamp country on a gigantic scale exist elsewhere in the world. One idea that's been floating around has been to turn Lake Chad, in the very heart of Africa, into a big dam covering 300,000 square miles.

But the Russians are the people who have started to act. They reportedly expect the European section of this giant undertaking to be finished in about seven years, but admit the Asiatic sectors will take longer.

The Russians claim to have calculated all effects of their river scheme on the climate, and discount any major changes. But small margins of error, say other experts, could have big consequences. Thus North Africa (Libya, Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco) could become more fruitful, but Sicily, South Anatolia in Turkey, Crete, Cyprus and parts of Spain, could suffer.

American hydrologist Raymond Nace warned against "monkeying about" with river courses during a lecture here in Paris last December. He was referring specifically to Soviet and North American plans for turning southwards toward populated areas rivers flowing north through more or less unhabited areas.

If such plans were applied, said Nace, they could have the effect of slowing down the rotation of the earth by displacing and enormous mass from the Pole towards the equator.

"Look at a dancer when she is turning on her toes like a top," said Nace. "When she wants to slow down, she spreads out her arms." The displacement of huge masses of water could have the same effect on the earth's oscillation, he said. "It is the same principle as for the wheel of an automobile. If you displace weight along the rim, the wheel becomes unbalanced."

Another consequence, said Nace, would be a change is the thermic balance of the earth. At present, he pointed out, the rivers flowing from south to north warm the northern regions. If they flowed back from north to south, they would cool off the southern regions.

The whole alchemy of evaporation could also be changed. Any important modification of the humidity of the soil could affect the oscillation of the earth.

Chute Fails On First Jump Try

ANTIOCH (UPI)—A parachute failed to open Thursday as Terry M. Botts attempted his first jump from an airplane and the Stockton fireman was killed.

Investigators said his main chute failed and that Botts, 27, made no attempt to pull the ripcord on his reserve chute over Antioch Airport.

He was a member of the Stockton Parachute Club.

Suspect Nabbed In Morals Case

Hogan was booked into the city jail and held in lieu of $1,250 bail. He was scheduled for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

The child's mother told police that Hogan had taken the girl for a ride in his truck where he molested her and then offered her candy.

FTC Nominee Vows To Check TV Ads

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A nominee awaiting Senate confirmation as director of the Federal Trade Commission says that if confirmed, he will investigate charges television commercials exaggerate their claims.

Miles W. Kirkpatrick, nominated to the post by President Nixon, was asked at a Senate Commerce Committee hearing Thursday whether he intended to control the "outlandish assertions." He replied, "I certainly intend to."

Witness Not 100 Per Cent On Shooting

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A prosecution witness in the trial of six Latin-American youths accused of fatally shooting a policeman admitted Thursday she had not been 100 per cent sure she correctly identified one of the defendants.

However, the witness, Della McKinney, 29, stuck by her story that she saw Nelson Rodriguez flee seconds after Officer Joseph Brodnik was gunned down May 1, 1969.

She admitted that in the past she had not been completely sure but said that after seeing Rodriguez in court she had no doubts.

"I am positive," Mrs. McKinney replied.

The defense also attacked her claim that she heard Brodnik's partner, patrolman Paul McGoran yell: "Look out . . . he's going to shoot again."

Mrs. McKinney conceded McGoran's mouth was covered with blood and that she could not see his lips move.

She said it was "possible" one of the defendants may have shouted the warning.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Weighing The Evidence

Our legal system has nearly always presumed innocence. To convict a person accused of a crime the jury must reach a unanimous verdict based on proof "beyond a reasonable doubt and to a moral certainty."

"Moral" certainty means a "near" certainty.

Why? Because life and liberty rank so high in our value scale.

In a civil suit over property, in contrast, any nine of twelve jurors can agree on a verdict. Civil actions call only for a "preponderance of the evidence" to win one party a victory. "Preponderance" is just enough evidence to satisfy the jury that one side has offered more convincing evidence than the other.

In contrast, if there is a reasonable doubt, the criminal law gives the accused the benefit of the doubt and the right to an acquittal. In such a case the law presumes innocence which would outweigh the evidence of guilt based on mere preponderance.

For years actions in the juvenile court have been considered "civil," not criminal. A youngster accused of acts which for an adult would be a crime escapes the taint of a criminal record. Hence the law required only a "preponderance" of the evidence for the youngster to become a ward of the court.

But recently the U.S. Supreme Court declared this improper: A twelve-year-old boy had been before a juvenile court charged with stealing $112 from a purse. Though disputed, a "preponderance of evidence" of his guilt was found by the judge, who sent the boy to a youth camp until he was eighteen.

The boy's lawyer appealed his case to the Supreme Court, which ruled that no judge could sentence a boy on mere preponderance of the evidence. Proof would have to be "beyond a reasonable doubt" to a near certainty.

Once declared a ward, the juvenile court could sentence a youngster for long periods of time, put him on probation, and give him the stigma of a "juvenile offender." Therefore, the Supreme Court held, he has a right to an attorney and to all the other rights accorded an accused adult. (Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.)

Injuries Minor In 2-Car Crash

Two persons suffered minor injuries in a two-car accident on Francisco Boulevard at 6:40 p.m. yesterday, San Rafael police reported.

Police said Elden H. Hill, 55, of 71 Lincoln Avenue, San Anselmo, complained of a sore neck after the car he was driving was struck from behind by a vehicle driven by John M. Mellquist, 33, of 31 Seadrift Landing, Tiburon, when Hill was stopped to make a left turn.

Peace Victorina Trenchard, 51, also of 71 Lincoln Avenue, San Anselmo, who was a passenger in Hill's vehicle, also complained of a sore neck, police said, but both refused medical treatment.

Fire Damages Cables On Nuclear Cruiser

VALLEJO (UPI)—A fire believed started by a welding torch damaged cables and a bulkhead compartment Thursday aboard the nuclear cruiser USS Long Beach, which is at Mare Island Naval Shipyard for a $40 million remodeling.

Sausalito Woman Is Treated For Injuries

A Sausalito woman was treated yesterday for cuts and scrapes at Marin General Hospital after her car was involved in an accident on Highway 101 south of the Shoreline Highway exit.

The California Highway Patrol said Maureen A. O'Brien, 26, of 190 Buchanan Drive, was injured when her car collided with one driven by Judith Fletcher, 32, of 5 Rosebank Lane, Kentfield. Details of the 6 p.m. accident were unavailable.

Hiss Joins In Challenge To Annuity Law

NEW YORK (UPI)—Alger Hiss has joined a lawsuit challenging a 1954 act—soomonly known as the Hiss act—which prevents federal employes convicted of certain offenses from receiving annuities.

"I've waited 16 years to challenging a 1954 act—comtold newsmen Thursday. "There's been a big change in sentiment since the time of my conviction. I'm optimistic that the law will be overturned."

Hiss, 65, joined with the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) to become a coplaintiff with former postal clerk Richard Strasburger in the suit filed in a federal court in Washington, D.C., on Wednesday.

Hiss, a former State Department official convicted of perjury in 1950, is seeking a $61 a month annuity based on his 14 years and five months as a federal employe before his conviction.

Strasburger, 72, was dismissed from the postal service in 1950 for allegedly failing to specify in a loyalty check he had been a member of the Communist party. He had been with the postal service for 19 years when convicted.

The ACLU suit charges the Hiss Act was aimed at the former State Department official and is an ex post facto law because it makes punishment retroactive.

Hiss said he would fight to overturn the law because it was one of the many acts still on the books that had "institutionalized" McCarthyism.

President Nixon was a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee in 1950 that turned up evidence leading to Hiss's conviction. Hiss, who spent 44 months in prison has continuously maintained innocence.

Ex-Hamilton Employee Indicted By Grand Jury On Bribe Charge

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A former Hamilton Air Force Base employee who allegedly took a bribe while Federal Bureau of Investigation agents looked on was indicted by a federal grand jury here yesterday.

He is to appear in U.S. District Court here Sept. 8 for arraignment on charges of soliciting and receiving a bribe June 23 at Pacheco Shopping Center near the base.

Jerrold Ladar, chief of the U.S. attorney's criminal division, said Ellis allegedly approached George E. Merrill, head of R and D Enterprises of Santa Rosa, offering to certify that undone work had been completed for $175.

Merrill informed the FBI, according to Ladar, and Ellis was arrested getting into his car with the money.

Ellis had been a contracting officer at the base for three years before being fired from his $10,000-a-year post July 31. His job was to certify work done by contractors at the base.

That Merrill's gas pipe installation for $3,600 to $5,000 had not been done would not have been noticed until the present pipe rotted, Ladar said.

Ellis is free on $10,000 bail.

This Is 'Next Year' For 49er Boosters

With the 49ers and Raiders scheduled for a cube tube double header on the morrow it seems like a good time to report on pro football booster club activity locally.

The 49er Goal Rushers, a perennially optimistic group of some 75 die-hards, are accepting membership applications for the 1970 season. Just mail a fin to the club at Box 4078, San Rafael. Men only. Their motto is "Wait 'til next year" and, golly, this is next year already.

President Gilford J. Medeiros, the Rusher Gusher, has announced the club will switch locations this season, meeting for lunch every Monday starting Sept. 21 at the Holiday Inn in Terra Linda, moving up the highway a couple of miles from Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael.

Medeiros says the club, one of seven Niner boosters clubs in Northern California, will have at least one 49er player present each week. Last year they had two but the 49er front office is cutting down on expenses. They pay each player $50 to appear at a boosters function. Multiply that by the seven Northern California boostesr clubs at 14 weeks through the season and you get just an inkling at some of the expenses involved in running a Nationl Football League franchise.

The Marin Rushers also will continue their fine project of honoring the Marin County Athletic League's outstanding offensive and defensive player each week, Medeiros said.

Meantime, I'd like to see the Raider Boosters of Marin copy the 49er Goal Rushers' format of weekly luncheons. How 'bout Tuesdays so we won't miss either function?

CATCHER JACK HORNER (I mean Jess Munyon) of the Sohner Tree Service softball team caught holy heck from his doc yesterday for playing in the state tourney at Napa last weekend with his brutally disfigured thumb. Yesterday I reported that the digit was separated in three places and when Jess reported to his medic he was told he had two broken bones in his thumb and one in his wrist. He'll have it in a cast for three months and will be limited to pinch running duties in tonight's game at Napa against defending state champion Stornetta's Dairy. The game will be broadcast by KVON (1420 on the dial) starting at 9 o'clock.

THE DAY AFTER he shattered his own world record with a jump two weekends ago at Fall River Mills, Shasta County, of 165 feet, world water ski champion Mike Suyderhoud of San Anselmo addressed the national conference of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes at Ashland, Ore. After explaining that a water ski jumper attains speeds up to 60 miles per hour when approaching the jump, Master Michael tongue-in-cheekily dead panned: "The fewer things that go wrong during the year, the better off you are." You don't want to make a splash.

Globe girdler Suyerhoud's itinerary for the next month is the national championships at Canton, Ohio this weekend to be followed by meets in London on Aug. 31 and Mexico Sept. 18. Then it'll be back to classes at Sonoma State where he is a chemistry major.

Speed Vs. Heft In Classic

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Fifth annual Marin County North-South high school all-star football game a week from tonight should be a classic confrontation between size and speed. But when 50 seniors from nine high schools in the county take the field at San Rafael High, something besides statistics will probably decide the issue.

On paper, each team has a definite advantage in this funds-for-charity game sponsored by the Ross Valley Kiwanis Club. Nine players on the North squad were first team all-leaguers in the Marin County Athletic League last year. The South claims only five such stars.

Yet the South has seven men over 200 pounds, including a possible front four averaging 225.

NORTH FAVORED

Those statistical differences may cancel each other out. Regardless of their bearing on the game, however, the North must be favored to chalk up its fourth win in five games. The reason: The presence in the offensive lineup of Tom Jackson, Bob Daniele and Dan Trondson, who collaborated to help bring Terra Linda three straight MCAL championships.

The value of having such an explosive and well tuned passing attack — Jackson at quarterback, Trondson at end and Daniele at flanker — is incalculable.

By contrast, the South will go with the scrambling game of San Rafael quarterback Lowell Widmer, and, on paper at least, the team doesn't have the speed necessary to make his kind of game work.

If Widmer's sweeps and pitchouts, which rely for their success on his timing, don't work, the South will probably settle into a ground attack built around 210-pound Drake fullback Bob Sutherland. After leading the MCAL in rushing in 1968, he was sidelined last year with injuries but seems to have recovered completely.

HOLE OPENERS

Opening holes for Sutherland will be an all-league contingent of Redwood Giants, including tackle Tom Wickert (227), center Phil Simon (190) and end Ross Gondak (230). San Rafael's Dan Coleman (230), the other big man on the offensive line, will probably start at a guard spot.

Wickert, Gondak and Cole-

Golfing Lawyer Has Good Case

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI) — In their fourth try, professional golf's tourists are finally learning how to tame the big Pleasant Valley Country Club course.

The pros have never really knocked the sprawling New England layout in three earlier visits, and nobody has ever been fined for comparing it with much-maligned Chuska, Minn, site of the recent U.S. Open.

But the touring pros haven't exactly taken par apart at Pleasant Valley, either. At least, not until this trip.

They were troubled by rain and wind in the opening round Thursday but Dan Sikes showed the way with a six-under 66 and a total of 27 entries broke par.

FAST START

Another 26 matched par 72 in the opening round of the $160,000 Avco Classic, meaning that more than one third of the field got away to a fast start.

Sikes, a veteran of 10 seasons on the tour, gained his two-stroke lead with what he said was the best putting round of his career. Since Pleasant Valley's greens average over 10,000 square feet in size, Sikes appeared to have the winning formula.

Sports
Independent-Journal, 37
Friday, August 21, 1970

But Sikes, a golfing lawyer from Florida who decided he could make more money with his golf practice than his legal practice, wasn't satisfied with his first round effort. He would have liked another stroke because he said players his age, 39, have a tendency to run out of gas in the late rounds.

There were plenty of players ready to drain Sikes' gas tank, too. No less than 10 of them were bunched two and three strokes behind him.

The veteran Billy Casper was among a foursome tied at 68 and Billy had a personal point to prove in addition to going for the $32,000 first prize.

Casper has only missed the cut in a tournament once during five years on tour. That was a year ago when he had an 81-70 to get prematurely bounced out of the AVCO.

Casper improved his first round score of a year ago by exactly 13 strokes, from 81 to 68, on Thursday and joked that he'd like the same margin of improvement in today's second round.

DEFENDING CHAMP

If Sikes didn't have enough to worry about from Casper, Joe Carr, Bobby Mitchell and John Schlee, all of whom had 68s, defending champion Tom Shaw headed a rugged crew at 69.

Shaw hasn't been having a particularly good year on the tour, but was delighted with his three-under title defense start and was accompanied by five others entirely willing to overhaul sikes.

FASTEST RUN IN THE WEST

Construction has just been completed on the $25.5 million Ontario Motor Speedway, whose first main attraction will be the California 500 on Sept. 6. The track, in the heart of Southern California's vineyards, is equipped with a 2½-mile Indianapolis-type oval, a 3.19-mile road course through the infield and a drag strip. Practice begins Saturday for the first race, which will carry a guaranteed prize on $500,000 and $51,000 in lap money. Mark Donohue of Media, Pa., runner-up at Indianapolis this year, is expected to be the first driver on the oval.

49er Rookie Ace Taylor To Get A Good Lookover

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—Highly regarded rookie Bruce Taylor, a whiz on punt and kickoff returns, may see heavy activity Saturday night at one of the cornerback positions for the San Francisco 49ers.

Taylor, of Boston University, reeled off 84 yards in punt returns last weekend when the Niners lost their pre-season opener to Cleveland.

Coach Dick Nolan said Thursday Taylor will see increased playing time behind starter Johnny Woitt at the right corner Saturday night in Miami against the Dolphins.

Nolan said the quarterbacking alignment will remain the same for the second exhibition game. John Brodie will direct the offense through the first half and Steve Spurrier will take over in the second.

Bill Tucker and Jimmy Thomas will start in the backfield for ailing regulars Ken Willard and Doug Cunningham. Guards Elmer Collett and Kevin Hardy and defensive end Stan Hindmans also are out with injuries.

Randy Beisler may start at tackle if the shoulder injury of Cas Banaszek is not healed.

"Banaszek says he's ready," Nolan said. "But he's the kind of fellow who would insist he's ready if his arm was falling off."

Athletics Seek Revenge

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Oakland A's would savor a bit of revenge at this stage of the American League West pennant chase.

Tonight they face Sudden Sam McDowell, the man who stopped Oakland's five-game victory skein last week. McDowell beat the A's 4-3 and sent them into a brief tailspin which has left them 5 1-2 games behind first place Minnesota.

McDowell, 17-8 and the league's strikeout king, matches his tough fastball against Jim Hunter of Oakland. Hunter, 15-10, is long overdue for his 16th victory. He has been struggling to find his pitching rhythm ever since the All-Star break.

ROAD TRIP

Tonight's contest is the opener of a nine-game road trip which also encompasses Baltimore and Detroit.

An important statistic to watch in any pennant race is the loss column in league standings. The A's, idle Thursday night, lucked out when Minnesota lost its game to New York. But Oakland is still seven games behind the Twins on the loss side.

Raiders Hurting For Ram Battle; 3 Vets Sidelined

SANTA ROSA (UPI)—The Oakland Raiders may have to face the Fearsome Foursome of the Los Angeles Rams without benefit of three starting offensive linemen.

All-pro guard Gene Upshaw, guard Jim Harvey and tackle Bob Svihus all were hobbling Thursday when coach John Madden continued drilling the Raiders for their game in the Los Angeles Coliseum Saturday night.

All three players aggravated injuries in Oakland's last pre-season contest against Philadelphia. Because that game was played on a Monday night, none of the veterans has had time to recuperate sufficiently for the Saturday night affair.

Madden was worying almonst as much about the offensive line of the Rams. Unfortunately for Oakland, every lineman in the Los Angeles unit is healthy.

"Their offensive line is certainly one of the best in pro football," Madden said. "This The Raiders traditionaly use season for our defensive linetheir exhibitions as opportunities to test rookies and backup players. The Rams, 2-0 inthis pre-season, always play to win.

"Yes, I think the Rams go all out to win every exhibition," Madden said. "George Allen is a verteran coach. By that I mean he likes a team to have as many veteran players as possible. He likes them to play as much as they can, even in the pre-season."

Soccer Star Bobby Moore Cleared In Jewelry Case

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

BOGOTA — English soccer star Bobby Moore yesterday was given "unconditional liberty" pending further investigation into a jewelry theft with which he was linked.

Three superior court judges ruled that Moore was no longer under obligation to make himself available to the Colombian Ambassador in London. But Criminal Investigation Judge Pedro S. Dorado said that the investigation into last May's alleged theft of an emerald and gold bracelet is continuing.

Tennis

FORT WORTH, Tex. — England's Roger Taylor blew a chance to repeat his stunning Wimbledon upset when he allowed Australian Rod Laver to come from three sets back and beat him, 6-4, 7-5 yesterday in the first round of the $22,500 Colonial National Invitation Tennis Tournament.

In the day's other singles match, John Newcombe of Australia downed South Africa's Ray Moore, 6-4, 6-3.

HAVERFORD, Pa. — Sixth-seeded Ray Ruffles of Australia overpowered top-seed Cliff Drysdale of South Africa yesterday, 6-2, 5-7, 6-4 to gain the semi-final round of the 71st Pennsylvania Lawn Tennis Championships. The second-seeded contender, Bob Carmichael, also was eliminated, yielding to fellow Australian Dick Creely, 7-5, 7-6.

NEW YORK — John Newcombe of Australia holds a one-point lead over fellow countryman Rod Laver in the latest standings for the Martini and Rossi Tennis Player of the Year Award. Newcombe has 95 points in the voting by a panel of international tennis writers.

Auto Racing

SPORTS SHORTS

Foyt, of Houston, finished in two hours, two minutes, 21.66 seconds for an average speed of 98.071 miles per hour. Both he and Bowsher, Springfield, Ohio, came in one lap ahead of pole-sitter Roger McCluskey, Tucson, Ariz.

INDIANAPOLIS — Frank Delroy, once a mechanic at the Indianapolis Speedway, has been named technical adviser of the United States Auto Club, it was announced yesterday.

Golf

DARIEN, Conn. — All four survivors going into today's semi-finals of the 70th USGA Women's golf championship are under 22 years old and Curtis Cup members. In today's action, Cynthia Hill of St. Petersburg, Fla., was to meet Jane Bastanchury of Whittier, Calif., while Shelly Hamlin of Fresno, Calif., played Martha Wilkinson of Whittier.

CASPER, Wyo. — Tom Jefferson of Minot, N.D., Dave Legare of Monterel, Calif., and Al Benefiel of Denver each shot six-under-par 64s yesterday to grab the first round lead in the sixth annual $23,000 KK-2 Buick Pro-Am Open golf tournament. Eighty pros and 150 amateurs are competing in the meet, the nation's third largest pro-am tournament.

Suyderhoud Is Solid Favorite

World champion water skier Mike Suyderhoud of San Anselmo was the hands down favorite to win the men's division of the 28th national championship meet today at Canton, Ohio.

In yesterday's competitoin, 16-year-old Bob Boivie of Novato placed third in the boys' jumping event with a mark of 115 feet. Wayne Brimbitch, 15, Pompano Beach, Fla., won with a record jump of 127 feet.

Suyderhoud, who broke his own universal record in the jump last week with a 165-foot effort at Fall River Mills, Calif., will be virtually unopposed in that event. His strongest overall competition will come from Ricky McCormick, independence, Mo., and Alan Kempton, Tampa, Fla.

Suyderhoud should be in top form coming off last week's meet, where in addition to his jump record, he set a national slalom run mark by making all six buoys at 35 feet off the line, 36 miles per hour.

Giant Kids Take On Cub Vets

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Two teams of opposite intention meet tonight at Candlestick Park in the introduction to a three-game series.

The Chicago Cubs are going with their veterans in a determined scramble to eradicate a four-game deficit in the National League East pennant fight. The San Francisco Giants, resigned to the fate of an also-ran in the West, stick with youngsters in a major rebuilding effort.

Bill Hands (14-10) or Ken Holtzman (13-9) will pitch for the Cubs tonight against tall righthander Frank Reberger (4-5) of San Francisco.

The game opens a 10-game stand at home for the Giants, who must play St. Louis and Pittsburgh after the Cubs leave town.

Giants manager Charlie Fox is determined to keep his club over the .500 mark for the remainder of the season. Juan Marichal's win Wednesday night against Pittsburgh evened San Francisco's record at 61-61.

Fox is toying with the idea of playing Don Mason at second base instead of Ron Hunt with Tito Fuentes at shortstop in place of Hal Lanier. If Fox decides to go ahead with the experiment, he says the purpose would be "to see if we can get the double plays we aren't making."

Marin Girls Fail In National Meet

I-J Special Report

LOS ANGELES — Two Marin County swimmers, Denise Ham of the Marin Aquatic Club and Robin Bachrach of the Dolphins of Marin, competed but failed to place yesterday in the opening day of the National AAU Swimming Championships at the Los Angeles Swim Stadium.

Jo and Kathy Hislop and Ann Engel, all of the MAC, will compete in events on Sunday to complete Marin's efforts in the meet.

Miss Ham and Miss Bachrach both swam the women's 100-meter butterfly, and although they finished well back Miss Ham improved her career best time in the event by two tenths of a second with a 1:09.35 clocking. Miss Bachrach's time was 1:09.72.

MAC coach Don Schwartz said of Miss Ham, "Her first 50 meters were a little too slow, but she came back on the last half of the race very fast to do her best time."

In the feature race yesterday, 17-year-old John Kinsella of Oak Brook, Ill., won over what was called the best men's 400-meter freestyle field in history and in so doing claimed one of four world records set on the day.

"I knew if I won it would be a world record," the 6-foot-3½, 200-pounder said. "The field was that good."

Kinsella's time was 4:02.81 and he turned back Mike Burton, the Olympic gold medalist in the event, and West Germany's Hans Fassnacht, holder of the old world mark of 4:04.0, in the process. Burton was second in 4:03.31 while Fassnacht was a badly beaten seventh.

"That was the first time I ever beat Mike," said a smiling Kinsella. "I'm gearing myself for under four minutes. I think someone will do it by next year and I hope to be the one."

The other world records were set by incomparable Debbie Meyer in the women's 400-meter freestyle in 4:24.34, Mike Stamm in the men's 200 backstroke in 2:06.33 and Alice Jones in the women's 100 butterfly in 1:04.11.

Miss Meyer, the 18-year-old Sacramento, Calif., schoolgirl who won three gold medals at Mexico City, broke her own world mark of 4:24.5.

It was Miss Meyer's eighth national outdoor championship, and the first for Stamm and Miss Jones.

The other first-night winners were triple world record holder Mark Spitz in the men's 100-meter butterfly in 56.12 seconds, Brian Job in the men's 100 breaststroke in 1:06.49, Susie Atwood in the women's 200 backstroke in 2:22.05 and Linda Kurtz in the women's 100 breaststroke in 1:16.66.

The four-day meet continues today withe finals in six events.

FISH AND GAME

Going On A Diet? Don't Eat Fish!

By AL GIDDINGS

Sometimes I wonder just what to say about the fishing in the Bay Area with all of the problems beginning to come to the surface regarding pollutions by sewage, pollutions by insecticides, pollutions by detergents, and now pollutions by mercury compounds. It's a problem to me, too! I sometimes wonder if we should be eating these fish from the bay and the delta area.

I canvassed some of the boys at the Department of Fish and Game office last week and most were undecided.

I finally called Dr. Kahn of the State Health Dept., putting the question directly to him, saying, "Would you yourself eat fish from the delta and the bay today?"

He didn't seem to be perturbed by the question, and his answer "Yes" at least seemed reassuring. You can take it from there! Tests are being made and supposedly some answers will be out in six weeks as to just what gives! Anyway I feel better.

I quit smoking again last January, winning 500 more ghost shrimps off the pigeon, Marty Medin, but I gained 20 pounds. Everyone accuses me of overeating, but now I know it's just the mercury I've been eating that's in the fish I've been catching all year. This has given me this added weight! Everyone knows that mercury is one of the heaviest of the elements, so there's the answer for us fat fishermen.

THE BASS FISHING has been almost nil along the flats and the shallow shoreline area. Here again, I know the answer is the sewage plants just killing off the environment in the areas of their discharges with the 50 per cent poisonous effluent given off. Bolinas Bay is now off limits for all water contact sports due to the sewage dangers to health!

Fishing in the channel areas of the San Francisco and San Pablo bays is paying off at the Brothers Islands and down to and outside the Golden Gate. The fish and the feed are staying in the cleaner channel and ocean waters. I don't blame them!

Frank Sue called me the other evening saying he was going for stripers, outside the gate, but he didn't plan to keep any. I told him to bring me three 12 pounders, and the poor guy had to apologize when the smallest of his three fish weighed 18 pounds. You don't believe it, I know! I gave one to Carol Lato of Woodacre, and one to Mrs. Celli of Fairfax! Give them a ring and ask them!

SALMON FISHING is fair out of Sausalito, though small fish still make up most of the bag. The Mellos — Molly and Joe — have continually scored at Tomales taking about 50 salmon there since July 7. Last Wednesday, their catch was one 25, two 20s and two small fish. I've been watching for boats off California City which might be the signal for the run of salmon due to start there, but no activity yet.

WANT TO hear a pip? My friend, Frank Sue, wanted to try for a buck last week, so after the fish delivery, I took him out to the ranch explaining, I thought, all the pertinent details. We separated, and when Frank got back, he told me about seeing a forked horn. I questioned him as to why he didn't shoot. His answer that I forgot to tell him "how big the forks were supposed to be" left me speechless!

AND BOB BERTRAND, the sergeant of the Pt. Reyes sheriff's substation, according to LeRoy Martinelli, was involved in a pleasant accident the other day. A buck, and a good one too, four on one side and three on the other, ran into one of Bob's bullets. Bob's first buck, too!

THE WATERFOWL regulations for this year will be adopted today when the Fish and Game Commission meets. California had an 86-day season last year with a six-bird limit. The season is expected to be longer this year, and the bag limits are expected to be larger. A lot of thanks should be given to Ducks Unlimited for its every day, every year efforts spent in money and time which is now paying off to all of us. Let's join Ducks Unlimited right now.

THE F. & G. DEPT. and the State Health Dept. have alerted sportsmen to the annual plague threat in four California counties. A quarantine on the trapping of small animals, especially squirrels and chipmonks, is in effect in Plumas, Lassen, Shasta and Siskiyou counties. Two confirmed and three suspected cases of bubonic plague in humans have been reported with the possibility of exposure increasing with the spread of animal die offs. No danger reported from either rabbits or deer.

THE DELTA survey of striped bass populations for the Bay Area has come up with a total adult striper population of 1.2 million fish for this year.

THE DEER kill for the coastal counties as of the 13th day of the season is 5,225 bucks as compared to 5,582 last year, according to the tag returns. Marin County had 214 kills reported last year, as compared with 149 for this year. Get your tags in! I know —they're all in camp waiting to be validated.

North Marin All-Stars Are Favored

man will probably fortify the front line defensively along with Tamalpais end Jan Brink. Brink, like Sutherland, was out of action last year, but he gained a reputation in his junior campaign as one of the meanest linemen in the league.

The North line, although smaller, will be rich with all-leaguers. San Marin's Dennis Miller at center and Kerry Atkinson at guard, and Terra Linda's Chris Fenton should be able to supply Jackson with time to find Daniele and Trondson through the airways.

COX A THREAT

Although the North doesn't figure to be doing too much running, it will be able to keep the South honest by giving the ball to all-league fullback Tom Cox of San Marin.

One aspect of great importance in any all-star game concerns position distribution. On defense neither team has the edge in that category, but offensively the South may be in trouble. Besides being short on tackles and flankers, the Southerners are overly rich in running backs and ends. It will be interesting to see what Widmer, a spotty passer, is going to do with five receivers.

The North suffers from underpopulation at only one position. Suffice it to say that if something happens to Jackson, the team will be as a boat without a rudder.

KEY MAN

Perhaps the key to the South's chances is Widmer, but not as a quarterback. For two years he has been one of the best safeties in the MCAL, and he'll need all his talent in this game. Except for him, the South's defensive secondary might as well not be there.

Widmer will probably operate as a free safety and cover Daniele most of the time. If he can contain him, the South may be able to stop the North cold.

Nate's Only Hangup Is Money

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Pivotman Nate Thurmond, who announced retirement after a second operation in January, is strengthening his knee in the hope he can return to the San Francisco Warriors of the National Basketball Association.

"I've been injured twice, and it's depressing," Thurmond said. "But you can get injured walking across the street. I'd rather be permanently injured playing my sport than stepping off the curb."

The only hangup is money.

"I'm asking for $200,000 a year for five years," Thurmond said. "If they're willing to give Rick Barry $167,500, I think I'm worth $200,000. He's had two operations on his knee, too, only it's the left one instead of the right."

GIANTS' JOHN TADDEUCCI

Veteran Executive At 33

By RALPH CHATOIAN

The San Francisco Giants' press book says he's the promotions director, but when you ask him, he'll tell you his title is that of director of group sales.

"Titles with the Giants organization don't really mean that much," says John Taddeucci of San Rafael, only 33 but already a veteran in the Giants' front office. He joined the Giants' organization in 1960, the day before the team's first game in Candlestick Park. His first job was that of team statistician.

"Working with the Giants is not an impersonal relationship because it's working for a family company, a rarity today," said Taddeucci. "That's one of the pleasures of my job."

KIND HEARTED

Says Taddeucci about the Giants' president and owner Horace Stoneham: "He's one of the most kind-hearted fellows you can ever meet." Granted Stoneham is Taddeucci's boss, but when John praises Stoneham, it comes across with fondness for the man, not just words.

An observer close to the Giants has said that Taddeucci is regarded very highly in the organization and has been sitting in on most of the high level meetings, especially since vice president (Charles (Chub) Feeney left the Giants to take over as National League president.

JOHN TADDEUCCI
A pleasant job

Actually, John is one of the few westerners in the Giants front office, as perhaps 70 per cent of the staff are New Yorkers who came with the Giants from that city in 1958 when the team moved west. Taddeucci is a native San Franciscan who was schooled at St. Ignatius High and University of Santa Clara.

Being on the inside, he's frequently asked questions concerning Willie Mays and his baseball playing future. His answer: "I think Willie Mays will play as long as he thinks he is valuable to his teammates. Mays has a terrific eye for talent, his own and other players'."

In listing Giant players of the past 10 years who have left the biggest impression on him, Taddeucci names Mays, Harvey Kuenn, now retired from baseball, coach Jimmy Davenport, first baseman Willie McCovey and outfielder Kenny Henderson, saying, "that 24-year-old man will be playing outfield for the Giants for a long time.

"These players, to me, really have great competitiveness."

The dark-haired, always impeccably dressed Taddeucci says that his is far from being a hum-drum job. Instead of working with numbers or forms, he's working with people, either ball players or fans.

REAL FANS

"You see people who are really Giant fans," says Taddeucci, "and they practically live and die baseball, either at the ballpark or listening on the radio. Working for these people is a very rewarding experience."

High point for Taddeucci, of course, was in 1962 when the Giants won the National League pennant.

"I'll never forget that night after the Giants won the pennant by beating Los Angeles in L.A.," he said. "I looked out of a window at the press headquarters in a San Francisco hotel and saw Market Street going wild. It was such a great feeling to be part of that celebration."

AVERAGE PLAYER

Taddeucci wasn't any more of a baseball player than the average kid, although he did play the game when he lived across the street from Funston Park as a youngster. His 7-year-old son, Dominic, is an avid ball player in a San Rafael Pee Wee League.

"He had a fractured arm this season and still played baseball with his arm in a cast," John laughed. "He couldn't swing but he bunted in two runs."

In addition to Dominic, he and wife Margi have two other children, Maria, 5, and Christina, 3.

Mrs. Cann Wins At Meadow Club

Mrs. John Cann shot a low gross 81 during Guest Day women's golf match at Meadow Club near Fairfax yesterday.

Nancy Swadesh Admits She Was Primary Author Of I-J Pamphlet

Longtime Marin Democratic leader Nancy Swadesh, a vice president of the Americans for Democratic Action, has confirmed that she was the primary author of a pamphlet attacking the Independent-Journal and mailed to Marin Democrats last May.

Mrs. Swadesh — in a deposition in connection with the I-J's $5 million suit against her and two other Democratic leaders who signed the pamphlet — said that she gained most of the material she used from union officials.

Publication of the pamphlet was paid for by International Typographical Union 21, which has been on strike against the I-J since Jan. 7, she said.

The pamphlet called on Democrats to cancel subscriptions to the I-J, cease to advertise in the I-J, and boycott those stores that continued to advertise during the strike.

Mrs. Swadesh said that she agreed to work on a draft of a letter to be sent out to Democrats after a meeting called by Roger Kent, another defendant in the suit, at his home on March 22.

"Materials that appeared in the Independent-Journal, a letter that Mr. Olson had written outlining the strike as the union saw it and a good many conversations . . . with either Mr. Jenkins or Mr. Olson . . . " were used by her in preparing the draft, she said.

(Leon Olson is president of Local 21 and David Jenkins is an official of the International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union.)

After she wrote the letter draft, which included the assertion as did the final pamphlet, that "the paper wants to destroy the union," Mrs. Swadesh said she sent it to Kent and Robert Politzer, another defendant in the suit and chairman of the Marin Democratic Central Committee.

After they indicated approval, she said, she mailed it to union officials, who made additions and mailed the pamphlets.

Mrs. Swadesh said that as far as she knew, no one else contributed to the cost of the publication, which was sent to approximately 2,500 people who had "indicated an interest in Democratic activities over a period of years."

Asked if she would have signed the pamphlet as it finally appeared, Mrs. Swadesh refused to answer upon the advice of her attorney.

She did say, however, that several statements in the mailer had been added after she had written the original draft.

She had no information, he said, to support statements in the pamphlet such as: "Management's insistence on more than a $40 per week cut in pay for most workers."

Nor did she, she said, write the phrase accusing the I-J of "elimination of the apprenticeship training program (responsible for helping training minority youth.)"

(In the suit against the three Democrats, the I-J said that the I-J was already paying the proposed scale of wages and had agreed to further increases proposed by the union. The I-J has since proposed a further increase in wages for journeyman printers.

(Furthermore, the I-J contended that the paper "has always encouraged the training of minority workers, a record the union cannot boast.')

The information that "the paper wanted to destroy the union" came mostly from the union, Mrs. Swadesh said, but she also based the statement on "trends around the country" gleaned from reading.

Mrs. Swadesh, who said she discontinued her subscription to the I-J in 1963 but often buys copies at newsstands, said that her statement that the I-J has a "public be damned attitude" was based on a "general impression."

Furthermore, although she admitted she was aware that the San Francisco Chronicle and Examiner were distributed in Marin County, she considered the I-J a monopoly because "it is the only daily newspaper in the county . . . "

Mrs. Swadesh, who said she had started her career as a reporter, claimed that the Examiner and Chronicle likewise exert a public-be-damned attitude.

A deposition taken by Kent confirmed that the pamphlet had been drafted by Mrs. Swadesh following the meeting at his home. He said it was decided to mail the flyer after the I-J declined to discuss the strike with a committee to be appointed by the Marin Board of Supervisors.

Mrs. Swadesh, Kent and Politzer have all said that they have no intention of mailing any more pamphlets.

The suit by the I-J against the three for damages is still pending in Marin Superior Court.

Meany Is Censored By Letter Carriers

HONOLULU (UPI)—The nation's mailmen have passed a resolution censoring AFL-CIO President George Meany for urging Congress not to make their pay raises retroactive.

However, the National Association of Letter Carriers, at its biennial convention, also voted Thursday not to break off from the AFL-CIO.

Former Aide Awarded Appreciative Tribute

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The State Department announced Thursday Secretary of State William P. Rogers has awarded a "Tribute of Appecriation" to the late Dr. William M. Chapman, San Diego, Calif., for his long service to the department.

Chapman, who died June 25, was the first special assistant to the secretary for fisheries when the position was created late in the 1940s. Subsequently he served in an advisory capacity at a large number of international conferences dealing with various aspects of ocean affairs.

SAN QUENTIN BUILDING PREPARED FOR COURT HEARINGS

ACTION ANGERS REAGAN

Senate Kills Tax Revision Plan

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate killed Gov. Ronald Reagan's $1 billion tax revision plan by one vote last night and the governor angrily vowed to resubmit the same proposal again next year if reelected.

Reagan told a hastily called late night news conference that Californians had "suffered a staggering setback in their efforts to obtain substantial and lasting property tax relief."

The bill failed to pass the Senate by only one vote as the Legislature sped toward adjournment tonight of its 1970 session.

The roll call was 26-13, with 27 votes needed for passage. All 13 opponents were Democrats except for one lone Republican, Sen. Clark L. Bradley of San Jose.

Reagan would have had his 27th vote had Sen. Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando, not been hospitalized with diabetes. Senate leader Jack Schrade emotionally told his colleagues that Carrell's wife had called him and asked if one of the opponents would cast a "courtsy" vote for her husband. Schrade asked them "to look at their consciences."

Opponents already had caused and decided not to cast a "courtesy" vote for Carrell. They pointed out Republicans, and Reagan, previously had deined so-called "courtesy" votes to them.

Reagan's package, which he regarded as his most important legislative program since becoming governor, would have established state income tax withholding.

It's main purpose, however, was to provide substantial homeowners property tax relief. This it would have done by raising other taxes, such as sales.

Two bills of Reagan's tax package had cleared both the Assembly and the Senate, but the third and final measure required 27 votes—two-thirds of the House.

The same bill also was blocked July 28 by one vote. Administration forces waited until Thursday to take it up again in anticipation of Dennis Carpenter's swearing in as a senator. The state Republican chairman won a special Orange County election Tuesday.

But Carpenter's presence was canceled out by the sickness of Carrell, who voted for the measure.

The same 13 senators who blocked the bill the first time killed it outright Thursday night. All parlimentary devices to keep the bill alive were exhausted after that.

The defeat was a bitter blow for Reagan who campaigned on a property tax relief plank in 1966. The governor said he had "no plans" to call a special legislative session, but wasn't ruling it out.

The measure's legislative sponsor, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, told newsmen he saw "no point" in calling a special session this year because it was clear the governor didn't have enough votes to pass a tax program.

Reagan was asked whether he would submit the same program again next year, and (campaign) promise four years ago and I still mean it. I think one of the most antiquated, out of date taxes that we have is the property tax. We'll try again."

The governor vowed to "do my best" to see that voters are constantly reminded of who killed the measure, and noted he will have plenty opportunity to do this during the fall campaigning.

"The hopes of millions of Californians for tax relief were dashed by the irresponsible actions of a small minority of 13 senators who chose to put face-saving considerations—for primarily partisan political reasons—ahead of the interest of the people," he charged.

Reagan included Republican Bradley in his criticism.

But the conservative San Jose senator told newsmen, "I sincerely and honestly believe the defeat of this tax program is in the best interests of the people. You have to put principle above politics."

Senate Democratic floor leador George Moscone of San Francisco said "The integrity of the legislature has been maintained. Finally, enough senators withstood the governor's demands and decided they were going to do the job they were elected to do—namely watch out for the welfare of the people."

There was very little debate on the measure, whose floor manager was Sen. Robert Lagomarsino, R-Ojai. The roll call was left open in the gaslit chamber for seven hours while

Senate Gives Cambodia, Laos A Financial Blow

Votes To Bar Aid To Foreign Troops

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted unanimously today to bar U.S. assistance to foreign troops fighting in support of Cambodia and Laos.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. J. William Fullbright, D-Ark., was rushed through by voice vote without objection as an amendment to the $19.2 billion defense procurement bill.

Both Fulbright and Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., emphasized it would not affect any operations in border sanctuary areas abutting Vietnam; nor would it affect sending of foreign troops into Laos or Cambodia on the part of countries acting on their own, without U.S. aid.

The Senate had first decided to put off a vote on the proposal, but then reversed itself and approved it. Stennis is floor manager of the military procurement bill.

If the amendment becomes law, it could throw a wrench into a reported tentative agreement between the United States and Thailand for sending 5,000 Thai regulars into Cambodia to shore up the Phnom Penh government.

It could also stop any plans by Vietnamese forces to assist the Laotian government.

"Wherever American tax dollars for waging a war go, the American flag inevitably follows," Fulbright said. "There will be no winning of the war in Cambodia on the cheap, by paying foreign forces to do the fighting."

Fulbright, however, assured Stennis that the amendment would not interfere with present U.S. air strikes and other allied activities in Laos or Cambodia designed to head off aggression in Vietnam.

The proposed amendment builds on language added to the bill by the Senate Armed Services Committee before it came to the floor.

The committee has charge of all foreign military assistance programs relating to the war in Vietnam. Last year, this authorization covered "Vietnamese and other free world forces in Vietnam."

But after the Cambodian operation was under way last May, the committee decided to "clarify" the language this year to provide funds for "Vietnamese and other free-world forces in support of Vietnamese forces."

In its report —but not in the actual law —the committee declared that the change in no way sanctioned the support of allied forces "in actions designed to provide military support and assistance to the Cambodian government."

That provision surprised many, since Stennis and other members of the committee had fought a closely-contested amendment to bar support from Cambodian mercenaries when the issue came up in June

ABAG Will Launch Study Into A Super Urban Renewal Agency

by PAUL E. PETERZELL

The proposal envisioned creation of a regional development agency to buy vacant land for later sale to developers in accord with the land uses in ABAG's regional plan for the next 20 years.

Sonoma and Santa Clara counties will be the targets of the one-year, $120,000 federally-funded feasibility study proposed by the planning and research firms of Eckbo, Dean, Austin and Williams and Volt Information Sciences.

The association's executive committee voted unanimously to apply for the grant and to employ the joint venture firms as consultants.

Executive director J. Julien Baget said the pilot study had "major future significance" as a means to carry out ABAG's regional plan. The plan, adopted this summer, called for development of population clusters to preserve open space.

Baget stressed that such a new public agency would have "to supplement, rather than supplant existing governmental units." It would be designed to become part of any limited function, multipurpose regional government formed in the future, he said.

The consulting firms' proposal declared that "the challenge of new communities, low-income housing, and opening of our nation's residential communities to all of our citizens, clearly requires action that can break the impasse created by restrictive local practices and an endless array of legal maneuvers designed to prevent the introduction of substantial numbers of minority Americans into the suburbs."

Clearly envisioning a super urban renewal agency, they called for an agency to assure planned urban growth to end the "vacuum that encourages precisely the kind of sprawling urban growth with which America is cursed."

The new agency would be "responsive primarily to the public good rather than to merely private gain," they said.

U.S., MEXICO AGREE TO END LAND DISPUTE

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (UPI) — The United States and Mexico today formally agreed to a settlement of all pending land disputes along the Rio Grande border and to a formula for settling such controversies in the future.

The agreement calls for a division of the disputed tract near Presidio, Tex., which would give 1,606 acres or 74.3 per cent of the area to Mexico and 556 acres or 25.7 per cent of the area to the U.S.

The agreement, first announced by Presidents Nixon and Gustavo Diaz Ordaz Thursday, will be incorporated into a treaty which must be approved by the senates of both countries.

Another Cost Of Living Rise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cost of living of Americans continued to rise last month at an annual rate of almost 5 per cent, but the purchasing power of workers' wages improved, the government reported today.

The Labor Department said the Consumer Price Index, one of the key indicators of the pace of the nation's economic pulse, rose 0.4 per cent in July —the same rate as for May and June. A full year rise at that rate would be 4.8 per cent.

But the report said that for the third consecutive month, spendable earnings of rank-and-file workers rose at a greater rater than the price index. That figure for July was $108.55 a week, up 80 cents from June, for an average worker with three dependents.

The index for July stood at 135.7—representing a jump of 5.9 per cent over July, 1969. The index meant that it cost $13.57 last month to buy the same goods and services that could have been obtained for $13.52 in June, $12.82 in July,

Israel Near Envoy To Mideast Talks; Nasser, Hussein Confer

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel is expected to name its representative to the Middle East peace talks by Monday, diplomatic sources in Tel Aviv said today.

While preparations for an early beginning to the talks were under way in Israel, President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and King Hussein of Jordan were meeting in Alexandria to plan Arab strategy for the discussions.

The question of where and at what level the talks would be held remained to be settled, but an Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman indicated Israel would be willing to drop its opposition to New York as a site.

Gunnar V. Jarring, the United Nations mediator in charge of the talks, has been quoted by a U.N. spokesman as agreeing with Israel that the talks should begin at the foreign minister level rather than the lower ambassadorial level favored by the Arabs.

Most Israeli newspapers today carried reports from Washington and New York saying that the United States would provide Israel with air-to-ground missiles and sophisticated radar systems capable of knocking out Soviet-Egyptian missile concentrations along the Suez Canal.

These reports said the United States was trying to restore the balance of power along the Suez Canal which the Israelis say has deteriorated severely following Arab missile movements in the area.

There was no confirmation of the reports from Israeli military sources.

The diplomatic sources in Tel Aviv said the Israeli representative probably will be appointed at the weekly cabinet meeting Sunday but the announcement will probably be withheld until Monday so it can be discussed in the Knesset (parliament).

The Knesset began its summer recess last week but was called back into session by the

Diphtheria Spreads

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — A 13-year-old boy who lives on the city's north side became the city's 55th diphtheria case of the year Thursday, causing officials to fear the epidemic may have broken loose from its original confines.

Twenty-five cases have been reported in the last month.

The illness of the youth reflected a slight movement of the disease from the south and-southwest portions of the city, predominantly inhabited by Negroes and Mexican-Americans.

Sunken Ship Explodes

CAPE MAY, N.J. (UPI) — An explosion occurred Thursday when an old Liberty ship carrying 5,000 tons of obsolete ammunition hit the Atlantic Ocean floor. The Navy originally had planned to sink it near a mustard gas burial ground.

Navy officials said escort vessels five miles away felt the blast from the explosives aboard the Liberty ship David Hughes, but none of the vessels was damaged. The site was 118 miles due east of Cape May.

Hijacked Jet Back

MIAMI (UPI) — A Delta Airlines Super DC9 returned to the United States early today from Cuba where it was forced to fly by a stocky Latin American passenger who said he had a bomb in his attache case.

The plane arrived at Miami International Airport at 2:45 a.m. EDT after a 30-minute flight from Havana. it later proceeded toits destination, Savannah, Ga., after a brief stop.

Submarines Collide

TOULON, France (UPI) — The French submarine Galatee collided with the South African submarine Maria van Riebeek in the Mediterranean off this naval base Thursday night. Four seamen on the French vessel were killed, four were injured and two were missing.

The Galatee was beached after the collision but the Maria Van Rebeek limped to Toulon Naval Base. None of its crew was injured.

Naval officials refused to confirm reports that the collision resulted in an explosion aboard the Galatee and declined to give details of the accident which occurred on the surface a mile off Toulon.

Czech Anniversary

PRAGUE (UPI) — Life was normal in Prague today on the second anniversary of the Soviet-led invasion that crushed the liberal movement of former Communist party leader Alexander Dubcek.

Fewer people were in the streets than on normal working days. Streetcars, usually packed to capacity, were less crowded.

Illegal leaflets circulated earlier this month urged Czechoslovaks to boycott shops, movies and newspapers as a "silent demonstration" against the invasion.

Storm Kills Five; Damage At $5 Million

SUDBURY, Ont. (UPI)—The sky blackened and fat raindrops splattered against the workmen aloft on the 1,200-foot smokestack of the International Nickel Co. smelter.

"My house is blowing away, my house is blowing away," screamed a terrified female voice.

Then the line went dead.

It was after 8:30 a.m. (EDT) Thursday and a killer windstorm — probably a tornado — lashed without warning across the mining country of northern Ontario, striking through four communities.

LIKE DOLLHOUSES

The storm knocked over buildings like dollhouses, picked up railroad cars and heavy industrial machinery and blasted apart houses in puffs of lumber.

It sank boats, started fires from downed electrical wires, sailed roofs through the air like frisbees, splintered thousands of windows and snatched pedestrians and bowled them along the ground.

Sudbury police identified five dead. The city's hospitals reported more than 200 persons injured, 44 of them seriously. Six of those were listed as critical.

$5 MILLION DAMAGE

Len Turner, mayor of nearby Lively—a "model town" built for the nickel company's smelter workers—estimated damage at $1.5 million. the storm also sliced through Copper Cliff and, in Field 45 miles to the east, police said half the buildings in town were blown down, including the lumber mill that was the main industry for the town's 600 residents.

Sudbury is a nickel and coal mining town of about 100,000 about 200 miles northwest of Toronto. Copper Cliff, with about 3,600 persons, is about six miles to the west. Lively, with 1,000 inhabitants is four miles to the west.

Cambodian Troops Repel Enemy Push

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Outnumbered Cambodian defenders smashed the most determined Communist threat yet to Phnom Penh's defenses Thursday night to climax 24 hours of intense fighting that killed 500 North Vietnamese, military spokesmen said today.

Communiques from Saigon said North Vietnamese forces around Artillery Base O'Reilly near the Laotian border came under mortar attack twice during the night but there were no casualties. One American was killed and two U. S. troops and two South Vietnamese wounded Thursday when Communist ground fire shot down an American OH58 observation helicopter 12 miles east-southeast of Saigon.

As the Cambodian command claimed victory at nightfall, Communist units fired rockets and mortars into the fringe of downtown Phnom Penh for the first time.

Cambodian spokesmen said the defenders were outnumbered 3-to-1 by 1,000 North Vietnamese but broke up the Communist drive at a point seven miles north of downtown Phnom Penh.

"It was vicious fighting—fierce fighting," a military spokesman said. He praised what he said was the heroism of the defenders, including a Cambodian commander who refused to be evacuated after he was wounded.

"He insisted on remaining with his troops to lead them to victory," he said.

Military spokesmen said Cambodian forces lost 19 men killed and 124 wounded and claimed 500 North Vietnamese killed and an unknown number wounded.

In a delayed report, the military spokesman said Cambodian troops have found 700 Communist bodies buried in mass graves in a forest near Skoun, 35 miles northeast of Phnom Penh. He said the communists evacuated 1,000 wounded northward after the eight-day battle in Skoun which ended Aug. 8.

More Terrorism Seen Aimed At U.S. Envoys

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department has told Congress it expects more assassinations and kidnappings of American diplomats abroad and wants money and manpower to counteract the terrorism.

Specifically, the department wants to organize emergency action teams, including a Navy Seabee armors expert, that could be deployed quickly to trouble spots.

It also has asked for a fleet of heavily armored vehicles, more Marine guards at embassies and money to hire more local guard forces.

"The steady increase in terrorist activities directed against U.S. government personnel and operations abroad, including assassinations and kidnappings, shows no signs of abatement. In fact, all indications point to an implification of the problem for some time to come," the department said.

The request came to light when the Senate Appropriations Committee released testimony taken last June. The department asked for $1,250,000 to launch three of the emergency action teams, bu the special armored cars and other vehicles and pay the salaries of the extra marines and local security guards.

Since the, Daniel Mitrione, a U.S. official, was murdered by terrorists in Uruguay. Another official, Claude Fry, is still a hostage there.

Witnesses To Tell Of Manson Visit

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles Manson has denied repeatedly that he ever visited the Tate estate but prosecution witnesses will swear on the witness stand of seeing him talk to the slain actress, it was learned Friday.

A court official said Manson was seen on several occasions in the house and on the grounds talking to Sharon Tate before the pregnant actress was slain along with four other persons.

Rudy Altabelli, owner of the $225,000 estate leased by Miss Tate and her husband, film director Roman Polanski, a nd the star's personal photographer, S. Hatami are expected to testify next week of seeing Manson at the home.

When court convened Friday the presiding judge went personally to Manson's jail cell to investigate complaints he was harassed by sheriff's deputies.

Pentagon Admits Drug Abuse, Changes Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon, admitting to an "alarming increase" in drug abuse among American servicemen the world over, has ordered sweeping changes in its policies to prove it is serious in cracking down on drugs.

Keyed to education and rehabilitation the new crackdown also suggests granting legal amnesty to drug-troubled servicemen who wan to kick their habits.

The decision to take a new tack on combating drug abuse was made public Thursday before a senate subcommittee by Vice Adm. William P. Mack, a deputy assistant defense ssecretary who headed a special Pentagon drug task force.

He said Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird had approved the task force report Wednesday. Later, the Pentagon said Laird's approval made the report effective and that it would be implemented immediately. Mack testified on the last day of hearings begun more than five years ago by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn, into reports of rampant use of marijuana and narcotics in the military, particularly in Vietnam.

Dodd, however, was not quite satisfied. He grilled Mack and Frank A. Bartimo, an assistant general counsel at the Pantagon, about "why it took so long" for the Defense Department to act. He also demanded why Pentagon officials had denied the existence of a drug problem when they appeared before his committee two years ago.

"Because the situation today is far different then it was two years afo," Bartimo said. "In just two years the situation has become very serious indeed."

Venezuela has resumed diplomatic relations with Russia after a period of 18 years.

Transportation Department Aide Criticizes Use Of Federal Funds

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — Strong criticism of planning on how to use transportation money came yesterday from a high federal source — a deputy assistant secretary in the Department of Transportation.

Michael Cafferty, in a meeting with 30 local, state and federal transportation officials, made it clear that the old dominance of highways over urban mass transit was going to end. He stressed that transportation planning also must consider social and environmental goals.

The $10 billion is the amount promised in pending legislation over the next 12 years for urban mass transit. Cafferty predicted final congressional approval of the measure within six weeks.

The federal government has been appropriating about $240 million a year for urban mass transit. The increased funding under the pending legislation would set up a trust fund, thus assuring continuing funding without annual appropriation fights.

By contrast, the federal government pumps about $5.5 billion a year in trust funds into highways.

Cafferty, reporting on "some very preliminary conclusions" of his department's survey of what is wrong with transportation planning, also criticized the common failure to involve citizens before major decisions are made.

He faulted failures to try new technology in transportation, to coordinate all forms of transportation, and to determine the goals of transportation planning. Such goals can include cutting congestion and inducing or controlling growth, but planning has failed to resolve the conflicts among competing goals, he said.

Cafferty said that his department's overhaul of planning processes was the first attempt to make some logical sense out of its aid programs. The overhaul was asked by the Office of Management and Budget, formerly the Bureau of the Budget, he said.

He repeatedly raised the issue of what kind of regional planning institution should be encouraged to do the needed planning. The job is being done in the Bay Area by the Association of Bay Area Governments, which called yesterday's meeting for Cafferty at the Hotel Claremont.

But the Legislature has approved a bill to take the job away from ABAG and give it to a Metropolitan Transportation Commission. ABAG nominally reviews local applications for grants, but has dodged federal requests that it assign priorities to show which projects are most important.

The MTC would be required to review all applications for grants, and to forward only those which were in accord with its regional transportation plan.

"We've reached a point in this country where we're not going to do things the way we've done them in the past," Cafferty declared. "There's a tremendous frustration in the country that there's no alternative to highways," he said.

The few officials who responded to Cafferty's presentation mainly objected that the $10 billion for urban mass transit was not enough.

"It's barely a start," said John Tolen, deputy for development to San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto. As for involving citizens in planning, he added, "sometimes we have too much citizen participation — although we're in favor of it, of course."

Cafferty, however, insisted the $10 billion was "very adequate," that the nation probably could not digest much more than this amount in the next few years, and that "if we use it wisely, then we can go back to Congress and get additional funds."

Human Resources Job Testing Set

An examination for jobs as employment and claims assistants at local offices of the Department of Human Resources will be held Sept. 12 at the San Rafael office of the department, according to Office Manager Edwin W. Ayer.

The job requires two years of work experience performing clerical, sales, technical, professional or managerial tasks, or equivalent education. The starting salary is $3.37 an hour.

ABAG Itself Is Bay Environment Award Nominee

I-J Special Report

Sonoma County Supervisor Ignazio A. Vella, president of ABAG, won prompt approval by the executive committee for his proposal to nominate the association for the 1970 award to be made by the Bay Area Council.

The council, a civic and development organization, presents its annual environment award to the citizen or organization making "the most significant contribution to the preservation and enhancement of our environment."

Vella said that ABAG deserved the award for its regional plan for the next two decades. The plan calls for development of population in clusters to preserve open space.

Vella said the plan "will have long-range impact on the development and conservation of the Bay Area."

Psychiatrist Says Rivas Under Stress

Ronald Rivas's ability to know right from wrong was "substantially impaired" the night he fatally shot his father, Fidel I. Rivas, in the family home at 59 Raposa Vista, Novato, on July 17, 1969.

This was the finding of Dr. Martin G. Blinder of San Anselmo, a psychiatrist put on the stand by the defense in young Rivas's murder trial being heard without a jury by Superior Court Judge Thomas F. Keating.

The doctor said that the stress of previous years of violent acts by Fidel Rivas toward his wife and mother of 13 children, Marjorie Rivas, and his threats and "tyranny" over the children had "decommissioned the thinking processes" of young Rivas to the point that he acted more or less automatically the fatal night, after the elder Rivas resoundingly slapped Mrs. Rivas.

While on the witness stand relating his memories of the night he shot his father, young Rivas had said it was if he were "outside" himself, hearing himself speaking and seeing himself acting without being able to control his actions.

The trial, now in its second week, is expected to wind up the middle of next week.

Sausalito Rec Panel Studies Tiffany Park

The Sausalito Recreation Commission last night reviewed precise plans for development of Tiffany Park and decided to hold a special meeting with its architect to prepare a presentation to the city council.

Chairman John P. Vetromile said the meeting date was not set. The plans call for benches, trees, grass and shrubbery at the quarter-acre park, which lies between North Street and Bridgeway in southern Sausalito.

The commission re-elected Vetromile chairman and Margaret Meeks secretary, and seated two new members, Harold T. Rogers of 106 Bridgeway, and Midge Lester of 8 Spencer Court. Commissioners also accepted the resignation of Mrs. Lee P. Perrone, who is moving from town, Vetromile said.

I-J's SUMMER INTERN

Not The Stereotype Of A Copy Reader

By DAVID DIETZ

Stereotype holds that a newspaper copy reader — one who struggles with reporters' pampered works — is a baldish, sometimes hardened, but sage fellow who wears a green eyeshade and is known to take a nip or two at the neighborhood tavern during his lunch hour.

It is a version widely exploited — and even embraced by newspaper people themselves because of attachment to Damon Runyonism.

But then along comes winsome Julie Fleece — dean's list student at Stanford University, third runner-up in the national Junior Miss Pageant in 1967 and member of Theta Sigma Phi, a journalism honor society.

Miss Fleece is 20 years old and probably has never laid eyes on the musty interior of a corner bar and even appears the type that leaves parties when things get raucous.

For eight weeks, Miss Fleece has been working on the Independent-Journal copy desk as an intern through the Newspaper Fund, Inc., an organization sponsored by the Wall Street Journal to provide college students with summer journalism experience.

Miss Fleece, who will receive a $500 scholarship from the fund toward her last quarter at Stanford this fall, said the experience has been enlightening and challenging.

"I never thought I'd write headlines as fast as I do now," she said. "On this paper, it's deadline pressure all the time."

Under the guidance of news editor Donald G. Davis, Miss Fleece has been laying out pages — the job of deciding placement of stories in the newspaper — in addition to headline writing.

"Because the Independent-Journal is a small paper, I got an awful lot of help," she said. "And because it's a small paper, I got a better overall view of newspaper operation."

Miss Fleece, who intends to resume copy desk work upon graduation in December, was one of 60 interns chosen by the Newspaper Fund for the summer program, others going to papers of varied size throughout the West. She is the first copy editing intern in Stanford's history and the fifth journalism intern hired by the Independent-Journal the past two summers.

Her internship was marked dramatically by the Hall of Justice shoot-out. Colleagues recall Miss Fleece busily taking information from reporters in the field and rewriting headlines for stories that were cleared from originally-assigned pages to make room for news of the tragedy.

"Because of that, I think I got better experience than anyone else in the program," she said.

While attending high school in Honolulu, where she has lived since the age of 5, Miss Fleece said she "kind of backed into" journalism while still undecided about a teaching career.

Her father, Jeffrey Fleece, is an assistant dean at the University of Hawaii and the author of prize-winning one-act plays. Her mother, Marianne, is concert master of the Honolulu Symphony.

Miss Fleece has been a Stanford Daily staffer since her junior year, serving as night and afternoon editor — and in the self-appointed post of bowling editor.

"I was on the Stanford bowling team and the coach kept trying to get me to get some publicity in the paper," she recalled. The all-male sports desk viewed the assignment with uproarious amusement, she said.

Deputies Arrest Trio Of Soldiers

Booked into county jail and each held for Army disposition in lieu of $2,250 bail were:

Stephen James Lisak, 23; John Patrick Hickler, 21, and Tae Kim Stures, 21. Each was charged with possession of pot, having paraphernalia for using marijuana and being in a place where marijuana was being used. Deputies said a search of the car turned up marijuana seeds on the floor, a lid and a vial of green vegetable matter — apparently marijuana — in the glove compartment, and a pipe with a bowl that was still warm.

Real Mystery Posed By Missing Patient

CAIRO (UPI) —Hospital authorities have good reason to be puzzled by the disappearance of a woman patient who apparently scaled a 10-foot high wall surrounding a city medical center.

The woman is 80 years old and paralyzed in both legs, authorities said.

Patrick Is Involved In New Legality

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — William Penn Patrick, San Rafael manufacturer, is again involved in legal action.

Patrick, who last month was ordered to pay pollster Mervin Field of Belvedere $300,000 for libel, was accused yesterday by the state attorney general's office of trying to sell an automobile engine conditioner through an illegal "chain letter" process.

Deputy Atty. Gen. John. C. Porter said the state is seeking an injunction prohibiting the distribution scheme, $2,500 for each false misrepresentation, and $250,000 punitive damages from Patrick, H.M. Labs — incorporated in Nevada, but with offices at 56 Harbor Street, San Rafael — and five employees of the firm.

Porter said the firm gives distributorships in return for purchase of a substantial inventory plus a promise to recruit five new distributors each month.

He said prospective distributors were falsely promised high earnings at a series of "opportunity meetings". The firm allegedly promised earings of $120 the first month, $1,290 the second and $2,190 the third, but had no evidence to support its claims, according to Porter.

He said the people who get into the scheme first may make a lot of money, but those who buy in late won't because the market will be saturated. They would be left holding substantial quantities of the product with no market, Porter said.

In an investigation of a similar sales plan by another company, a statistician found that every Californian would have been a distributor within 10 weeks, according to Porter.

"The entire scheme is based upon an inexhaustible number of new investors and could succeed only if the chain were endless," the suit says.

The other five named in the suit are H.K. White, president of the San Rafael firm, Andrew Gusick, vice president, Carol Gallagher, secretary, and Danny Theabold and Sal Talesfore, agents and employees.

Another Patrick firm, Holiday Magic of San Rafael, has been involved in a Federal Trade Commission suit charging deceptive practices, restraint of trade and price fixing and in cases similar to the one against. H.M. Lab brought by Illinois and Michigan last year.

DEBATE

during the seven-week debate over Cambodia.

Fulbright, however, was not satisfied. He asked that the language of the committee's report be incorporated into the actual law. In addition, he asked the senate to go one step further and apply the language to neighboring Laos.

The bill as it is written, Fulbright said, means "that we will foot the bill for whatever deal the Cambodians and the Thais decide to make among themselves" and "for any operations the Vietnamese choose to undertake, including an invasion of Laos or China."

Stennis agreed it was "not our purpose to sustain or underwrite the government of Cambodia. We looked upon that as another war."

He indicated he would accept the measure, and take it into conference with House negotiators on the procurement bill, on Fulbright's stipulation that it would not "roll back" any current allied operations in Southeast Asia.

Donkeys Trigger Presidential Quip

When one of the little donkeys that run loose in the town blocked traffic, he asked that it be brought up to the car so he could pet the animal.

German GNP Rises

BONN (UPI) —West Germany's gross national product reached 601 billion marks ($14 billion) in 1969, an increase of 13.5 per cent over 1968, reports the Federal Statistical Office.

LAND

terns were condemned in their report for "enormous inefficiency, sprawl and chaotic land-use patterns that have resulted when direction and timing of development is left to the private developer."

Zoning and subdivision standards merely "have resulted in mediocrity and dull uniformity," they said.

Existing growth patterns also "make public services planning and construction chaotic, unpredictable and generally out-of-phase with development," the consultants found.

They noted their proposal may win support because many Bay Area citizens are "relatively friendly toward innovative ideas."

Sonoma and Santa Clara counties were picked, they explained, because they are especially diversified, with a variety of rural and urban situations. The Sonoma Valley vineyards, they said, "are now threatened with low density urban sprawl and leapfrogging residential and mobile home subdivisions of the most ordinary kind."

Both counties, they declared, "provide near classic examples of the sprawl engendered in the post-World War II period of uncontrolled development and land speculation."

They also noted that Sonoma County's coastline "has become a target for the second-home recreation subdivision industry."

Improved freeways and highways, and the possible extension of rail rapid transit to Santa Rosa, assure "that almost all of both counties can be considered subject to eventual urban pressures," the consultants cautioned.

They also suggested that the new development agency could sell surplus land to cover its overhead and to provide a subsidy fund for low-income housing. Such sales also could raise money to buy open space, they said.

"If the concept is basically sound it will withstand the test of a trial," the consultants concluded, "and it is assumed that no static model, however brilliant, will ever substitute for a pragmatic experiment."

The proposal was termed by Alameda County Supervisor Joseph P. Bort as "one of the most venturesome proposals that has been presented to us."

John Anderson, deputy director for development for the San Francisco, said, "If you're going to come to grips with planning, sooner or later you have to decide to carry it out."

Bagley and Lagomarsino lobbied opponents in an attempt to gain one more vote. Reagan was asked by a newsman why it was with all the power of the governor's office he couldn't secure the final vote for passage. The governor said he offered "no deals."

The Senate defeated two proposed amendments—one erasing everything from the program except withholding, and the other eliminating a tax break for undeveloped "open space" land.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, the over-all increase in July in the index was 0.3 per cent, same as in June but only about half of the rate last winter, the department said.

Joel Popkin, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said that in the year from July, 1969, prices showed "a general acceleration until about the first of the year and slowing down since then that has become more pronounced in June and July."

Popkin listed these examples of specific price changes in July: eggs, up 14.6 per cent; meat, up 0.5 per cent; white bread up 1.2 per cent; apples up 7.2 per cent; green peppers down 28.5 per cent; cabbage down 16.9 per cent; celery down 24.2 per cent and tomatoes down 9.3 per cent.

Over-all food prices were up 0.5 per cent in July while the cost of fuel and utilities jumped 0.9 per cent. Clothing and laundry-cleaning costs dropped 0.6 per cent.

About 70,000 workers will receive wage increases ranging from a penny to 9 cents an hour because of the July index rise, based on cost-of-living escalator clauses in wage contracts.

Officials in Cairo said the discussions, expected to last three days, would cover the Egyptian - Jordanian position toward Israel; the military situation along the Jordanian front and coordination with the Egyptian front; and the situation in Jordan, which is complicated by the Palestinian guerrillas' rejection of the American proposals.

Egyptian Information Minister Mohammed Hassanein Heikal said in Cairo today the presence of SAM3 antiaircraft missiles in Egypt was a warning to the United States that Russia will not tolerate another Arab military defeat by Israel.

Heikal compared the buildup of Russian missiles in Egypt to the situation in 1956 when he said the Soviets used the threat of nuclear weapons to deter Britain, France and Israel from attacking Egypt.

Communist diplomats in London said Thursday Russia has told the United States the peace negotiations must proceed on the basis that Israel return all occupied Arab territory, without exception.

The Soviets have given Nasser assurances the Kremlin will back him to the hilt in the insistence for the return of all occupied territory, including the Syrian Golan Heights and Jordanian Jerusalem, the diplomats said.

Israeli jets bombed and strafed guerrilla positions in the North Jordan valley Thursday in retaliation for rocket and mortar attacks along the Jordan River cease-fire line.

Senate Beats Vote Age At 18 Again

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate early today refused for the second time to approve a proposed constitutional amendment giving 18 year olds the right to vote and all other adult responsibilities except the privilege of drinking in bars.

On a 22-13 vote senators rejected the proposal by Assemblyman John V. Briggs, R-Fullerton. Two weeks ago they rejected the same measure 23-8.

Sen. John F. McCarthy voted for the measure.

The opposition on the second go-round was led again by Sen. Clark L. Bradley, R-San Jose, who said he doubted 18 year olds could exercise correct judgment in the polling booth.

"I do not believe an 18 year-old has the maturity and judgment to be a resopnsible voter," Bradley said. "And if he doesn't have the judgment to be a responsible voter, he doesn't have the maturity to be an adult."

He also said enfranchising high school and college students could escalate campus disturbances because "those institutions would be turned into political arenas."

But Sen. Lewis F. Sherman, R-Berkeley, floor manager for the measure, argued Californians should at least have the right to decide whether their youth should vote at 18.

"The question is whether the voters of California—who are all over 21—have the maturity to vote on this," Sherman said.

Senate Democratic leader George Moscone of San Fracisco reminded colleagues that the platforms of both his party and the Republicans called for lowering the voting age.

Specifically the amendment would have allowed 18 year olds to serve on juries, enter into contracts and be tried as adults for crimes in addition to voting.

HIGHWAYS

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill boosting populous Southern California's share of highway construction funds returned to the Senate today to face its final legislative obstacle.

The Assembly approved the measure by Sen. James Mills, D-San Diego, on a 41-31 vote Thursday and sent it to the Senate for concurrence in house amendments.

The bill would raise Southern California's share of highway construction funds from 55 to 60 per cent and lower the north's apportionment from 45 to 40 per cent.

Backers of the plan also are holding in reserve an identical bill by Sen. Lawrence Walsh, D-Huntington Park. The Walsh bill is pending before the Assembly but supporters said it would be approved only if the Mills bill dies in the Senate.

Assemblymen voted approval of the Mills plan along strict north-south lines with northerners staunchly resisting the measure.

Both the Walsh and Mills bills were denounced by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, chairman of the Assembly Transportation Committee, for disrupting what already "is probably a lousy formula."

Foran said state highway construction was being hampered by the "stupidity of a formula adopted by political compromise some years ago."

For years Southern California legislators have tried unsuccessfully to increase the south's share of the highway construction funds.

But this year the committee approved both the Mills and Walsh measures although an identical bill by Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes, R-San Diego, was rejected.

BLACK DAY

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly was asked today to give final legislative approval to a bill designating March 5th as Black American Day in California.

The measure by Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, was passed 23-1 Thursday and returned to the lower house for concurrence in Senate amendments. Sen. Clark L. Bradley, R-San Jose, cast the sole dissenting vote.

Originally the bill set Jan. 15, the birthday of Martin Luther King Jr., for the observance, but the March 5th date was amended into the bill by the Senate Finance Committee.

The date marks the death of Crispus Attucks, "the first black American martyr of the Boston Massacre" during the American Revolutionary War.

COASTLINE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Pete Wilson says Senate Leader Jack Schrade was "gutless" in refusing to hold a hearing on his bill for regulating California coastline development.

"The only reasonable inference that can be drawn from Senator Schrade's refusal is that he wishes to kill the bill without the embarrassment of having to publicly cast a 'no' vote," Wilson told a news conference Thursday.

"I call this a faceless, gutless default of an elected official upon his duty to judge legislation on the merits, and a performance which discredits the Senate," he added.

Wilson, like Schrade a Republican from San Diego, noted a scheduled hearing on his proposal was abruptly cancelled. He said courtesy dictated he should have been permitted to present his measure.

When a newsman asked Schrade the reason for the cancellation, he replied: "I can't find anyone on the committee, but one, who was for the bill. A hearing would have been a waste of time. This late in the session we have no time to waste."

The measure simply died when it failed to get a Senate hearing.

STERILIZATION

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly voted 35-12 Thursday to permit hospitals to refuse to perform sterlization if the surgical procedure violated the institution's moral principles.

The approval was on changes made to a bill by Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Bevervea prohibiting hospitals from requiring that persons seeking the operation meet specific qualifications. The changes by Assemblyman Frank Murphy, R-Santa Cruz, needed approval in the upper chamber.

Women Good Risks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Insurance Information Institute says women are better auto insurance risks than men. Between the ages of 17 and 24, an unmarried woman driver pays lower premiums on her car than a married male under 25.

Hub Bicyclist Hurt In Accident

A 19-year-old San Anselmo girl said she would see a private physician after her bicycle collided with a car on San Anselmo Avenue at the entrance to the Pine Street parking lot.

San Anselmo police said the bicycle was ridden by Mary Ann Murray of 40 Grove Lane and the car was driven by Helene H. Hjort, 70, of West Road in Ross.

Father Performs A 'Mercy' Killing

HYERES, France (UPI)—Alain Dubuc, 30, hanged his 4-year-old retarded and deformed daughter in what he saw as a mercy killing, then tried to commit suicide, police said Thursday.

Dubuc appeared to be recovering from an overdose of barbiturates, police said. The body of his daughter, Magali, was found hanging from a tree.

Huge Wasp Nest To Be Displayed

They were wasps who lived in a huge, 30-pound nest in the attic of a Victorian-style home.

The owner of the home said he had heard a funny buzzing for about six months, but didn't think much of it until he got stung one day. It took the exterminators three days to kill the possibly dangerous insects and remove the next.

TIS THE SEASON?

Christmas decorations add a little holiday spirit to the intersection of Fourth and A streets in San Rafael. The middle of August might seem a bit early for some people, but it seemed a fine time for the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce to fidn out if they like the decorations. To help the chamber board and Fourth Street merchants decide, more decorations will be put up next week at the intersection of Fourth and D streets.

PRINCESS' BIRTHDAY

Controversy Arises Over Royal Portrait

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaret turned 40 today.

Her latest portrait, the first major rendering of a royal family member in abstract, tainted her birthday with controversy.

Queen Elizabeth's younger sister has become matronly plump at 40. Her 10-year marriage to photographer Lord Snowdon weathers regular rumors of imminent divorce.

She has cut down on nightclubbing and champagne suppers at posh restaurants but regularly attends private parties given by friends. She favors youthful fashions and hats and is slowly passing to Princess Anne, 20 last week, some of her heavy load of royal public appearances.

Margaret's latest portrait went on public view today at the national portrait gallery. "It does not flatter her" and "it looks incomplete" were among the comments of first viewers.

The British artist, 35-year-old Bryan Organ, defended the 61-by-55 inch oil on canvas that shows only Margaret's tiara-crowned head in pale bleu-gray and flesh tones against a backdrop of dark gray. Her face is far thinner than in reality.

"I'm not concerned with reaction. My work is finished," Organ said. "I mustered all available facilities and reached a conclusion. To me it is the ultimate."

Margaret, who was spending her birthday at Balmoral Castle in Scotland with the rest of the royal family, personally picked Organ for the painting. Organ would not say what she thought about the finished portrait but a close associate of her husband's said: "I understand she is delighted with it."

British newspapers were critical of the painting. "To some observers it appears the princess is being fired out of a cannon," said the Times.

Art students liked it. "It's fabulous," said 26-year-old Neville Grant. "At last we are getting rid of the starchy, still-life image of the royals. It shows extreme character and an element of daring on the part of the artist to knock protocol."

Dr. Roy Strong, director of the National Portrait Gallery, said "It is a breakthrough in royal portraiture. It's obviously an abstract vision of her presiding at a formal dinner. It's rather like an icon and it is regal."

Senator: Government Should Buy Boxcars

The Defense Department uses about 50,000 boxcars a year, Mansfield said Thursday, adding to a shortage of railroad cars that has become a year-around problem instead of the seasonal one usually associated with grain harvests.

Planners Approve River Suggestions

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Planning Commission yesterday endorsed recommendations for improvements to the Petaluma River.

The report submitted by a citizens committee received complete approval from the panel.

The commission's resolution called the report "an excellent informational and source report" and said the county will cooperate with the city of Petaluma in making necessary ammendments to the general plan.

The commission agreed with the report's findings on recreational potential for the river and forwarded the report to the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors for consideration.

The report, completed in April, also suggested that steps be taken to preserve the ecology of the river as well as open space.

Agnew Comes To Praise Murphy And Stays To Lambaste Demos

Addressing some 1,000 persons at a $500-a-plate dinner for Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., who is seeking reelection, Agnew concentrated mostly on rebutting charges by Democratic National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien and Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield.

"If you look at the whole picture," Agnew said, "you will see that there has been a complete reversal of priorities since the Nixon administration took office. In the current fiscal year the expenditures for defense, as a percentage of gross national product, will be the lowest since 1950, the start of the Korean War."

Agnew devoted more than five pages of his eight-page text to attacks on the Democrats. He was frequently interrupted by applause from the partisan crowd at the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

In the area of education, Agnew said the Nixon administration will spend "$2.4 billion less on the military than on education."

In 1968 "with a Democratic administration in Washington, the American people spent $23 billion more on the military than we spent on education at all levels, public and private."

He charged Democrats were "trying to spend their way out of America's imagined difficulties" and would drive the country into socialism were it not for Republican fiscal restraint.

"Some day the American people are going to reject that Democratic cotton candy and leave the fiscally responsible party in office long enough to restore true prosperity without inflation and war." He also jabbed at the news media saying:

"The real story in my speech tonight is the accomplishments of a great senator—George Murphy of California. However, you will probably not see much of that reported tomorrow."

Agnew, who referred to Murphy by his nickname of "Murph," praised him as "a Republican in the best sense of that word. I want you to know that the President needs him and that we want to see him re-elected . . . I am here tonight to praise this man who has tried to solve the problems of our nation in a way that is compatible with our American system.

Grape Boycott Might Just Fade Unnoticed

FRESNO (UPI)—The nationwide grape boycott which came in with a bang two years ago may go out with a whimper—almost unnoticed.

For all practical purposes the boycott ended last month when Cesar Chavez's United Farm Workers Organizing Committee signed contracts with major Delano grape growers putting more than 75 per cent of California's table grape crop under union contract.

At that time Chavez announced that the boycott would continue on the remaining non-union growers.

UFWOC Assistant Director Larry Itliong said Thursday that since then almost all 60 principal grape growers in Fresno and Tulare counties have signed contracts. But growers were continuing negotiations.

Itliong said he was not exactly sure how many growers have not yet signed but said some growers who have not actually signed contracts will be permitted to use the union label on their grapes so long as they use union labor.

Most of the contracts call for $1.75 to $1.80 in hourly wages plus 20 cents a box incentive pay. Overtime is paid at the rate of 25 cents an hour for any work over the 54-hour regular work week.

On other fronts, Itliong said the union is studying a request that the UFWOC organize some 25,000 migrant Puerto Rican farm workers in the East.

"We know there are a lot of migrant workers there who need help," he said. "When we do anything depends on how soon we resolve the problems here in California."

It also was announced that the board of directors of the Coit ranches near Mendota have agreed to a contract.

The agreement with UFWOC provides that the 200 melon pickers at the ranch receive $12.50 a day as minimum pay plus 53 cents a box.

It was inscribed "Warmest best wishes to our good friends, the President of the United Mexican States and Senora Diaz Ordaz on the occasion of a memorable visit to Mexico.

The Nixons also presented a family portrait to their hosts. For ailing Mrs. Diaz Ordaz, there were porcelain Boehm birds perched on a branch.

Angela Davis Placed In Area Of Shooting

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A court affidavit has placed Angela Davis in the San Rafael area on Aug. 7 within three hours of a courtroom shootout that left four dead.

The state attorney general's office made the disclosure in an affidavit used to obtain a warrant to search Miss Davis' 1959 station wagon which was found Tuesday night in front of the home of a Black Panther party member.

The affidavit, filed by Assistant Attorney General Albert W. Harris Jr., stated Miss Davis took a plane from San Francisco to here at about 2 p.m. Aug. 7. The shootout occurred at about 11 a.m.

Harris, when questioned about the affidavit, said authorities do not know where she may be now.

The affidavit, filed yesterday, said the ticket purchase was made "after information of the death of . . . Jonathan Jackson . . . had been made public."
had been made public."

On Aug. 7, Jackson, 17, a frequent companion of Miss Davis, armed three San Quentin prisoners in a courtroom with four guns which records show were bought by Miss Davis.

A shootout followed and Judge Harold J. Haley, Jackson and two of the prisoners were killed.

Miss Davis' green Rambler was found in front of the home of Franklin D. Alexander, 29, a Black Panther and chairman of the Communist Che-Lumumba Club, to which Miss Davis belongs.

Alexander was served a subpoena and questioned Wednesday by Harris. He appeared for the questioning with his wife and three attorneys and reportedly took the Fifth Amendment.

Harris said he questioned Alexander because Alexander was the last person known to possess one of the guns bought by Miss Davis which Jackson used in the shootout. Alexander had the .38-caliber automatic in his possession when he was held briefly during a robbery investigation here in 1968.

Seale Ignores Counsel To Testify About 'The Truth'

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—National Black Panther Party Chairman Bobby G. Seale took the stand against his lawyer's advice today to "testify about the truth" in the murder conspiracy trial of Panther Captain Lonnie McLucas.

Seale testified after conferring in the Superior Court building with chief Panther counsel Charles A. Garry of San Francisco and two other top Panther leaders, cofounder Huey P. Newton and Chief of Staff David Hilliard.

Seale, one of seven other Panthers awaiting trial on charges of conspiring to kidnap and to murder alleged police informer Alex Rackley, took the stand moments after Garry told the court:

"I have advised Mr. Seale not to testify because he faces serious charges, similar to those against Lonnie McLucas."

"I'd like to testify about the truth," Seale said as he faced the court in a blue sweater and dark trousers.

Seale, accused by key prosecution witness George Sams Jr. of ordering Rackley's death, was asked by defense counsel Theodore I. Koskoff if he was aware of the charges facing him.

"I'm aware of a lot of false charges against me," he said.

Seale testified he met Sams in San Francisco in 1968.

"Sams had already been kicked out of the party," Seale said. "Stockley Carmichael was begging me to let him back in after he had stabbed a brother in the leg. That's when I saw him the first time. I've never seen him since."

Sams, who had worked as a bodyguard for Carmichael when Carmichael was leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, has testified that Seale ordered Rackley executed during a visit to New Haven because Rackley, a New York Panther, was suspected of having informed on the Panther 21 arrested in an alleged bomb plot in New York. Sams has pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the Rackley killing.

FBI Reports No Evidence Of Sniper

KENT, Ohio (UPI)—A staff member of President's Commission on Campus Unrest said today an FBI report shows there was no evidence of sniper fire at Kent State University before four students were shot and killed by Ohio National Guard troops.

George V. Warren told the commission that the FBI report into the May 4 shootings indicated the only shots fired were by National Guard troops called to the campus following a series of disturbances.

"The FBI conducted an intensive search for any evidence dealing with the possibility of the existence of a sniper," Warren said, "including an investigation around the firing line for non-military bullets.

"The evidence indicates that there was no person other than a Guardsman who discharged a firearm on May 4, 1970."

The Ohio National Guard contended shortly after the shootings that Guardsmen fired a volley after being fired upon by a sniper.

Brig. Gen. Robert Canterbury testified Thursday that the Ohio Guard, in its own investigation, had been unable to prove that a sniper had actually fired.

Warren also said the report showed 34 members of Troop G, 107th Armored Cavalry, of Ravenna, Ohio, the troops that confronted the demonstrators, were injured by rocks and other missiles.

Warren also told the commission that an investigation by campus patrolmen showed that a .38 caliber revolver found at the scene had not been fired and said a photographer who had been on top of a nearby building was cleared of any possible charges of sniping.

Canterbury told the commission Thursday he had canvassed all the officers at the scene "to determine who, if anyone, gave an order to fire. The answer was negative."

Canterbury, the assistant Ohio adjutant general, gave his first public testimony on the Kent shootings Thursday at hearings by the President's Commission on Campus Unrest.

He was asked if it ever was proven that a sniper fired the first shot.

"No," Canterbury replied.

"There was a shot fired but we have never been able to locate exactly where it came from or who fired it."

He said the guardsmen started firing when "a mob began closing in" and throwing rocks.

The first shot, Canterbury said, apparently came at "a great distance" from the main body of troops and from the left rear. It was closely followed by a volley from the troops, he said.

He did not say whether he believed the first shot was fired by a sniper or a guardsman some distance from the formation facing the demonstrators.

The commission asked no further questions about the "sniper shot" and Canterbury did not mention it again.

"I immediately ran to the right flank, grabbed a couple of people by the shoulder and ordered a cease fire and so did the other commanders," he said.

Canterbury said he then took a count of the guardsmen's ammunition and obtained the names of those who had fired weapons. The troops were ordered not to fire again unless touched by an officer and directed to fire at a specific target.

The presidential commission, headed by former Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, was told it is in a race with the calendar. Several witnesses Thursday urged the commission to convey to President Nixon the frustration felt by college students if it is to head off further campus unrest during the coming school year.

Japanese Fishing Boat Is Seized

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Coast Guard has seized a Japanese fishing boat off the southern coast of Alaska because it was fishing in American waters, according to the Coast Guard.

The ship was identified as the Kaki Maru. It was intercepted earlier this week 9½ miles off Middleton Island in the Gulf of Alaska and taken to Seward.

Lot Concern Delays Subdivision Policy

Concerned about lot width requirements, the Cotati City Council last night delayed action on a proposed subdivision ordinance.

The council said it would attend the planning commission meeting next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the ordinance in more detail.

Councilmen Herbert Winter, Kenneth Garner and John L. Groom said that developers should also be contacted to determine if the ordinance is workable with the required 65-foot lot frontage minimum.

Mayor Alfred Falletti and Councilman Frank J. Dolinsek urged immediate adoption of the ordinance, saying that it provided for variances if developers wanted changes.

Free-Wheeling Marin City CSD Round

The Marin City Community Services District board last night ran into sharp questioning, bickering and a call for coordination.

During a three-and-a-half hour, free-wheeling session, Executive Director Harold B. Brooks Jr., came under fire in his bid for managerial authorities.

Challenges and discontent were expressed as the topics ranged from a charge of improper staff use of gasoline credit cards to placing the 701 planning program under the distict.

Storm clouds gathered at the start when the board leanred the district didn't own the site between the Rosa Building and Drake Avenue selected for a new fire station.

There was a call for the board to fill the fifth seat, vacant since the resignation of Gussie Blakely, who moved, and a proposal to form a new corporation to run the recreation program at the Manzanita Center.

Near the close of the meeting Director Doretha Mitchell charged misuse of the gasoline credit cards, and directors suspended use of the two cards until after a closed session not yet set, to investigate the charge.

The meeting got under way on a low note when Wallace K. Shepherd, interim executive director of the Marin County Housing Authority and county redevelopment agency, reported the district didn't own the fire station site, as it had been assumed.

According to the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the redevelopment agency owns the 1.7 acre parcel covering the planned firehouse site, Shepherd reported.

The agency is required by regulations to sell the land at private market value, but possibly could sell just the "quarter acre or so" needed for the actual site and dedicate the remainder of the parcel as recreation land, Shepherd said. This alternative could cut the land cost, he explained.

Several residents wanted to know why the ownership of the land wasn't determined before the site was selected, and Brooks said it had been believed the district owned the land until just recently.

Brooks ran into objections when he asked that he be given the title of "general manager," a title he said was listed under the state code, and requested that he have repsonsibility for equipment purchases and supervision and employment of staff.

Director C. J. Williams said the proposal called for study, and Edward T. Anderson of 65 Buckelew Street questioned Brooks "taking that authority."

Brooks replied that he has only the authority that the board grants him.

Juanita Cobb, a former member of the district board, told directors, "You cannot relinquish your power to the director."

Collie B. Gaines, a member of the Marin City Council, asked: "The power we invested in the CSD, is that to be taken and given to Mr. Brooks? I don't think that should be done."

Director Arthur Miller said the district used to have rules and regulations on the executive director's duties, but "all the records have been destroyed. "We had a director here before and he didn't have that power."

There also were questions about a trip that Brooks took to Washington in July, for which he asked the district "to share part of the personal expense."

Mrs. Gaines wanted to know if he was paid while gone, given time off or had board permission to leave, but her questions went unanswered.

Mrs. Gaines also wanted to know why the board hadn't called an election to fill the fifth seat on the board, and was told a motion had been made once, but never voted upon.

Directors took a cautious approach toward a proposal by Brooks that a nonprofit corporation be formed to operate the recreation program of the Manzanita Center as a social group work agency.

A nonprofit corporation could qualify for private funds from foundations and the United Bay Area Crusade, whereas the district as a public agency, cannot, he explained.

Directors sought assurances that such a move wouldn't interfere with the operation of the Boy's Club of Southern Marin, as existing nonprofit corporation providing recreation in Marin City.

Brooks said that under the proposal, the activities of the boy's club could be included, and a special appropriation could be set aside for club activities. The club would still have its own budget, he said.

Directors agreed that Brooks and Manford (Manny) Chandler, executive director of the boy's club, check into the feasibility of proposal and report back.

Brooks explained that the nonprofit corporation would pay rent to the district for use of the Manzanita Center. The district would get out of the business of operating "this recreational facility," he said.

At the close of the meeting there were protests from residents because a proposal to switch the 701 planning program to the district from the Marin City Council originated outside the community.

Mrs. Mitchell wanted to know why the board and the community wasn't involved before the proposal was drafted. "We have to live with these decisions. The citizens should have some input," she said.

The proposal came in the form of a memorandum from Thomas E. Cordill of the Marin County Planning Department, liaison representative to the community's 701 planning program.

Shepherd said no decisions had been made and the community could reject the proposal if it wished.

Police Panel Leadership Is Questioned

James O. Quiett, chairman of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, said last night he was tired of seeing the county's police-community relations program "becoming a political football."

"I'm not knocking down the program, but I think it's in the hands of the wrong people, "Quiett asserted at a meeting of the Marin City Community Services District Board in Marin City.

Quiett's comments came as the district received a request from Bella Aaron, chairman of the police-community relations committee, for a representative to serve on a citizens' advisor committee.

"I want people from Marin City to serve on the committee itself, Quiett said. "Black people are tired of being on advisory committees.

Directors agreed to invite Mrs. Aaron and committee members to one of their meetings to discuss the police-community relations program.

With restruturing, and the cooperation of Marin City, the program "can be made meaningful," Quiett declared.

Teens Who Burned Boy Are Sought

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Stockholm police searched today for two teenagers who poured gasoline over a 10-year-old boy and set fire to him Thursday.

A police spokesman said the boy's life was saved by a playmate who wrapped his coat around him and managed to extinguish the fire.

The boy suffered severe burns on his legs but he was reported in fair condition in a Stockholm hospital today.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

La Petite Auberge Points To Smoothness In Fine Restaurant

Half the pleasure in dining out comes from the restaurant's smoothness and skill in serving.

One very good reason why you are there in the first place is to get away from the home table. Not that it does provide excellent fare, but occasionally all members of the family need to be relieved. They want to be pampered a little, to relax and be made comfortable.

Smart restaurateurs know this and employ waiters who can promote this feeling among their patrons. And their tables are almost always well filled.

If it comes to a toss-up between two restaurants, all else being equal, you'll probably choose the one that has the best waiters — even if you don't recognize this as the reason for your choice. You may think you were influenced by something else entirely.

Good waiters are by no means the most subservient. Principally they should be good psychologists, for no two diners are alike. They know when it's time to blend in with the woodwork and remain almost unnoticed and when it's time to give a little play to their own personalities.

One good waiter in a restaurant is an asset. Having a full complement of them is a blessing. It seems to me that La Petite Auberge in San Rafael is so blessed. The dining room staff here is as smooth and capable as you'll find anywhere — from partners Paul Devaux and Pierre Grigaut at the top right down to veteran Joe Palmieri who busses the tables and pours your coffee.

Since the other half of the pleasure in dining at the restaurant must come from the food, I must mention that chef and third partner Roger Poli is as insistent on having a good staff under him in the kitchen as Paul and Pierre are in the dining room.

THE CAPRICE RESTAURANT'S retail wine cellar in Tiburon has a limited supply of one-gallon casks made from wine-seasoned oak staves. Gift package includes two 72-ounce bottles of old tawny porto wine and eight glasses. Engraved brass name plate is available for the barrel at no extra cost for the gift package.

Kirby Atterbury now has a method of purchase of his vintage porto to be stored in Portugal for five years before being shipped to the United States. It saves wine collectors laying away the bottles on their own shelves until the drinking stage is reached.

FRED CHERRY'S WINE DISCOVERIES, San Anselmo has its own champagne vinegar now commencing to appear in stores in Marin and San Francisco. Fred claims it to be so delicate he even has it included in a recipe for a pie.

TRAMPING OUT THE VINTAGE TIME is near for families who plan to make wine for home consumption. Internal Revenue Service regulations permit a properly registered head of the household and his family to make up to 200 gallons of wine a year tax free.

And I know it won't be long before I receive a note from Pietro Pinoni, owner of Pietro's 311 Restaurant in San Francisco, that he's having in the neighborhood youngsters to do the tramping in the basement of his home in Greenbrae.

Every year Pietro observes this ritual and I must say he has become an expert at it. His wine is good, too.

To register with the Internal Revenue Department, the home vintner must fill out the department's Form 1541, "Tax Free Wine for Family Use" and turn it over to the nearest office of the IRS Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division at least five days before you start production.

You can make wine — but making distilled spirits or home brew is something eles. It's forbidden except by a registered distillery or brewery.

IF YOU LIKE to do your restaurant visiting by water, Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael is the place to go. And if you haven't been here for quite awhile, be advised that the docks have been repaired and are in new condition again.

Facilities will accommodate about five average-sized boats, so unless your party constitutes a flotilla there should be plenty of room for you.

JOAN EMRSON of Ross, featured artist at Rubini's in Fairfax, has a showing of batiks which will be on display all through August.

NEW NAME for the Hi Fi Drive In on Mirabella Avenue near the 101 Highway, Novato is Frenchy's Drive In.

AUGUST ZUNINO of Kentfield, who operates Shaw's ice cream and candy store in Larkspur, and Dominic Pomilia of Corte Madera, head a group who have taken over this place. They've refurbished it and are promoting an extensive line of French bread sandwiches. More remodeling is planned later.

Frenchy's is open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

THIS WEEK I ran across Carl Holm, who is chef at Franchini's Tee House at Buckingham Golf and Country Club in Lake County. He tells me that Roy and Bee have done some major remodeling here and their season is a busy one.

Franchini's is located near Mount Konocti, about midway between Lakeport and Lower Lake in the heart of the recreation country. Include it in your next visit to the area.

ENTERTAINMENT at the Lion's Share, San Anselmo, features for tonight and tomorrow night the Flaming Groovies and Loose Gravel with Mike Wilhelm, formerly of the Charlatans. Sunday the Flaming Groovies are on again, along with Abraxas Rising. Auditions and guest performances Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Doors open at 8 p.m. Show starts at 9 p.m.

IN SAN FRANCISCO, a trio of strolling troubadours called the Wry Catchers entertain patrons at the Elizabethan-styled Ben Johnson Restaurant in the Cannery. They appear Tuesday through Saturday nights.

Large Industrial Park Eyed For Bel Marin Keys

Another large industrial park, similar in appearance to Northgate Industrial Park, is planned at Bel Marin Keys north of Hamilton Air Force Base.

Marin Soiland of Soiland and Associates of Bel Marin Keys owns about 250 acres of flat land to the east and south of Bel Marin Keys Boulevard. The area is in county territory just outside the Novato City limits and will be called Novato Industrial Park.

A master plan for the industrial park, drawn up by Carlos E. Gonzalez, will be presented to the Marin County Planning Commission on Sept. 28 at the Civic Center.

"We plan to create a new lake of 50 acres, with Pacheco Creek draining into it," said Gonzalez. "The lake and its shoreline, 100 feet in width, will be dedicated to the county for public use. A 10-acre public park will also be dedicated to the public."

A 32-acre parcel in the industrial park master plan is set aside for 215 mobile homes north of Hamilton runway and adjacent to and just east of the existing 200-unit Las Robles Mobile Home Park.

The rest of the land will be used for light industrial, business offices, and warehousing facilities. "It will be an extension of the Northgate Industrial Park, which is just about filled up," said Gonzalez. "Northgate now has only two unused lots left in the entire 60 or 70 acres. This one will be much larger than Northgate Industrial Park."

Gonzalez estimated that Novato Industrial Park will be worth $2 million in site preparation and utilities, before the buildings or the mobile home park are installed.

State Candidates Urged To Debate

HAYWARD (UPI)—California's two gubernatorial candidates should pool their television money for a series of debates and stop trying to sell themselves as "a bar of soap," says Edmund G. Brown Jr., a candidate for secretary of state.

Addressing a fundraising gathering Thursday, the Democrat declared: "I am concerned that voters will get a very distorted picture of the various candidates if each candidate buys hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of TV time and tries to sell himself like a bar of soap."

He did not mention that Gov. Ronald Reagan's campaign coffers are full while Democrat Jess Unruh is having difficulties raising the necessary funds.

Russian Fishing Fleet Questioned

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has asked Secretary of State William P. Rogers to determine whether the Russian fishing fleet off the California coast is violating U.S.-Soviet agreements.

"I am very much concerned about the Soviet fishing fleet operating off the north and central California coast," Reagan said Thursday in a letter to Rogers.

The governor said his concern was based on unverified reports which "could constitute a disregard for agreements the United States signed with the U.S.S.R. on Jan. 31, 1969.

Governor Hits Nixon's Visit To New Orleans

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Gov. John McKeithen called President Nixon's recent visit to New Orleans "pure hypocrisy" Thursday and said the trip was part of a plot to discredit Louisiana and the entire South.

In a freewheeling impromptu news conference, McKeithen charged the national administration and the Northern press with conspiring to discredit the South. Recent national magazine articles alleging Mafia influence in Louisiana government are part of the plot, McKeithen said.

"We are being used as political pawns by those bunch of hypocrites up there in two ways," McKeithen said. "One, with what they call school desegregation and the second is Mafia influence in state government."

Nixon traveled to New Orleans last week to meet with his Committee of Southern Advisors on Education.

San Francisco Names Negro To Utilities Panel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—For the first time, a Negro has been named to San Francisco's Public Utilities Commission.

Mayor Joseph Alioto on Thursday named to the commission Welton Flynn, 48, an accountant and member of the city's Committee on Crime.

The mayor also named five men to the city's new Airport Commission which on Sept 1 will take over management of the world's sixth largest airport. Previously San Francisco International Airport had been operated by the PUC.

The five are William K. Coblentz, 48, attorney and University of California regent; Wallace R. Lynn, 73, retired rice grower and former PUC member; Joseph P. Mazzola, 53, Plumbers and Steamfitters Union business manager; William E. McDonnell, 45, restaurant owner and PUC president for 2 1-2 years; and John A. Sutro, 65, attorney and State Bar president.

Five Plead Innocent To Cocaine Charges

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Five of seven Marinites charged with conspircay to sell cocaine have pleaded innocent in U.S. District Court here.

Their cases were continued to Sept. 11 and Sept. 14 in the court of Judge Sidney Wallenberg for setting the trial date.

Two of the five, Robert Bernard Ford, 21, and Mark Robert Shanahan, also 21, both of 1106 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, were arrested May 22 at San Francisco International Airport in connection with the sale to narcotics agents of cocaine that would market for $250,000. They are to appear Sept. 11.

Marcia Freet, 27, of 107 Marion Street, Sausalito, also arrested at the airport, and Mitchell Junior Howard, 22, of 9235 Drake Avenue, Marin City, and Steve Howard, 24, of Gate 2, Sausalito, were arrested for a separate transaction April 14 in Sausalito, and are to appear Sept. 14.

The Howards were arrested in Sausalito shortly after the airport bust.

U.S. Will Support Any Korean Unity

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department says it would "welcome any measures that might lead to a relaxation of tensions" between North and South Korea.

A spokesman made the comment Thursday in response to South Korean President Park Chung Hee's recent indication of willingness to explore a reunification of the Koreas. Park had said he was willing to take "epochal and more realistic measures" toward a reunification if Nort Korea renounced the use of force.

Bill Conflict Averted Just Before Vote

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation that would have created regional environmental planning councils throughout California was dropped today by its author just before the Senate was scheduled to give the measure final approval.

The author, Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, discovered at the last moment that his bill, AB 2345, would have conflicted with another measure to create a Metropolitan Transportation Commission in the Bay Area. That measure, AB 363 by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, already is on the governor's desk for his signature.

Knox's bill would have empowered the regional environmental planning councils to do transportation planning as well. But an amendment to the Foran bill provided that the commission must merge with "any multifunctional regional government organization if it has transportation planning responsibilities."

A probable result of passing the Knox bill thus would have been to kill the commission as soon as it got hatched. Under the Knox bill, the Association of Bay Area Governments would have been designated as the regional environmental planning council for the Bay Area.

The association strongly opposed the Foran bill.

A spokesman for Knox said that the effect of the amendment to the Foran bill was not discovered until today.

Rare Shakespeare Folios Displayed At Civic Center

The Marin Shakespeare Festival today hosted county and school officials at a format viewing of rare editions of William Shakespears's works in the Marin County Library at the Civic Center.

Barbara Young, festival administrator, said Brebner borrowed the works from the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington, D.C. They will be on display at the library until next Friday.

Among the collection is the first folio of Shakespeare, printed in 1923, and other plays and tragedies, all published in the 1600s.

Downtown Committee Seeking One Change

By WAYNE RATLIFF

The Novato Downtown Study Committee, in joint session with the planning commission, last night recommended approval of the Sedway-Cooke downtown plan with only one change.

Approved as presented in Sedway and Cooke's preliminary report were plans for the Diablo triangle sub-area, Pinheiro regional center and West Grant sub-area.

The committee recommended that the present commercial zoning of property on Machin Avenue between Grant and DeLong Avenues be retained in preference to Sedway and Cooke's recommendation of office use for the property.

The change, if upheld, would permit Ben Ostlind to proceed with long-delayed plans to construct a pizza hut restaurant on the corner of Machin and DeLong Avenues.

The committee also recommended that the city council and planning commission attempt to contact property owners affected before holding public hearings on Sedway and Cooke's plans for downtown areas to discuss and explain recommendations.

The planning commission participated in discussion but did not vote in last night's meeting because recommendations made in the meeting will be referred to the commission for public hearing before recommendations are presented to the city council, planning director Brian Mattson said.

Plans approved for the pinheiro regional center include attempting to accomodate 250,000 to 300,000 square feet of floor space in initial construction for the shopping center, with expansion to 900,000 square feet later. The center would be located 200 feet scuth of the Atherton Avenue and 2,200 feet north of the DeLong Avenue interchanges on the proposed Highway 101 bypass.

Recommended tenant distribution was 23,600-31,600 square feet for food and food service uses, 400,200-614,000 square feet for general merchandise, 51,000-63,000 square feet for clothing and shoes, 29,300-40,200 square feet for other retail, 14,000-17,000 for financial services, 11,000-13,500 feetf for personal services and 7,000-10,000 square feet for entertainment uses.

A central rapid transit station and motel, conference center and office facilities are also proposed for the area; and Redwood Boulevard (present Highway (11) was to provide primary access to the center.

The East Grant sub-area, bounded by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way, Redwood Boulevard, DeLong Avenue and Vallejo Avenue, was planned primarily for entertainment and office uses. City offices also would be located in the area.

The West Grant area, bounded by Vallejo Avenue, Redwood Boulevard, Tamalpais Avenue and property lines south of Grant Avenue, was planned to be the primary administrative financial and professional service center for Northern Marin and Southern Sonoma counties.

Some retail, personal service and business service uses would be encouraged on ground-floor space.

The Diablo Triangle between Center Road, South Novato Boulevard and Diablo Avenue, was planned to provide quality apartments close to downtown activities and transportation facilities. Neighborhood-serving commercial facilities were to be allowed.

Next study session on the Sedway-Cooke downtown plan and program was set tentatively for Thursday, time and place to be announced.

Youth Cuts Face In Auto Accident

Monchiy Largalsbada, 14, of 13 Melinda Lane, Petaluma, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with facial cuts suffered in an accident yesterday at 10:50 at 125 Liberty Street, Petaluma.

Police had few details on the accident, but said Largalsbada was a passenger in a car which struck a parked car.

Local Firm Fights Army Bid Practice

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Sausalito firm told a federal court yesterday that the Army had made it possible for a competing firm to "obtain two bites at the bidding apple" for a generator contract.

A. G. Schoonmaker Co. is asking a permanent injunction against the Army opening second bids for the contract. Judge Joseph C. Waddy in U.S. District Court already has issued a preliminary injunction.

Schoonmaker, low at $31.7 million when bids were first opened, said it had complied with the Army invitation concerning prices for preproduction and production models of the electrical generators.

M.Y. Sullivan, Schoonmaker executive vice president, said his firm interpreted the invitation as permitting different prices, but Schoonmaker charges the Army privately told Boague Electric Co. of Paterson, N.J., that the prices should be identical.

The difference was the basis for second bids.

"At no time was Schoonmaker advised or put on notice that the Army, Department of Defense or Boague interpreted the invitation as requiring identical prices," declared Alan Y. Cole, attorney for Schoonmaker.

"The information given by the Army solely to Boague and the failure to incorporate this information into an amendment to the invitation offered Boague an unfair advantage over the other bidders, including Schoonmaker, making it possible for Boague to obtain two bites at the bidding apple," Cole said.

With most car makers trying to hurtle you to 60 miles an hour in record time, it's nice to know someone cares about bringing you back.

Volvo does. So we give you something most others don't: four-wheel power disc brakes.

Disc brakes are better than conventional drum brakes because they resist fading even after repeated emergency stops.

Another good thing about Volvo brakes: there are two separate braking systems. Each one is connected to three wheels—two fronts and one rear. Should one system ever fail you still have 80% of your original braking power. You could still get from 60 to 0 in under five seconds.

This is exclusive with Volvo.

Novato Urged To Avoid Creek Project Pitfalls

In planning flood control projects, more attention should be paid to aesthetic values and recreational potential.

Concern for aesthetics came too little and too late in the planning of the ugly oversize, concrete canal which is replacing Corte Madera Creek at Kentfield.

There should be provision for a walkway along the waterway. A bike trail and a horse trail would be even better.

CORTE MADERA Creek, according to the federal government, is a navigable waterway all the way to Kent Avenue at College of Marin. When the present flood control project is complete, navigation probably will be limited to tots' toy sailboats. There will be no way, of course, for tots to get to the water's edge to sail their toy boats, however.

Bel Marin Keys Community Service District is about to embark on a $15,000 study of how flood control needs along a section of Novato Creek can best be met.

Since more than half the money will come from Marin County funds, everyone in Marin has a stake in the study.

Those who do the planning should bear this in mind, as should directors of the District.

NORTH MARIN already has a group organized to work for the development of trails on the banks of Novato Creek. Said group certainly should be consulted for its recommendations on the Bel Marin Keys flood control project.

Bike riders and horsemen have actively sought the development of more trails; they, too, should be consulted.

Novato Creek is recognized as a navigable waterway upstream as far as the Black Point Cutoff highway. Leaders in the Bel Marin Keys boaters' organization most certainly should be invited to express their views on any proposal for flood control work on that section of Novato Creek.

LAST, BUT NOT least, the Marin County Parks and Recreation Dept. has perceived the need and demonstrated an interest in providing water-oriented recreational facilities. That body certainly should be consulted, as should similar interests in the city of Novato since the North Bank of Novato Creek lies within city boundaries.

Only if all this is done can repetition of the mistakes of the Corte Madera Creek project at Kentfield be avoided.

As the Novato Creek Citizens Committee recently emphasized, Novato Creek does have a great potential for enhancing our environment. It should be nurtured and protected.

Tattle-Tale

Is your wash sparkling white, ladies? If so, maybe you ought to feel a little bit ashamed rather than proud as the television commercials would have you feel.

Soaps made from lye and various kinds of fats were the common cleaning agents from time immemorial until the 1930's when synthetic detergents, even the biodegradable ones, contain sulfonates which damage the chemoreceptors of fish, and phosphates which fertilize the algae and other plant life until they overcrowd their environment and die. The plants then decay, using up vital oxygen in the process. Eventually the water becomes a stinking mess in which most fish are unable to survive.

Some of the detergents, such as Axion and Biz, are about 40 per cent phosphates, and the majority are over 20 per cent. There is little doubt that phosphates give us whiter washes.

Perhaps, the time is approaching when a too white washing will be an object of scorn rather than envy, and tattle-tale gray will become the status symbol of the environmentally-conscious.

Postal Reform Measure Might Mean Very Little Improvement

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — One has to be charitable, and at least give the post-office a chance to make good now that President Nixon has signed the great "reform" measure which is supposed take the mail distribution system out of politics, and eventually fix it so the public can get its mail on time.

But while giving the post office its chance, and this probably will be the last one it gets for a long time to come, one has to keep tongue-in-cheek because nothing has been proven as yet; there continue to be all kinds of troubles with the mail, and one cannot help but think the president's signature is merely going to open the door to another nationwide boondoggle.

It's ten to one the reforms, as far as they benefit the public, will be minor. Already, the move is on for eight-cent letters, which no doubt will end up being ten cent letters. If the public got its money's worth out of a ten cent letter, probably the public would be more than willing to pay ten cents to send a letter through the mail.

BUT IT IS disgusting to pay even six cents, and have to put up with the numerous delays that occur in the mailing system.

And another thing no one wants to bet on. Will new postal reform practices eliminate the junk mail which is dished out by the million pieces by the Senators and Congressmen of the nation?

And junk mail it is, designed primarily to cause the re-election of Congressmen. This has been a traditional perogative of congressmen and U.S. Senators for something more than a hundred years, and is not likely to go down the drain simply because the President signs a bill, no matter how valid the premise might be that the public is the victim of a big gyp in this granting of special privilege to those public servants who use the public trough to further their own ends.

PRIMARILY IN the new bill is the authority for the new commission which theoretically will run the postoffice, to set new rates. Mark well the fact there is no authority for abolition of the mailing frank for congressmen, senators, and questionable governmental departments.

Also, there is the authority to increase salaries of postal employees, which no doubt should be increased. But on the other hand, have any of the postal employees considered how much better service they will be able to give for increased pay, and increased postal charges to the public?

And then, changing an emblem isn't going to go very far toward improving the postal service. No matter what kind of emblem the postman wears, he isn't apt to deliver the mail any faster.

HOWEVER, one should be charitable, and adopt an attitude of wait and see.

But it's going to be difficult when one knows that senators and congressmen continue to eat at the public trough on the franking system, while the public is forced to pony up additional funds to foot the bills run up by public servants.

Help Invaluable In Death Cause Study

I certainly wish to express my thanks and deep appreciation for your kindness in making it possible for us to find the "metal detector" man who was the last person to see and talk to George J. Stempel, Jr. The information he gave us was of tremenduous value in our study of just what caused Mr. Stempel's unfortunate death on June 29. I should appreciate it very much if you would express to your city editor my thanks for his aid in making it possible for us to contact this particular witness.

I should mention that a few hours after the appearance of that issue of your newspaper we got a call from this particular individual whom we had sought for in vain for over a month.

Clem Miller's Seashore Worry

There is a "special magic" in the 53,000-acre Point Reyes National Seashore that Congress delineated in 1962, contrary to your editorial of July 13. The magic is not in the number of acres. Rather, it is in the lay of the land comprising the 53,000 acres.

My late husband, Congressman Clem Miller, had seen hundreds of redwoods lost to erosion inside supposedly protected Rockefeller Forest along Bull Creek in Humboldt Redwoods State Park. This erosion was tragically set in motion by logging on private land upstream. Clem was determined that the lesson of Bull Creek be applied at Point Reyes — that the boundaries of the Seashore be based on the lay of the land itself in order to protect the ecological integrity of the Seashore. As he explained to the House Interior Committee in 1962.

"This curtain or backdrop of Inverness Ridge does indeed protect this entire peninsula and it should not be disfigured."

. . . The foresight of Congress in 1962 in setting aside nearly the entire peninsula is everyday more evident. Today Limantour and Drake's Esteros are the last remaining unpolluted estuaries on the West Coast, and the least altered by man. These estuarites, (irreplaceable research areas), can only be protected from pollution by reserving from development the entire watershtd that feeds them, all the way to the crest of Inverness Ridge — as the 53,000 acre seashore will do.

Marin County now finds itself guardian of an incomparable National treasure — Point Reyes. To quote Clem again:

"My own belief is that the overriding priority is the preservation of space, Open Space . . . By the year 2000 our resource-based needs will be 40 times what they are today. Our . . . resources, instead of expanding, are being subjected to murderous pressures to reduce them."

I hope henceforth Marin's only daily newspaper will not align itself with such pressures.

I believe the people of Northern California, after their recent resounding success in persuading Washington to release the $38 million to complete Point Reyes, will insist on the integrity of the original boundaries.

Against Airport At Smith Site

In regard to your editorial, the Smith Brothers' Airport, we who have bought homes in Santa Venetia, only to see an illegal airport sneak in and be accepted, will do our best to keep the Smith field from enlarging. Through our Community Service District, we of Santa Ventia have allowed the airport to stay with the provisions that it would become no larger, not engage in commercial activities, or give flying lessons, all of which we know are taking place by some of the pilots in violation of the use permit.

We are opposed to commercial flying, helicopter, or commute flying because of the added hazard and the extreme noise that this would bring into our neighborhood. Fortunately the courts are now giving large awards for inconvenience caused by airfields, and these are fields that were established early before homes were built around them, not for a field that was dropped into the middle of homes illegally.

If you want an airfield in your own back yard, fine; but we don't want any more noise in our's just to make it more convenient for the wealthy to fly to work or for their personal recreation.

We strongly recommend that more effort be concentrated toward a joint field at Hamilton or Gnoss Field and leave our residential neighborhood alone.

Taxpayers Becoming Political Football?

The lack of progress in Governor Reagan's tax relief plan, for one reason or another, has me convinced more than ever that our politicians are using the taxpayer as a political football.

I would like to point out that they who voted for Prop. 1-A sold their votes to defeat Prop. 9 for $70; then through property reassessment would up with $10 or less.

During our last election the voters were "conned" into voting for the Bagley — Reagan plan, not even the promise of $70 this time!

Perhaps now is the time to remind the voters that the only time Mr. Unruh and Gov. Reagan ever saw eye to eye was in 1968 — about Oct. 10 when they united their efforts to defeat Prop 9. Undoubtedly, neither wanted to spoil a good thing.

TRY AND STOP ME

THE MEALS served in the commissary of a big television station are so bad that the hired help are on the point of open rebellion. The other noontime a guest inquired, "Why is the service so slow here?" His host, a noted band leader, explained bitterly, "They're just waiting for the food to spoil."

THERE'S SUCH a thing as overdoing a pep talk to the hired help, warns Howard Johnson, Jr. "The last time I urged a waiter to show a little more initiative," recalls Johnson, "he rounded up a couple of backers and opened a restaurant right across the street from one of our most lucrative locations."

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

THE EXPERTS find it difficult to expalin this unexpected, perhaps implausible but encouraging record. But here it is from the latest FBI Uniform Crime Report:

For the first three months of this year, as compared with the same period last year, the crime rate for the Northeast rose 4 per cent while the total rate increase for the rest of the country was 16 per cent.

In every category of crime, the record of the Northeastern states — Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and New England — was markedly better than the rest of the nation. Violent crime in the Northeast was up 6 per cent, the rest of the nation up 13 per cent. Property crime in the Northeast was up 4 per cent, elsewhere up 17 per cent.

And the record of New York City itself is best of all. The rate of crime increase was lower in every category, while for example, in Phoenix and Tucson, Ariz., the picture was quite the opposite. The FBI statistics also show that the rate of increase of violent crimes in the major cities in the first quarter of the year slowed by 7 per cent and by only 3 per cent in the nation as a whole.

THIS PROGRESS, however welcome, is not sufficient to alter the fact that crime in the United States has been mounting massively in recent years — eight times more rapidly than the rise in population.

Our system of criminal justice is inadequate. Our system of crime prevention and crime detection is inadequate. The criminal is apprehended in less than 20 per cent of reported crimes, and many more crimes are not reported than are. Our courts of justice are so clogged with backlogs of cases and so slow that they become courts of injustice. Many of our prisons are not much better than the rightly criticized tiger cages in Vietnam. And our correctional institutions have been neglected so long that they are woefully inadequate.

The lower crime-rate increase in the Northeast puzzles the experts who tend to explain it away rather than to explain it. Perhaps they are right in wanting to watch the trend over a longer period before reaching a conclusion.

THEY POINT out that the FBI's statistics come from voluntary reporting by thousands of police districts and vary in quality. But there is little reason to conclude that they are significantly more uneven from one part of the country than from another.

Authorities suggest that since more crimes are committed in fair weather, the winter period of the first three months of the year might help account for the Northeast's crime rate during those months. But the North Central states showed no comparable decline, and the weather was certainly as crime-resistant there as in the Northeast.

The improving crime situation in the Northeast seems to us somewhat meaningful and, if further reports continue the trend, it will deserve study for application elsewhere.

FOR ONE THING, New York City, which has the largest number of people under one police jurisdiction, has made some reforms under Mayor John Lindsay — more police, better qualified, better trained, better paid.

Further, with partial help from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration of the Justice Department, some 4,000 New York City addicts are off heroin through the use of methadone.

A CRIME-SUPPORTED heroin user will commit several hundred crimes and will steal goods worth $35,000 a year to get the money to buy the drugs he craves. Taking 4,000 heroin addicts off the drug and off the streets may well bear directly on the fact that in New York, crimes of larceny — thefts of $50 value and over — dropped from 30,881 during the first three months of 1969 to 26,908 during the same period in 1970.

These developments go to show that the inordinate crime in the United States can be licked when we are ready to do what is needed.

Palestinian Guerrillas May Battle King Hussein Again

By PHIL NEWSOM, UPI Foreign News Analyst

Another, and possibly decisive, round may be shaping up between Jordan's King Hussein and the Palestinian commandos who use his kingdom as a launching pad for their attacks against Israel.

If so, it will be only one result of the U.S.-instituted Arab-Israeli cease-fire which is so severely shaking Arab loyalties.

IT WOULD BE the third confrontation within a year between Hussein and the commandos, and, should Hussein lose again, it could mean the end of the "Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan" as it has been known since June 2, 1949.

As a straw in the wind, Hussein has recalled to active duty his cousin, Brig. Said Bin Shaker, as assistant chief of staff.

Bin Shaker formerly commanded the crack Third Armored Division. Commando pressure forced Hussein to dismiss him during last June's confrontation in which hundreds were killed or wounded in the streets of Amman. Bin Shaker is said to have declared he could wipe out the guerrillas in three days if given a free hand.

PALESTINIANS have accused both Hussein and President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic of betraying the commando cause by accepting a cease-fire with Israel. In this they have been joined in even stronger language by Iraq.

The Iraquis have accused Egypt especially of both treason against the Arabs and cowardice.

AS THE BATTLE lines formed within the Arab world, Egypt expelled 140 Iraqi students accused of belonging to either one of two Arab extremist groups.

Kuwait declared it would continue its financial support for the "hero" commandos.

Lebanon legalized the political party run by the Marxist Leninist leader of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine. He is George Habbash, a declared enemy not only of the Israelis but also of conservative Arab governments as represented by Hussein and King Faisal of Saudi Arabia. Nasser is on his list as a "has been."

LEBANON'S LEFTWING Interior Minister Kamal Jumblatt said the action was taken to present Lebanon's new president "with a fait accompli."

Nasser's renewed willingness to seek a political solution to the Arab-Israeli conflict is said to be based upon two factors: 1. A conviction that the United States is moving away from total support of Israel and closer to what Cairo considers the spirit of the November, 1967, U.N. Security Council resolution calling for Israeli withdrawal from seized Arab territories. And (2), Nasser's hopes for the economic development of the U.A.R. partly through his new partnership with Libya and the Sudan.

Mill Valley Mayor Actually Votes To Keep Government Costs Low

In this lean year, every governmental official is talking about cutting expenses, but few are voting that way. One of the few is Mill Valley Mayor George E. Wickham.

Wickham knows that talk is cheap, but the cost of local government is spiraling. While everyone is throwing up his hands about the soaring cost of living, Wickham actually votes to keep costs down.

In fact, he frequently has been on the losing side of 4-1 votes on the Mill Valley City Council on matters of fiscal cutbacks.

Example: Wickham voted against retaining the position of zoning administrator at a cost of $10,200. He was outvoted, 4-1.

Example: The mayor cast the lone dissenting vote against including $60,000 in the budget for salary increase for city employees. He said he agreed with City Mgr. William H. Cunningham that city employees who work 35 hours a week (mostly women clerks) should receive a smaller raise than other workers.

Example: He voted against allowing $500 mileage expenses for the city's senior citizen worker, and lost, 4-1.

"The only ways I know to cut the budget are to reduce personnel, salaries or expenses," Wickham said. While backing him in principal, the council just couldn't bring itself to cut the payroll.

While not agreeing with the mayor that such economy is necessary, many of the citizens who regularly attend city council meetings admire him for making an honest attempt to trim the city's record budget and reduce the tax rate.

EVEN WHILE the city council is considering enacting a leash law for downtown Mill Valley, compaints are coming in about packs of dogs running loose in other sections of the city.

Mary Engelhart, who lives near Boyle Park, said that she often sees such packs wandering through the park when she walks her Chihuahua there.

As if that's not enough, they even attacked her once. "I was walking in the park when a team of dogs came up to me," she said. How did she know it was a team? "One positioned himself in front of me barking, and one stayed behind, nipping at my heels," she said.

Anxious to make Boyle Park safe for people as well as animals, Mrs. Engelhart called the police department but was told the Humane Society is responsible for enforcing the animal control ordinance.

A woman at the Humane Society said that they do patrol Mill Valley, but there is only one officer for all of southern Marin, and he must divide his time.

Mrs. Engelhart feels that a leash law may be an answer. "But until then," she said, "How am I supposed to walk my dog?"

MILL VALLEY HAS won a five-year battle with the owners of Small World Travel, 25 East Blithedale Avenue. No longer will the globe in front of the office revolve.

Although the city council outlawed revolving signs five years ago, the small world sign, in existence at the time, was exempt from the ordinance.

But discussions with City Atty. Leland H. Jordan convinced the owners of the agency that they should stop the world, and Zoning Administrator Howard R. McGill has reported to the architectural advisory committee that they have.

Drug Abuse Agent Will Deliver Talk

Inspector William Burgess of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau will speak about drugs at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 167 Tunstead Avenue, San Anselmo, at 8:30 p.m. next Wednesday.

The talk, sponsored by San Rafael Council 1292 of the Knights of Columbus, is open to the public free.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Some Light Shed On Finally Giving Mid-Management Raises

Fusselman

Judging by the telephone calls, many of you are somewhat puzzled by the personnel in county management positions not having received a raise along with the other county staff at budget hearings and perforce were granted equality last week.

About 138 employees were involved. These individuals work in the various departments beside those, who being organized, had received increases after the bargaining sessions, which were carried on for many weeks.

These 138 were people with the same or even more extensive background training than those who had been raised. But because they were midway between department heads and staff and had supervisory authority, they hadn't joined the bargaining groups.

THE ADMNISTRATOR Alan Bruce, headed up the supervisors' bargaining committee. Now, each of the supervisors has said that they didn't realize this discrepency existed on that day when hundreds of concerned and irate citizen-taxpayers climbed heartbreak hill to the elegant hearing room out at Brasilia.

Question: Why not? Wasn't Bruce reporting the entire situation to them? Didn't the supervisors know the structuring and operation of county departments? Have they become so insulated from realities, by Bruce that they really don't know?

Some light can be thrown on that by the concern expressed by Supervisor Michael Warnum — to wit — "That such a valuable person as county administrator Alan Bruce might take another job, if not adequately recompenced." Valuable to whom, may we ask? Warnum and Co.? A list of the debacles Bruce has headed up during the past five years would raise the eyebrows way above the hairline.

WELL IN SPITE of all this, the guy who said he was "going to run this county and don't you ever forget it" was given a raise of 5 per cent as of January 1, 1971. — Yup, he's valuable to Warnum & Co. The value is expressed with your coin. Read the following carefully and you can get some idea how it works.

On the front page of the I-J last Saturday was an item that some of you might have missed during the week-end activities. Here it is.

"Mountanos, Staff Map Plans To Tighten Hall of Justice Security." "Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos and his staff yesterday came up with the first of a series of proposals to increase security at the Marin County Hall of Justice.

"The ideas include additional manpower to guard prisoners being taken from the jail to court rooms and back, an alarm system throughout the courtrooms and additional roving building patrols with walki-talkie radios.

"The suggestions have been handed to County Administrator Alan Bruce for staff review of merit and cost. Mountanos said his staff and Bruce probably will meet Monday or Tuesday to review the security plans."

The article went on to say that the superior and municipal court judges will also meet to talk of ways to prevent a repetition of the sad affair of August 7. Their recommendations to be presented to Mountanos and the administrator.

I IMAGINE YOUR reaction to this will be about the same as mine was. Why Bruce? What does he know about security and such things? Why not let the supervisors in on the thinking?

Did the supervisors make this important matter the first order of business for Tuesday's meeting? Nope. Bruce didn't put it on the agenda.

What did they do? They held a workshop with the planning commission on protocol, to determine if toes were needlessly being stepped on. There has been a long continueing desire on the commission's part to be free from restraints — to eliminate the right of applicants to appeal to the board of supervisors on a decision of the commission.

ACCORDING TO reports, the only reference made by Bruce in his oral report to the board was a request for about half a dozen extra deputy sheriffs of two different grades.

Again, doesn't all this wonder you? — Not so good, my friends, not so good.

Novato Planners To Eye Permit For Plant Nursery

The Novato Planning Commission will consider a use permit for a plant nursery and patio supply center near Nave Drive and Highway 101, a the commission's 8 p.m. meeting Monday.

The center plans to provide lawn care and garden and landscaping architecture services.

The planning commission will also consider use permits for temporary operation of the Dolphin Club child day care facility in the Grace Lutheran Church and rental of U-Haul trailers at the Hancock Service Station at 7409 Redwood Highway.

The commission will also consider requests from four Novato Shell Service stations to erect 28 square foot signs on 10-foot poles to advertise giving of coffee mugs in a sales promotion.

Plea Entry Set In Auto Embezzling

Clarence Frank Spanos, 38, accused of embezzling a car from a Mill Valley firm last October, remained in jail today in lieu of $2,500 bail. He was to appear again in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon for appointment of an attorney and to enter a plea to the felony count.

Judge Peter Allen Smith yesterday refused to release Spanos on his own recognizance because three other counties have issued traffic warrants against him.

Woman Faces Further Tests

Grace Patricia Halloran, 24, accused of arson in her home at 10 Gustafson Court, Novato, on Tuesday, was ordered held for further psychiatric examination, by Municipal Judge Peter Allen Smith. The public defender has asked for her release on her own recognizance.

Judge Smith refused to set bail in the case Wednesday, and again yesterday after the district attorney argued that she may be a danger to herself and to the community.

Miss Halloran was to appear again this afternoon for hearing of the doctor's report and possible entry of plea in the felony case.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Aug. 21, the 233rd day of 1970 with 132 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1968 Soviet and other Warsaw Pac forces invaded Czechoslovakia to choke off a growing drive to free the nation from Moscow Communist rule.

A thought for the day: Miguel de Cervantes said, "Fortune may have yet a better success in reverse for you, and they who lose today may win tomorrow."

White House Flag Flies At Night

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American flag now flies over the White House day and night instead of from sunrise to sunset.

Sources said that President Nixon ordered the precedent-setting practice when Mrs. Nixon discovered that it was legal to fly the Stars and Stripes at night if it was illuminated.

Wounded Bird Routine Can Lead Enemy Hunters Astray In Slam

A certain kind of bird has a way of leading hunters astray when they get too close to her nest. She flutters along the ground as though she had a broken wing, always getting farther away from the nest. eBlieve it or not, Los Angeles bridge expert Eddie Kantar is that kind of bird. (If you don't believe it, here's a hand from the recent world pair championship to prove it.)

PROSPECTS SLIM

West led the ten of hearts, and prospects for the slam were not very rosy. Kantar could take the ace of hearts, but he would eventually have to knock out the ace of clubs, and then the hunters would take the heart trick to defeat the slam.

How could Kantar lead the opponents astray?

WOUNDED BIRD

Our hero went into his wounded-bird routine. He went up with the ace of hearts and led the queen of spades from dummy. East covered with the king, naturally enough, and Kantar won with the ace.

Now Kantar drew two rounds of trumps and led the king of clubs to force out the ace.

GUESSES WRONG

East had to guess whether to try to cash the king of hearts or the jack of spades. East really had to be an awful fish to try the jack of spades, but this was a world championship and he actually did lead the spade instead of the heart.

Kantar kept a straight face as he ruffed the jack of spades. Then he ran the clubs to discard dummy's jack of hearts, and the rest was easy.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - K J 9 8
♥ - K 6 4 3
♦ - 8 2
♣ - A 10 9.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

The hand is not quite worth an opening bid. You would bid if your jack of spades were the queen or if your six of hearts or your ten of clubs were the jack. In other words, you need one other point in one of your strong suits.

Better Management Of Wildlands Pushed

A University of California scientist says California could alleviate two of its perennial problems — finding jobs for the unskilled and costly control of wildland fires — by turning more attention to wildlands management.

The unemployed, says Dr. R. Merton Love, of the UC campus a Davis, offer a labor resource to change grassy ranges, woodland, and forest areas from fire hazards into more productive, park-like landscapes for greater public benefit.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Gray Drug Optimistic Earnings Will Resume

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I bought 100 shares of Gray Drug Stores some time ago at 31¼. Do you think I should sell or retain this issue? — F.G.

A. A liberal yield — 6.3 per cent — and history of successful growth make these shares worth retaining for future improvement. Formerly a drug chain operator, Gray Drug has expanded and diversified into a general merchandiser. In addition, the company has strengthened its position in the mushrooming discount department store field. From 1964 to 1968 net income advanced consistently year-to-year, and more than quadrupled from $0.95 million to $4.19 million. In 1969, however, net fell below the previous year's figure due largely to the surtax which amounted to about 10 cents per share. For the first nine months of 1970, sales increased 11 per cent, while higher operating costs reduced per share profits 5 per cent year-to-year. With new store openings continuing at a rapid pace and with volume rising at present locations, management is optimistic that earnings will resume their past growth pace.

Q. I would like to purchase Phillips Petroleum. Is this advisable? — M.A.

A. A leading domestic oil company, Phillips is one of the most broadly based in the industry, with important representation in natural gas liquids, petrochemicals and plastics. Since the future livelihood of any integrated oil firm depends essentially on its ability to develop reserves, Phillips' North Sea discovery this June is of major importance and greatly enhances the company's prospects. Phillips is also in an enviable position with respect to the natural gas industry. Company owns what is probably the largest U.S. natural gas reserve stake of any single concern — another big plus in view of the growing shortage of this energy source. Although gross income managed to show a small gain in the first half, share earnings declined slightly to 80 cents from 82 cents . Purchase is recommended.

New Natural Gas Discovery Is Told

NEW YORK (UPI) — Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) and Royal Dutch Shell has announced what appears to be a natural gas discovery of commercial importance in the North Sea 53 miles off Den Helder, Holland.

If so, it would be the second commercial petroleum discovery in waters off Holland. The first field discovered by Tenneco, Inc., is not yet in production.

Upbeat Near Day's Close Market On

NEW YORK (UPI) — Signs that inflation may be slowing kept the Stock Market on the upbeat today. Turnover was moderately active.

Shortly before 2:30 p.m. the Dow Jones Industrial Average of 30 selected blue chips was ahead 10.48 at 740.08.

Of the 1,565 issues traded, 994 advanced and 305 declined. A four hour volume of 9,600,000 shares rose from the 6,940,000 traded in a comparable period yesterday.

The Labor Department's announcement today that consumer price index rose at the same rate in July as May and June buoyed investors analysts said. "Many investors feel that inflation is flattening out," one analyst said.

A spokesman for the Labor Department said prices showed "a general acceleration until about the first of the year and a slowing down since then that has become more pronounced in June and July."

The department added that spendable earnings of rank-and-file workers rose at a greater rate than the consumer price index—indicating their purchasing power improved.

"As more news comes in, more investors are coming off the sidelines," another analyst commented. "There is a growing tendency to 'want to' believe the government reports."

Denny's Restaurants, Gulf Oil, Texaco, Firestone Tire, Westinghouse, Rollings and Eastern Air Lines were actively traded issues.

Motors were firm, and analysts said they were reacting to an article in the Wall Street Journal which says the chances of an auto strike are lessening.

Most other major groups were firm with many quality issues showing sizeable gains.

WILLIAM HAMM JR.
A Ma Barker victim

Hamm, 76, Dies; Figure In Kidnaping

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) —William Hamm Jr., heir to a St. Paul brewery fortune and victim of a sensational ransom kidnapping by the Alvin Karpis-Ma Barker gang in the prohibition era, died Thursday.

Hamm, 76, was honorary chairman of the board of the Theodore Hamm Brewing Co., St. Paul, and the third generation of his family active in the brewing company management.

On June 15, 1933, two years after Hamm had become president of the firm, he was approached by a member of the Alvin Karpis-Ma Barker gang as he was walking home from the brewery for lunch.

Thinking the stranger was an out-of-town business customer, Hamm extended his hand in greeting and was quickly forced into a waiting car occupied by three other men.

Hamm, then 39, was taken to Bensenville, Ill., a Chicago suburb, and released four days later unharmed near Wyoming, Minn., after his family—responding to a series of anonymous telephone demands—paid out $100,000 in ransom.

The then-fledgling Federal Bureau of Investigation pinned blame for the kidnapping on the Karpis-Barker gang.

Karpis avoided numerous traps set by FBI agents. He eluded FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover's agents in a six-hour gun battle at an Oklawaha, Fla., hideout in which Ma Barker and son, Fred Barker, were killed and another Barker brother, Arthur, was captured. He wriggled out of another trap a few days later in Atlantic City, N.J.

A picked squad of G-men finally seized Karpis on May 1, 1936, in New Orleans. He was returned to St. Paul, tried for the Hamm kidnapping and sentenced to life in prison. He was freed in January 1969, and went to Canada.

Charles J. Fitzgerald, another man sentenced to a life term in the kidnaping, died in Leavenworth Federal Prison in 1945.

Hamm became chairman of the board and, following his retirement in May 1966, honorary chairman.

He is survived by two sons, two grandchildren, and three sisters.

Mental Patient Stabs Man, Self

CINCINNATI (UPI)—A mental patient walked into a bar Thursday night and without a word plunged a hunting knife into the back of a complete stranger and then killed himself.

Police said Fred Clayton, 41, walked away from the Veterans Administration Hospital at Lexington, Ky., earlier in the day and took a bus to Cincinnati. He purchased the hunting knife at a store a block away from the bar, officers said.

Witnesses said the man walked into the bar sat down and ordered a beer. Without uttering a word, he suddenly stood up and stabbed William Going, 35, in the back seven times.

Ross Adopts Budget; No Increase In Tax

The Ross Town Council last night adopted its 1970-71 budget of $266,808, keeping the town's tax rate at its present $1.72 per $100 assessed valuation.

The budget had been tentatively approved at the August 14 meeting.

It includes a 5 per cent pay increase for all town employees retroactive to July 1. Although the tax rate will remain at $1.72 per $100 assessed valuation, the total tax bill to Ross taxpayers will be somewhat higher because of an increase of nearly 10 per cent in the town's assessed valuation, according to councilman John H. Chase.

Breakdown on the 1970-71 tax rate is $1.13 for general government, 29 cents for parks and boulevards, 11 cents for retirement and 19 cents for drains and flood control.

The town council also met with the Ross School District trustees and renewed the yearly maintenance and capital improvement agreement for Ross Common.

Both bodies unanimously approved the agreement, which provides that the school district assume 60 per cent of the Ross Common maintenance costs, with the town paying the rest.

A joint liaison committee was also formed, with Councilman Julie Osterloh representing the town council and Trustee H. Jack Wyman representing the school board.

The councilmen and trustees agreed to construction of an 80 to 100-foot-long fence along Corte Madera Creek at the south end of Ross Common, at a cost estimated at about $500, with the two governing bodies splitting the amount 60-40.

Family Activities, Tours For Marinites

By MOLLY MARIN

Dr. and Mrs. P. R. Danford of Mill Valley have been receiving news of many activities of their family from many places. Most important was the news of the birth of a daughter, Julie, to Dr. and Mrs. Paul Backman (Debbie Danford) of Raleigh, N.C. The Backmans will soon move to Clements, S.C., where Dr. Backman will be doing research at Clements University. The Danfords are planning a trip to see their new granddaughter in October.

Dr. and Mrs. Michael Passovoy (Carol Danford) of Eltham, New Zealand, went on a skiing trip following Carol's completion of her last paper on South Asian culture for her graduation from San Diego State College.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Jorgensen of Santa Rosa (Susan Danford) are visiting his parents in Syracuse, N.Y. The Danfords' 16-year-old son Bill was just graduated from the National Outdoor Leadership School directed by the famed rock climbing specialist Paul Petzol in Lander, Wyo., and is acting as an assistant leader on mountain trips in the area. He will be home on Sept. 10.

FORMER MARIN supervisor and Sausalito councilman, Randolph N. (Rudy) Pettersen, is vacationing for two weeks with his daughter, Adeline Thompson of Martinez, in his home town, Bergen, Norway.

The 83-year-old Pettersen of Forest Knolls is a former seaman, ferryboat operator and Golden Gate Bridge construction worker and was both international light heavyweight and heavyweight boxing champion.

VISITING MR. and Mrs. Rodger Painter of San Rafael is her mother, Mrs. Sidney E. Baker of New Castle, Ind. An artist, Mrs. Baker was president for many years of the Artists' Guild in New Castle, where her husband was mayor for 22 years. She is enjoying sketching and painting in oils various scenes in Marin.

MARY HALEY Cook who will become the bride of John Earl Goodson on Sept. 5 at the Mill Valley Community Church, was honored at a shower given by her bridesmaid, Carol Berry, at her home in Corte Madera.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Cook of Mill Valley, and the future bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Vincent B. Goodson of Vacaville.

VACATIONING IN Silver Springs, Fla., is the James W. Knight family of Fairfax.

MRS. ALTHYA Youngman was hostess at a cocktail party at her home in Sausalito Wednesday to introduce her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clark of Old Greenwich, Conn., to friends. Mr. Clark, who is head of public relations and personnel for the Bunker Remo Corp. in New York, is in the Bay Area both on vacation and for business purposes.

DR. AND Mrs. William Pemberton of Mill Valley have just returned from the Hawaiian Islands, where Dr. Pemberton gave lectures for the U.S. Civil Service in his field of communication at the Illikai Hotel in Honolulu. They also spent three days on Kauai.

MRS. MELVIN MITCHEL

National Education Association Says Women Are Getting Cheated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The educated woman is being cheated in the job department.

No, this is not a woman's liberation movement spokesman sounding off. It is the National Education Association NEA. One of NEA's experts refers to discrimination against women as a "crippling" process.

Fifty years after women won the vote, they still suffer "from discrimination because of their sex, and many educators and public officials are charging that the American public school and university systems are largely to blame," says an NEA release.

Dr. Donald Klein, behavioral scientist with the National Training Laboratories Institute for Applied Behavioral Science, associated with NEA, puts the problem this way:

"It does seem to me the university trained women of the last generation are badly crippled in terms of what many of them are able to do with their lives, the way they use their skills and talents."

U.S. Department of Labor statistics show that nearly 30 million women in this country work outside the home. One in 10 is head of a household.

Yet, says NEA, the median income of a white woman with a high school education or better is $4,100 per year compared to a black man with less than a high school education who earns $4,500.

BLACK WOMEN with a high school education or better average $3,000 annually compared with white men with less than a high school education who earn $7,000.

Fewer than two per cent of the working women make over $10,000 a year.

Mrs. Elizabeth D. Koontz, director of the Women's Bureau of the labor department and former NEA president, has urged educators to examine curriculum at the secondary level, if not earlier, which tends to segregate the boys from the girls even before they join the labor market.

Mrs. Koontz calls for opening doors to new vocational opportunities, in high schools, in technical institutes, on the job and in apprenticeship programs. Don't put the label "women's work" on a job and keep women in the traditional occupations — secretaries, nurses, teachers, or assistants.

NEA SAYS that clearly the schools are not preparing girls for lucrative jobs. But the boys are introduced to the sciences, business management and the top professions of law, medicine, engineering and politics.

Teaching is open to women, but even here "discrimination rears its ugly head," says NEA.

It quotes from the report of the President's Task Force on Women's Rights and Responsibilities published last April.

The report says discrimination is even more noticeable in graduate and professional schools which may account for the fact that only 5.9 per cent of America's law students and 8.3 per cent of its medical students are women.

NEA STRESSES that even in education, the lower paying jobs are the ones open to the girls. Men constitute only 12 per cent of the elementary teaching force, but account for 78 per cent of the principalships. On the high school level, 96 per cent of the principals are male. And a 1968-69 Higher Education Directory notes that almost no women are college presidents outside of Roman Catholic women's colleges. In a survey of 2,841 colleges, only 211 are headed by women.

NEA adds that there are only two women school district superintendents out of 13,000 and of the 50 chief state school officers, only one is a woman.

Discrimination carries over to salaries, NEA says. The media income for women teachers in higher education for instance, is $1,000 below that of men.

Teens Wowed By Seeing How They Look On Video

London Express Service

NOTTINGHAM, England — Closed circuit television experiments have had a dramatic effect on teen-agers at a Nottingham Youth Club.

Video tape recordings were used to show the youngsters just how they look to others — and some of them were shocked by what they saw.

Said Storey: "Robbie Burns once said: 'If only we could see ourselves as others see us' and this got me thinking about the application of closed circuit television.

"I realized that most of us go through life with a totally false impression of how we appear to others.

For three months Storey used $12,000 worth of television equipment at Radford Youth Club in Nottingham.

"At first some of the youngsters were terrified of seeing their own images but gradually they were persuaded to cooperate. The most dramatic effect was a general smartening up in appearance," said Storey.

"Some youngsters abandoned irritating mannerisms which they never knew they had. Basically they became much more confident, well balanced people."

The experiment's biggest success was with a youth who invadiably turned up at the club in his overalls and a greasy jacket.

"After he had seen himself on the video recordings he suddenly turned up one evening in a smart suit. He looked like a completely different person," added Storey.

Recruit Graduates During Summer

URBANA, ILL. (UPI) — A college placement specialist has suggested the expansion of on-campus recruiting to include summer interviews.

Roland Swaim, coordinator of placement at the University of Chicago Circle, said warm-weather enrollments are continuing to grow and it is "increasingly difficult to provide the same placement service for summer graduates as for June and mid-year graduates."

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Sylvia Gioia Caesar, a University of Munich graduate in psychology and holder of a Fulbright fellowship, believes that behavior therapy, the new approach to psychotherapy, may be the best way to help not only adults, but also children and especially students with their daily problems.

Shocked at the high rate of suicide among students in her country, she feels a faster and less expensive method than psychoanalysis is needed to deal with personality difficulties and crisis situations.

Sponsored by the German-American Club in Munich, Germany, the 22-year-old German is in this country to continue her studies in behavior therapy, since opportunities in the field are greater in the United States than in Germany. She is staying with the family of Mrs. Richard Parino in Mill Valley on referral by the Experiment in International Living until she leaves to enter the University of Arizona at Tucson this fall.

SHE IS impressed with the Behavior Therapy Institute in Sausalito, which, when founded in March, 1966, by Mrs. Marian Frick of Sausalito, was the first such clinic in the world.

"I'm preparing for a career as a psychologist with specialty in behavior therapy," Sylvia said. "I worked under Dr. Brengelmann at the Max-planck Institute of Psychiatry in Munich, but it had no facilities for studying behavior techniques. Most therapists there came from America, and that is why I cam here."

The tawny blonde, who speaks English fluently except for technical terms, went on to explain why she feels the behavior approach is superior to psychoanalysis.

"When a behavior therapist sees a child acting in the wrong way, he doesn't ask why, as is necessary in Freudian analysis, believing that the child has simply learned wrong behavior and has to learn new behavior. It is a matter of re-training him instead of having him lie on a couch and tell his story. A child's program is one of reinforcement or desensitizing.

"For example, if a child is afraid of a dog, you begin by finding out how much fear he has. The lowest degree may be a picture of a dog, and the highest may be a dog confronting him. First you show him the picture of a dog and reinforce him to see it without fear by accompanying the showing of the picture with a positive, pleasant stimulus, such as music, until he becomes desensitized to dogs. You have to find out what is right for the particular child.

"OR NEGATIVE reinforcement may be used, as in toilet training, when water in the bed coming in contact with a device causes a slight electric shock, which wakes the child and stops the bed-wetting. However, this is controversial. Some psychologists say you can't work with negative reinforcement. In this case the child may develop a fear of electric shocks. It is experimental."

SYLVIA GIOIA CAESAR

The young psychology student explained why she prefers the behavior therapy approach.

"It is useful in all situations in daily life with both adults and children, and it is an active solution, encouraging people to reply on themselves, not the therapist, who only helps find the way. Psychoanalysis is enormously expensive because it sometimes takes four or five years, and patients become dependent. Because it is so lengthy, psychoanalysts can take only a limited number of patients, and also there are not enough of them.

"This is very important for so many students. At the University of Munich, where there is so much depression, the rate of suicide is extremely high.

Sylvia traces the cause in German universities to fear of examinations and to loneliness, which oddly enough, she says, is worse among students living in dormitories than among those living alone in their own apartments.

"STUDENTS NEVER have tests until the very end of their study, when a huge examination is given, and they have only two chances to take it. Failure means they are out permanently, and fear of failure causes many suicides."

As to why students are more lonely in dormitories than when living alone, she thinks this is probably related to the fact that loneliness is exaggerated in a large group when there are no close relationships.

"Most people need positive reinforcement in our overcrowded world today," she emphasized. "The most important reinforcements are to feel you are not alone and to work for an important cause, such as helping others with their problems. Society will be destroyed if we become too alienated from each other."

This is one of the reasons for the growth of communes, Sylvia suggests. Invited to live in one herself, she refused, observing that most of them were not successful because members started without really knowing each other first.

Returning to the subject of fear, Sylvia said she wrote a thesis based on her original research on "The Incubation of Fear, or How Fear Develops," and concluded that even the anticipation of fear can suppress learning. But she also found that many people worked better in a frightened situation because they worked harder to overcome their fear.

"We are not like animals in this respect,' she says. "We can desensitize ourselves to fear. Behavior therapy is the normal way to overcome our problems."

Widely traveled, Sylvia says her greatest hobby is meeting and getting to know people in many countries. With her keen interest in their problems, it seems likely she will make her mark in her chosen field.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

DEAR HELEN:

I'm not in love with my boss, so how do you explain the jealousy I feel when he shows interest in another secretary?

He is married. His family is great. I like his wife. And I'm married to the only man in my life. Maybe the fact that I've become an office wife has something to do with my feelings.

My boss has never shown interest in other women workers before, though he is quite attractive. Now he seeks out this new woman, and though she does nothing to really encourage him, I can see mutual attraction.

Why should this bother me when I'm not involved? — MRS. GREEN EYES

DEAR MRS. GREEN:

You're confusing jealousy with the natural protective instinct a good office wife always has for her boss. Also, you're human and female, so even though you don't love him, you do love that No. 1 spot in his business life. And you're worried too, because you see a possible threat to a great family.

Why not play it as any good wife would? Be aware, trusting, but a little bit sneaky. Tell the new girl about your boss' terrific family relationship, and steer her toward a younger single fellow in the company. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband has been overseas for a year and I got careless. Not the way you think: with my weight. When you're lonely and bored, the refrigerator is just too handy.

He'll be home in about three months, and I need a crash course in "The Power of Positive Shrinking."

Is it really true that a reducing salon can take off "up to eight inches in one day?" — 178-POUND WEAKLING (FOODWISE)

DEAR 178:

Not without a special rubber control suit which isn't for everyday wearing. And remember, this doesn't mean an overall eight-inch shrinkage, but the totaling up of measurement-loss from hips, waist, thighs, stomach, etc. And it isn't "lost," just squeezed in.

A salon can help you reduce (average cost: $200 for a six-months' contract, often not cancelable) but only if you stay on a strict diet. There is no miracle way to grow thin without cutting down on calories, though exercise, of course, burns them, and tones muscles.

See your family doctor first (not a weight clinic that offers pills without thorough examination) and then I'd suggest you join a club like "Overeaters Anonymous" or "TOPS." Group participation does wonders for your won't power — and it's a lot easier on your pocketbook too. — H.

P.S. for local addresses of reducing clubs, inquire at your library, or write to: OVEREATERS ANONYMOUS, P.O. Box 3372, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212; or TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly), 4575 South Fifth Street, Milwaukee, Wis., 53207.

DEAR HELEN:

My reaction to the letter from "Back To Nature" (whose youngsters don't like clothes):

Congratulations, lady. I'm a 67-year-old practicing Christian, a man who believes that if more boys and girls were accustomed to seeing each other as they are, there would be none of the curiosity that leads to preoccupation with sex.

Sex is an important, marvelous part of the bodies we live in, but it is not everything. Why try to keep it a deep, dark secret? As for sleeping in the nude, it's the only way to go. — ANOTHER "BACK TO NATURE"

FALL TIES are so heavily textured that they are almost three dimensional. This boldly printed tie has cross stripes of deep repp and is designed to be worn with the new deep tone stripe and all over textured shirts.

Textured Stripes In Deep Tones For New Men's Shirts

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — The news in men's fall shirts is deep tone stripes with white accents, textured stripes including satin and raised, embroidered stripes, all over textured shirts and prints and printed stripes. But the real big news is three-dimensional jacquard weave shirts.

Deep tone shirts are still a big seller and the leading colors are blue, gold and green and some red and yellow. Shirt styles are little changed —long points up to four inches, a hight- two-inch collarband; two-button barrel cuffs seem most popular with some variations on French cuffs. A few white collar and cuff numbers were seen.

Here is what some of the leading manufacturers are showing:

Hathaway: Colors less obvious, like the old rose of an artist's chalk. The newest prints are stripes inspired by the tapestries of Verasilles. Another shirt has satin stripes in deep colors, often with white.

Lanvin had a silky shirt with widely spaced ruby, green, blue and rust against a white background. An a new line, the Romentino, in corded silk, woven geometrics and clipped figures.

John Weitz for Excello shows a bold print shirt, tapered fore and aft, with two-button suffs and in permanent press usually used by cheaper shirts.There were new diagonal weave stripings, a tapestry look and multi-colored random stripes.

Hardy Amies concentrated on the suit-shirt color coordination with lighter grounds, printed and woven and mostly woven. There were overall geometric weaves in soft muted colors, a random polka dot in anything but muted colors, herring bones, tapestry stripes and collars as long as 4½ inches , semispread.

Oleg Cassini by Barry Boonshaft: He pioneered the deep, deep tones and still has them in 22 different colors. But 60 per cent of the business is in stripes and with high surface interest — satin and corded stripes including one in blue, black, orange, tan, blue and beige. There was a print in a swirling geometric pattern in dazzling colors.

Pierre Cardin: All fly fronts with architectural seams and two collar styles, both long and pointed. Eagle, which makes Cardin shirts, had an "Innkeeper apron," a cotton darby with a black and white stripe and a wide, wide collar. Another was the Hook and Ladder, which has a raised stripe and a cross ladderlike effect. Schiapareli had a high surface interest with many jacquard stripes.

Gant: There were more than 200 patterns of stripes and 24 solid colors, and most were shown with coordinated ties. Perhaps the most important were the textured varistripes with white grounds. Some others were overall dobby weaves, woven stripes in a semi basket-weave dobby.

Bill Blass concentrated on jacquard weaves in allover geometrics and allover Greek key design. Collars were very widespread and points were four inches long. There were collar stays nearly an inch wide to give body to the collar point.

Bill Miller for M. & D. Simons: Many of his shirts were designed for wear with vest suits and "nonsuits" and there was much collar and sleeve interest with sharply contoured bodies. One called the Submarian showed paisley stripes on pale beige.

Van Heusen launched its "designer label" look with novelty fabrics that include intricately woven Jacquards in link effects, damask swirls patterns, clipped designs, fancy stripes and lines. Colors include subtle mauves, gray , pale golds, cream, mint, soft pinks and blues . Creighton: Again it was stripes and with high surface interest, including herring bones.

ON BEING BLACK

Black Children Need Homes

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

As I entered the lobby of the adoption agency, a volunteer worker in a starched pink apron stood holding a bundle of dimpled elbows and balled fists. The infant, about five months old, had huge dark eyes, long lashes and a head full of curls. A single tear hung precariousy on the edge of his brown chin.

How in the world, I thought, could this beautiful child be unattached for a single minute? How could he not be snapped up immediately by anxious, adoptive parents?

The fact is, however, that even though the number of white adoptive parents has now surpassed the number of white children available for adoption, the number of black children still far exceeds the number of adoptive parents available for them.

ONE LOCAL agency reports relatively few black families indicating an interest in adopting children. Conversely, few black girls come to them for placement of their infants.

This is not particularly surprising. For a number of reasons, blacks have not traditionally been involved in the arena of legal adoption.

First, black people have historically cared for their own. An illegitimate child is brought into the existing family unit and cared for as best possible. Illegitimate children have not traditionally been held with the same disdain in the black society as in the white society.

If for some reason the child was not cared for by the immediate family, it was given to a relative, close friend or neighbor to be cared for, without the benefit of legal adoption. This practice, indeed, has caused much friction and frustration.

Second, any black children put up for adoption have had a limited chance of being adopted. Obviously, many black mothers figured the child was going to have it rough anyway, so they might as well rough it together.

Third, because of economic inequities, most black couples have been preoccupied with the mere survival of their own family members and consequently there was little thought given to officially adopting other children.

TODAY, OF course, with a few more blacks moving into the middle-income bracket, there is quite a fervor to adopt these children.

The economic consideration is undoubtedly necessary, but unfortunately it eliminates many blacks who would make excellent adoptive parents but who very probably don't qualify because of comparatively low incomes and small living accommodations. This is particularly sad because there is still a surplus of black children who need homes and loving parents.

Several organizations seek adoptive homes for black children. In this area the Minority Adoption Committee (MAC) and various groups across the country called Parents for Interracial Adoptions are active.

There is now a movement away from the traditional matching of parents and adoptive children. Emphasis is being placed on families which can relate to, appreciate and love differences in their adopted children. This attitude ought to whittle down that unadoptable group to a bare nothing.

Changes For Femme Role

STANFORD (UPI) — As more women enter man's world of work, families may become smaller because women may feel less need to justify their role in society by having children.

This thought is offered by a Stanford University psychologist, Joseph Katz, who says that among all women who obtained a doctorate degree 10 years ago, four out of five are now employed full time.

Katz said his studies showed that more than four out of five women now in college plan to work after their children are grown, and men agreed with their objective.

Coming this Saturday in Marin Magazine

The Independent-Journal Marin Magazine tomorrow continues its series of historical features completed by the late I-J historian, Florence Donnelly, prior to her death. The subject this time—the Tiburon Peninsula and Belvedere Island. It is the story of one of Marin's most colorful and most interesting area—and of the men responsible for its development. It is a story, too, of bitter legal controversy over land ownership.

It's car show time in Marin, what with the annual Town & Country Village Auto Show scheduled to take place at Strawberry on Sunday. So tomorrow, the Marin Magazine spotlights an unusual automobile and its owners. The subjects are a 1929 Packard Runabout, Model 6-33, and the John Sweenys of Sausalito who own it and refer to it affectionately as their "Little Old Lady." It's a story Marin's many car buffs will enjoy.

Principal Figure In Inquiry—A No Show

Everybody but the key person himself showed up yesterday at a meeting to decide whether a sheriff's inspector should be disciplined for a series of patrol car accidents, particularly for the latest mishap which occurred March 12.

Inspector Kenneth L. Irving, 38, failed to appear before the Marin County Safety Commission and was criticized for not showing up.

Appearing instead were Sgt. George Reuss, sheriff's training officer, and Ronald Retana, chief of the sheriff's inspectors bureau. Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos and Undersheriff Sidney Stinson showed up just before the close of the meeting.

The commissioners set a special meeting for 9 a.m. Monday in Room 332 at the Civic Center to consider Irving's case.

"Why isn't Mr. Irving here?" asked Supervisor William A. Gnoss, a member of the safety commission. "I'm very disappointed the man is not here. I don't think he had a good excuse. He's no busier than I am."

County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom and Commissioner Paul Brusseau were also critical of Irving's absence.

Retana said it was all a misunderstanding. He said he called the commission chairman, who happens to be Sgt. Robert Bertrand of the sheriff's office, last night. Retana said Bertrand told him the meeting had been called off. Retana said he therefore assigned Irving on an Oakland assignment this morning.

Richard L. Uchida, commission secretary, submitted a detailed report on Irving's accident record and recommended that Irving be suspended for 10 days without pay.

He said Irving had been involved in six accidents in the past 11 years. The latest was a one-car mishap on Nicasio Road at about 12:15 a.m. on March 12. Irving's patrol car went off the road near the Howard Ranch and severed a telephone pole.

Irving left the car there overnight and went home. A California Highway patrolman saw the damaged car the next morning and turned in the accident report. The car was towed away by a Fairfax garage.

Irving then called the high way patrol at 9:45 a.m. to give his statement.

"The vehicle was left there overnight," said Bloom. 'Why didn't he report it?" Bloom said the patrol car has valuable equipment inside. "Any of us, if we left a damaged car over night without reporting it, would be crucified."

Mario Balestieri, deputy director of public works, and Wayne Diggs, fleet dispatcher for the county garage reported this morning that Irving's car was in good shape. Even after the March 12 mishap, several mechanics inspected the vehicle and found nothing faulty with the steering mechanism, said Diggs.

Commissioner R. Allan Ballard and Reuss criticized Uchida for releasing the information to the press yesterday.

Referring to Wednesday's report in the IndependentJournal, Ballard declared: "If that isn't prejudging, I don't know what the hell it is."

"I don't go along with the article," added Reuss. "If the public is entitled to it, it could have been offered after his (Irving's appearance and after the decision."

Uchida replied that the commission is a public agency, and subjects discussed in public meetings are a matter of public record.

Commissioner Paul Brusseau said he saw nothing in the news article that drew a conclusion. "This was before us at the last meeting, and I see no conclusion here whatsoever."

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Parents' Magazines, unless otherwise indicated. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

Family

"Funny Girl" — Partly fictionalized biography of comedianne Fanny Brice. Streisand recreats her Broadway musical role that is extravagantly mounted and lavishly costumed.

"OUT of Towners" — Very broad satire of hazards of New York life and misadventures of a small city businessman who brings his wife along for a job interview. Hilarious comedy.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Cheyenne Social Club"— Two carefree cowpokes inherit a bawdy house with six prostitutes. It is adult material masquerading as family fare. It lacks wit, taste and honesty. Stewart and Fonda deserve a better vehicle.

"Paint Your Wagon" — A lusy, irreverent script is framework for a musical set in a mining camp during Gold Rush days. Elaborately mounted broad comedy, raucous and at times tasteless, not suitable for young children.

"Reivers" — A weekend adventure when a 11 year old boy loses his childhood innocence and discovers the waywardness of man. Story has good human values, but it is regrettable that the action in a brothel makes the film unsuitable for younger audiences.

"Sterile Cuckoo" — A kooky college girl and a boy who is serious and square. Their love affair and first sex experience are told with simplicity and insight. Acting excellent.

"Tell Me That You Love Me, Junie Moon" — Three people with crippling defects meet as patients in a hospital and decide to share a house when released and attempt to adjust to the world.

"Too Late the Hero" — Tense war drama that pays lip service to peace but the scenes of violent combat on South Pacific island indicates where its heart really is. Acting and direction good.

"Z" — Remarkable film about a political assassination. Powerful combination of action and suspense providing profound insights into today's troubled politics. Subtitles in English.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Death of a Gun Fighter"— Sadistic western with so many people gunned down in the bloody melodrama that the story plot is lost.

'Getting Straight" — Satiric melodrama that tries to give both sides of student rebellion on college campuses as experienced by a student-teacher. Violence and sex scenes and foul language are abundant.

"Woodstock Festival" — Exciting film that tells the story of the happening last summer. Excellent rock music, much nudity, obscene language and use of druges and love making. Parental guidance advised.

ADULTS ONLY

"Loving" — The quiet desperation of suburban life is artfully explored in story of a commercial artist on the brink of disaster. Realistic frank language, sex scenes.

"M-A-S-H" — Hilarious, subtle anti-war comedy of three army surgeons who develop outlandish life-style to survive the gore that passes before their eyes. Sex, nudity and profanity.

Sanitary Staff To Make New Discharge Tests

The San Rafael Sanitary District board has directed its staff to apply a range of testing of all dischargers as ordered by the San Francisco Bay Region Regional Water Quality Control Board.

According to Ely Caillouette, city engineer, the self-monitoring system, in effect, triples the amount of previously required testing.

Also discussed Wednesday was the extension of the outfall pipe in the Marin Bay plant in Peacock Gap.

One thousand more feet of pipe are under consideration so that the discharge in the pipe can be emitted into a deeper channel in the bay.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell reported the assessed valuation of the district to be $99,580,772, Caillouette said.

Youth Burglary Suspect Arrested Inside Hub Home

San Anselmo police said they responded to a silent alarm at the 64 Fern Lane home of Walter G. Thompson at 11:22 a.m. and found Michael Earl Frank of 201 Castro Street hiding in the bedroom.

In his possession were a chrome brake adjusting tool, wire cutters, an open pocket knife and a skeleton key which was found to open a door to the house.

He also carried a metal box containing a partially smoked cigarette believed by police to be marijuana and vegetable matter residue in another container and in his pocket, police said.

He was held in Marin County Jail to appear in Marin Municipal Court.

Exhibit Opens

KEY PUNCHER

A Male Is Claiming Job Discrimination

There are some jobs a man really isn't fit for. As topless waitresses, for example, males just don't stack up against the opposite sex.

However, it's not so clear why employers don't want male key punch operators. Kenneth A. Bauman of 12 Malone Lane, San Rafale, a College of Marin student in computer operation, said he was denied a job interview for key punch operator with a Marin firm by the Jean Busching Employment Agency of San Rafael because he is a male.

Responding to a newspaper ad, he called the agency Tuesday and told them he wanted the job.

"They said it was for girls only. I explained that I was a key puncher and that the new amendment (federal) made it illegal to discriminate on account of sex," Bauman said.

"I was informed, 'I don't know why you would want to work for a company lige that,'" he said.

The agency did not consult his application for qualifications while rejecting him, he said.

She said the job advertised requires more than the two months experience Bauman has, but she would send him on the interview if he insists.

However, she said she couldn't understand why a man would want a job exclusively with women, and, striking a blow against women's liberation, said she wouldn't send a woman for a construction job because the employers expect her to have more sense than

ON TIME AFTER ITS TIME

Cruising into a San Francisco Bay overhung by gray skies, the Argentine Navy training frigate Libertad returns a 21-gun salute from a battery at Fort Point. Although seemingly 100 years late, the largest sail powered vessel in the world sailed downwind into San Francisco Bay yesterday on schedule, but long after sailing ships ceased to be a common sight on the bay. When it came in with all 27 sails unfurled, its cadets scurrying about yelling "Viva San Francisco" and firing salute to the Presidio and Treasure Island, the 8-year-old frigate drew a swarm of small boats and a crowd of greeters at its Pier 41 berth in San Fancisco. The ship will be open to the public from 2 to 5 p.m. tomorrow and at the same times Monday through Thursday.

Security Tailored To Separate Cases

Security measures at the Hall of Justice will be tailored to fit individual cases, Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos explained yesterday. (See photos, page 1.)

Following a series of discussions with Marin judges and the county administrator's staff, Mountanos said some steps have already been taken and others will follow as more manpower and equipment become available.

Meanwhile, Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said yesterday that he intends to ask for a jury trial inside San Quentin Prison within the next 30 days.

Public sentiment for removing trials involving San Quentin convicts from the Hall of Justice at the Civic Center has been high since Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley was slain Aug. 7 in a bloody kidnap-escape try by three convicts and an accomplice.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson, presiding judge of superior court, said today that no more pretrial appearances such as arraignments, taking of pleas and trial settings, by San Quentin convicts will take place at the Hall of Justice.

He is scheduled to hear the first calendar of such matters inside the prison Monday.

The legality of holding jury trials inside the prison, however, has not been tested, and both Bales and Wilson said today they hope that a test case will be challenged through higher courts to determine this.

Bales said that he did not yet know which case he would select for the test trial.

The district attorney said he inspected the prison facilities yesterday and found that a training hall inside the main gate but outside the prison compound would probably be an adequate setting for trials.

Marin County is reimbursed 100 per cent by the state for the cost of such inmate trials, Bales mentioned today.

Meanwhile, Mountanos said that the first hirings of additional personnel approved this week by the Board of Supervisors will be men to relieve courtroom bailiffs of the task of accompanying county jail prisoners to court.

Bailiffs will spend their entire time in the courtroom, the sheriff said, while four additional jailors will escort prisoners and guard them while they are in court.

For the time being, at least, bailiffs will be armed in the courtrooms unless individual judges request otherwise.

In addition, two deputies will be assigned to a roving patrol of the sprawling building, equipped with radios which will keep them in touch with the sheriff's office.

Expected to come more slowly will be the "devices" phase of preventing the smuggling of weapons into courtrooms, Mountanos said.

He said his staff and the county administrator's office are reviewing suppliers' proposals to furnish metal detection equipment and other devices to back up the new manpower.

Marin officials do not propose to set hard-and-fast rules such as San Francisco's recent decision to demand identification and search packages carried by anyone entering that county's Hall of Justice, Mountanos said.

Instead, when judges and the sheriff feel extra precautions are necessary, the manpower may be bolstered and mechanical devices used for searching brought into play.

The security may even extend to personal searches, but that will be the exception, not the rule, he said.

Tentative Bid For Classrooms Accepted

A bid of $199,980 was tentatively accepted last night by Old Adobe School District trustees, Petaluma, for a six-classroom addition to La Tercera School.

Supt. Dean D. Magowan said the apparent low bid from James Construction Co. of Santa Rosa included $190,280 for building construction and another $9,700 for street improvements, parking lot and playground.

Second in the list of six bidders was Fostmeir Construction of Santa Rosa at $203,800. Award of the contract will be made after review of bids by the Sonoma County Counsel's office and state Office of Local Assistance.

Magowan said he hoped the addition would be completed by late February or early March. It will house a maxium of 180 students.

The Old Adobe School District Board Also:

TRANSFERS — Considered a policy making inter-district transfer agreements more stringent. The board said transfers should be only approved for abnormal conditions and when it will not place a financial hardship on the district.

ELECTION — Heard a report from Magowan calling the Sept. 15 bond and tax increase election of vital importance to the district. He said that if interest rates on the $130,000 bonds are not increased from 5 to 7 per cent, the district will not be eligible for a state loan to build the Miwok Valley School on St. Francis Drive. The election also requests an increase in the maximum tax rate from $1.90 to $2.40 per $100 assessed valuation.

EASEMENT — Granted an easement on district property on Crinella Drive for installation of a storm drain.

Tiburon Rec Members To Key Panels

The Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission last night appointed four of its members to serve on two special planning and advisory committees, according to Asst. City Mgr. Robert L. Kleinert.

Chairman Donald K. Loomis and George Ellman will serve on a committee to study realignment and reconstruction of Tiburon Boulevard, and Polly O. Smith and David O. Teather will join the Tiburon Trails Committee.

Two planning commissioners, Alvin R. Kuhn and Charles E. Bassett, were appointed to the boulevard committee Aug. 3, and Kuhn and Allan Thompson will serve on the trails committee as well, Kleinert said.

The trails committee will study and make recommendations to the planning commission on phase two of the Tiburon trails plan, which the county planning department has referred to Tiburon.

The planning commission will review the committee's findings and make its own suggestions to the city council, Kleinert said.

The Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission also:

AYALA — Heard a report that a historical plaque is being fabricated and a base is being built on Angel Island in preparation for the Sept. 26 Ayala Day, commemorating the first survey of San Francisco Bay by Juan Manuel De Ayala in 1775.

ORDINANCE — Reviewed and made minor changes in a proposed ordinance establishing the commission. The ordinance, which will replace a resolution which established the commission in 1965, will be forwarded to the city council for its approval.

VACANCY — Announced that it has received nine letters from persons interested in being appointed to the vacancy created by the expiration of Commissioner George McKegney's term. The names will be sent to the city council.

'63 Corvette Stolen Near Owner's Home

A 1963 blue Chevrolet Corvette, bearing California license plates ZTH071, was stolen between 4 p.m. Wednesday and 10 p.m. yesterday in San Rafael, police reported.

The vehicle was parked in front of the residence of its owner, Fred Nicholas Daniele Jr. of 101 Nova Albion Way, apartment 14, police said.

County Planners Due Kappas Request To Install Berths

George Kappas, who just won the right to retain 35 houseboat berths at gate 6½ in Richardson Bay, will apply for permission to install docks and berths for 72 houseboats at Gate 6.

Kappas's application is scheduled to come before the county planning commission at 11 a.m. Monday in the Civic Center.

Gate 6 is Kappas's main houseboat area.

Hugh G. Lawrence, attorney for Kappas, said the 72 new berths will accommodate all houseboats now on Kappas's property and several that are scattered in the bay.

County planner Jan Medbo sad Kappas's plan calls for open water closet to Highway 101. Kappas will install parking spaces for 108 cars on existing fill.

Medbo said the plan conforms to the Richardson Bay specific plan and the county's houseboat and marina ordinances. He will recommend approval on several conditions, including the requirement for a landscaped pedestrian and bicycle path along the entire waterfront, and paved roadways along the railroad to connect to Gate 6½.

The commission will also consider rezoning of four acres just north of the Koch luggage plant in Corte Madera. The area is located southeast of Highway 101 and Paradise Drive and contains an empty warehouse, a single family home, and several other structures.

The Corte Madera Town Council asked for the rezoning, from light industrial and retail business district to a planned industrial district. Under the planned industrial district, any developments would require a use permit.

Other items on the commission agenda include:

VARIANCE — William M. Powell of Orinda will ask for a variance to permit his property at 15 Calle Del Ribera, Stinson Beach, to be split into two undersized lots of 4,800 square feet each. This was denied by the county zoning administrator on Aug. 3.

LAND DIVISION — Frank Joyner will appeal conditions imposed on his request to make three lots out of his property at the southeast corner of Mill Road and Wilson Avenue, Novato. Joyner will contest the planning director's requirements for replacement of culverts, improvement of a 40-foot right-of-way and relocation of existing leaching lines.

Shoreline Board Will Reapply For Special Program

The Shoreline Unified School District oBard last night voted to apply for continued participation in the county's special educational program in language arts for disadvantaged youth.

The cooperative program, known as the Title I Project, includes, but is not limited to, remedial reading courses.

The Shoreline Unified School District Board also:

ENROLLMENT — Heard a report from Supt. Charles E. McCully that 890 students were expected to enroll Sept. 1. Last year's enrollment was 852.

IN-SERVICE TRAINING — Voted to continue the in-service training program for teachers and teachers' aides begun during the summer session. The program provides supervised classroom teaching experience in specialized subject areas such as remedial reading. Instructors brought in from area colleges and universities provide supervision.

HERE'S A COMPROMISE!

Looking for a home in a top area, with 3 or 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, a fun family room, utility room, level front and rear patios AND a Bay view? Finding that for this type and quality of home the prices are astronomical? Here's the reason this home can be bought so reasonable — highway noise. Most of the problem has been solved, however, by a wrap-around, glass-enclosed deck. Consider it a minor annoyance in return for so much quality living. $41,900.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

New Summer Hazards Are Not Dangerous As They Once Were

How times change. Fifty years ago, physicians had many misgivings about the good old summertime. Fireworks killed 500 and blinded or injured another 4,000 children and adults annually. Others were gored by animals or bitten or stung by insects.

Trouble with poison ivy, green apples, and mushrooms was common. Swimming was risky, summer diarrhea was disastrous, and typhoid fever was murderous. Streams and lakes were not entirely polluted, but sanitation was not keeping up with industrial progress. Poor refrigeration, inadequate plumbing and contaminated drinking water were the rule.

NEW HAZARDS have replaced the old ones. Traffic accidents maim and kill more people than did firecrackers. Otherwise, the modern traveler faces a minimum of dangers. Stomach upsets are rare if he drinks safe water and pasteurized milk, and eats food prepared under sanitary conditions. His greatest concern as a rule, is to avoid overeating.

Our country has many excellent resorts and camping sites. Many advantages accrue to the city child who goes away for the summer. He escapes not only the dangers of the heat but the usual temptation associated with time on his hands and nothing to do.

SUMMER CAMPS are a boon to youngsters. A majority of these facilities maintain tsandards for health and happiness. The youngster has fun and profits from the experience. Camps are availble also for children with special handicaps, such as diabetes or heart disease.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.

NOSEBLEED FROM BLOWING

Miss E.T. writes: I'm 29 and never had a nosebleed until two months ago. Since then I've had two from just blowing into a tissue. Can you tell me the cause of this bleeding?

REPLY

A broken blood vessel is the most common cause. If a third nosebleed occurs, have the area examined to determine what is happening at the bleeding point. A nasal infection, especially one caused by a virus, may be followed by several spontaneous hemorrhages. Our leaflet on nosebleed can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

WALKING PNEUMONIA

REPLY

The lung condition is not severe enough to produce toxic symptoms, such as high fever and lassitude, as occurs in more severe pneumonia. Cough may be present in walking pneumonia and the victim often loses weight, tires easily, and has chest pain.

CANCER RADIATION

R.P.T. writes: Years ago, when I was a practicing nurse, radium was used freely in cancer. But now you hear only about X-ray. Is radium out of date?

REPLY

No, but it is getting strong competition from high voltage X-ray, radioactive isotopes, and the cobalt bomb. Radium still plays an important role in the treatment of many conditions.

ETHER STILL USED

M.V. writes: Is ether still used as an anesthetic?

REPLY

Yes, but not so often as it was 20 years ago. Ether is most valuable when deep anesthesia with full relaxation is needed.

Transfer Talks Slated Monday

The Mill Valley School District board will hold a special meeting Monday at 8 p.m. at Park School to adopt a permanent policy on interdistrict transfers and consider several new applications for transfers.

Supt. James A. Collins said the board probably will adopt guidelines to replace an interim policy which requires that a district which wishes to send a child to Mill Valley must pay the actual cost of educating the child. The permanent policy will be similar to the interim one, he said.

On the basis of the new policy, the board is expected to deny new requests for transfers but permit renewals of existing transfers.

Russians Begin New Scheme To Reverse Flow Of Rivers

By HAROLD KING
Toronto News Service

PARIS —The Russians have at long last, according to reliable Swiss sources, started work on a gigantic scheme which threatens to radically alter the climate from the equator to the North Pole.

The plan is aimed at turning back three huge West Siberian rivers from their natural courses to the Arctic Ocean.

The three rivers are the Pechora, the Ob and the 2,000-mile-long Jenessei, which has its source in the mountains of Outer Mongolia.

If the plan is realized, part of the waters from the rivers will be drained back southwards in order to turn semi-desert lands of Western Siberia into arable land.

Another purpose of the scheme is to raise the decreasing water levels of the Caspian and Aral seas, a phenomenon worrying the Soviet authorities.

The water level of the Caspian Sea has sunk by nearly 20 feet in the last six years. The Aral Sea is threatened with drying up completely in the next 10 or 20 years.

By draining back the waters of the three Siberian rivers, the Soviet authorities hope to gain some 80 to 90 million acres of fruitful land. Soviet geologists believe there are rich oil and natural gas deposits under the swamplands of Western Siberia.

Once these lands have been drained, the resources could be tapped and another 150 million acres of corn and grazing land could be won back from nature.

European experts fear the Soviet river scheme, if it ever came to full fruition, would affect climatic conditions from the heart of Africa up through the Mediterranean and western and central Europe — not to mention incalulable effects on the North African continent.

They think the climate would shift some 250 miles northward. You would have Sahara heat in south Italy, south Greece and parts of Spain. Summers would be warmer in Great Britain, and it might again be possible, as in the Middle Ages, to grow wine in England. Switzerland would have a warmer and dryer climate, good for farming, but possibly damaging for winter sport and hydraulic power projects.

Plans for bringing water to desert or swamp country on a gigantic scale exist elsewhere in the world. One idea that's been floating around has been to turn Lake Chad, in the very heart of Africa, into a big dam covering 300,000 square miles.

But the Russians are the people who have started to act. They reportedly expect the European section of this giant undertaking to be finished in about seven years, but admit the Asiatic sectors will take longer.

The Russians claim to have calculated all effects of their river scheme on the climate, and discount any major changes. But small margins of error, say other experts, could have big consequences. Thus North Africa (Libya, Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco) could become more fruitful, but Sicily, South Anatolia in Turkey, Crete, Cyprus and parts of Spain, could suffer.

American hydrologist Raymond Nace warned against "monkeying about" with river courses during a lecture here in Paris last December. He was referring specifically to Soviet and North American plans for turning southwards toward populated areas rivers flowing north through more or less unhabited areas.

If such plans were applied, said Nace, they could have the effect of slowing down the rotation of the earth by displacing and enormous mass from the Pole towards the equator.

"Look at a dancer when she is turning on her toes like a top," said Nace. "When she wants to slow down, she spreads out her arms." The displacement of huge masses of water could have the same effect on the earth's oscillation, he said. "It is the same principle as for the wheel of an automobile. If you displace weight along the rim, the wheel becomes unbalanced."

Another consequence, said Nace, would be a change is the thermic balance of the earth. At present, he pointed out, the rivers flowing from south to north warm the northern regions. If they flowed back from north to south, they would cool off the southern regions.

The whole alchemy of evaporation could also be changed. Any important modification of the humidity of the soil could affect the oscillation of the earth.

Chute Fails On First Jump Try

ANTIOCH (UPI)—A parachute failed to open Thursday as Terry M. Botts attempted his first jump from an airplane and the Stockton fireman was killed.

Investigators said his main chute failed and that Botts, 27, made no attempt to pull the ripcord on his reserve chute over Antioch Airport.

He was a member of the Stockton Parachute Club.

Suspect Nabbed In Morals Case

Hogan was booked into the city jail and held in lieu of $1,250 bail. He was scheduled for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

The child's mother told police that Hogan had taken the girl for a ride in his truck where he molested her and then offered her candy.

FTC Nominee Vows To Check TV Ads

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A nominee awaiting Senate confirmation as director of the Federal Trade Commission says that if confirmed, he will investigate charges television commercials exaggerate their claims.

Miles W. Kirkpatrick, nominated to the post by President Nixon, was asked at a Senate Commerce Committee hearing Thursday whether he intended to control the "outlandish assertions." He replied, "I certainly intend to."

Auto Is Stolen

A black 196 Chevrolet Bel Air with Ohio license X-347-K was reported stolen from the 12 East Sir Francis Drake home of Kenneth Vonderheide between 3 and 10 a.m. yesterday, according to Larkspur police.

Injuries Minor In 2-Car Crash

Two persons suffered minor injuries in a two-car accident on Francisco Boulevard at 6:40 p.m. yesterday, San Rafael police reported.

Police said Elden H. Hill, 55, of 71 Lincoln Avenue, San Anselmo, complained of a sore neck after the car he was driving was struck from behind by a vehicle driven by John M. Mellquist, 33, of 31 Seadrift Landing, Tiburon, when Hill was stopped to make a left turn.

Peace Victorina Trenchard, 51, also of 71 Lincoln Avenue, San Anselmo, who was a passenger in Hill's vehicle, also complained of a sore neck, police said, but both refused medical treatment.

Fire Damages Cables On Nuclear Cruiser

VALLEJO (UPI)—A fire believed started by a welding torch damaged cables and a bulkhead compartment Thursday aboard the nuclear cruiser USS Long Beach, which is at Mare Island Naval Shipyard for a $40 million remodeling.

Witness Not 100 Per Cent On Shooting

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A prosecution witness in the trial of six Latin-American youths accused of fatally shooting a policeman admitted Thursday she had not been 100 per cent sure she correctly identified one of the defendants.

However, the witness, Della McKinney, 29, stuck by her story that she saw Nelson Rodriguez flee seconds after Officer Joseph Brodnik was gunned down May 1, 1969.

She admitted that in the past she had not been completely sure but said that after seeing Rodriguez in court she had no doubts.

"I am positive," Mrs. McKinney replied.

The defense also attacked her claim that she heard Brodnik's partner, patrolman Paul McGoran yell: "Look out . . . he's going to shoot again."

Mrs. McKinney conceded McGoran's mouth was covered with blood and that she could not see his lips move.

She said it was "possible" one of the defendants may have shouted the warning.

LAW IN ACTION

From the Single Bar Of California

Weighing The Evidence

Our legal system has nearly always presumed innocence. To convict a person accused of a crime the jury must reach a unanimous verdict based on proof "beyond a reasonable doubt and to a moral certainty."

"Moral" certainty means a "near" certainty.

Why? Because life and liberty rank so high in our value scale.

In a civil suit over property, in contrast, any nine of twelve jurors can agree on a verdict. Civil actions call only for a "preponderance of the evidence" to win one party a victory. "Preponderance" is just enough evidence to satisfy the jury that one side has offered more convincing evidence than the other.

In contrast, if there is a reasonable doubt, the criminal law gives the accused the benefit of the doubt and the right to an acquittal. In such a case the law presumes innocence which would outweigh the evidence of guilt based on mere preponderance.

For years actions in the juvenile court have been considered "civil," not criminal. A youngster accused of acts which for an adult would be a crime escapes the taint of a criminal record. Hence the law required only a "preponderance" of the evidence for the youngster to become a ward of the court.

But recently the U.S. Supreme Court declared this improper: A twelve-year-old boy had been before a juvenile court charged with stealing $112 from a purse. Though disputed, a "preponderance of evidence" of his guilt was found by the judge, who sent the boy to a youth camp until he was eighteen.

The boy's lawyer appealed his case to the Supreme Court, which ruled that no judge could sentence a boy on mere preponderance of the evidence. Proof would have to be "beyond a reasonable doubt" to a near certainty.

Once declared a ward, the juvenile court could sentence a youngster for long periods of time, put him on probation, and give him the stigma of a "juvenile offender." Therefore, the Supreme Court held, he has a right to an attorney and to all the other rights accorded an accused adult. (Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.)

Sausalito Woman Is Treated For Injuries

A Sausalito woman was treated yesterday for cuts and scrapes at Marin General Hospital after her car was involved in an accident on Highway 101 south of the Shoreline Highway exit.

The California Highway Patrol said Maureen A. O'Brien, 26, of 190 Buchanan Drive, was injured when her car collided with one driven by Judith Fletcher, 32, of 5 Rosebank Lane, Kentfield. Details of the 6 p.m. accident were unavailable.

Hiss Joins In Challenge To Annuity Law

NEW YORK (UPI)—Alger Hiss has joined a lawsuit challenging a 1954 act—soomonly known as the Hiss act—which prevents federal employes convicted of certain offenses from receiving annuities.

"I've waited 16 years to challenging a 1954 act—comtold newsmen Thursday. "There's been a big change in sentiment since the time of my conviction. I'm optimistic that the law will be overturned."

Hiss, 65, joined with the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) to become a coplaintiff with former postal clerk Richard Strasburger in the suit filed in a federal court in Washington, D.C., on Wednesday.

Hiss, a former State Department official convicted of perjury in 1950, is seeking a $61 a month annuity based on his 14 years and five months as a federal employe before his conviction.

Strasburger, 72, was dismissed from the postal service in 1950 for allegedly failing to specify in a loyalty check he had been a member of the Communist party. He had been with the postal service for 19 years when convicted.

The ACLU suit charges the Hiss Act was aimed at the former State Department official and is an ex post facto law because it makes punishment retroactive.

Hiss said he would fight to overturn the law because it was one of the many acts still on the books that had "institutionalized" McCarthyism.

President Nixon was a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee in 1950 that turned up evidence leading to Hiss's conviction. Hiss, who spent 44 months in prison has continuously maintained innocence.

Ex-Hamilton Employee Indicted By Grand Jury On Bribe Charge

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A former Hamilton Air Force Base employee who allegedly took a bribe while Federal Bureau of Investigation agents looked on was indicted by a federal grand jury here yesterday.

He is to appear in U.S. District Court here Sept. 8 for arraignment on charges of soliciting and receiving a bribe June 23 at Pacheco Shopping Center near the base.

Jerrold Ladar, chief of the U.S. attorney's criminal division, said Ellis allegedly approached George E. Merrill, head of R and D Enterprises of Santa Rosa, offering to certify that undone work had been completed for $175.

Merrill informed the FBI, according to Ladar, and Ellis was arrested getting into his car with the money.

Ellis had been a contracting officer at the base for three years before being fired from his $10,000-a-year post July 31. His job was to certify work done by contractors at the base.

That Merrill's gas pipe installation for $3,600 to $5,000 had not been done would not have been noticed until the present pipe rotted, Ladar said.

Ellis is free on $10,000 bail.

This Is 'Next Year' For 49er Boosters

With the 49ers and Raiders scheduled for a cube tube double header on the morrow it seems like a good time to report on pro football booster club activity locally.

The 49er Goal Rushers, a perennially optimistic group of some 75 die-hards, are accepting membership applications for the 1970 season. Just mail a fin to the club at Box 4078, San Rafael. Men only. Their motto is "Wait 'til next year" and, golly, this is next year already.

President Gilford J. Medeiros, the Rusher Gusher, has announced the club will switch locations this season, meeting for lunch every Monday starting Sept. 21 at the Holiday Inn in Terra Linda, moving up the highway a couple of miles from Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael.

Medeiros says the club, one of seven Niner boosters clubs in Northern California, will have at least one 49er player present each week. Last year they had two but the 49er front office is cutting down on expenses. They pay each player $50 to appear at a boosters function. Multiply that by the seven Northern California boostesr clubs at 14 weeks through the season and you get just an inkling at some of the expenses involved in running a Nationl Football League franchise.

The Marin Rushers also will continue their fine project of honoring the Marin County Athletic League's outstanding offensive and defensive player each week, Medeiros said.

Meantime, I'd like to see the Raider Boosters of Marin copy the 49er Goal Rushers' format of weekly luncheons. How 'bout Tuesdays so we won't miss either function?

CATCHER JACK HORNER (I mean Jess Munyon) of the Sohner Tree Service softball team caught holy heck from his doc yesterday for playing in the state tourney at Napa last weekend with his brutally disfigured thumb. Yesterday I reported that the digit was separated in three places and when Jess reported to his medic he was told he had two broken bones in his thumb and one in his wrist. He'll have it in a cast for three months and will be limited to pinch running duties in tonight's game at Napa against defending state champion Stornetta's Dairy. The game will be broadcast by KVON (1420 on the dial) starting at 9 o'clock.

THE DAY AFTER he shattered his own world record with a jump two weekends ago at Fall River Mills, Shasta County, of 165 feet, world water ski champion Mike Suyderhoud of San Anselmo addressed the national conference of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes at Ashland, Ore. After explaining that a water ski jumper attains speeds up to 60 miles per hour when approaching the jump, Master Michael tongue-in-cheekily dead panned: "The fewer things that go wrong during the year, the better off you are." You don't want to make a splash.

Globe girdler Suyerhoud's itinerary for the next month is the national championships at Canton, Ohio this weekend to be followed by meets in London on Aug. 31 and Mexico Sept. 18. Then it'll be back to classes at Sonoma State where he is a chemistry major.

Speed Vs. Heft In Classic

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Fifth annual Marin County North-South high school all-star football game a week from tonight should be a classic confrontation between size and speed. But when 50 seniors from nine high schools in the county take the field at San Rafael High, something besides statistics will probably decide the issue.

On paper, each team has a definite advantage in this funds-for-charity game sponsored by the Ross Valley Kiwanis Club. Nine players on the North squad were first team all-leaguers in the Marin County Athletic League last year. The South claims only five such stars.

Yet the South has seven men over 200 pounds, including a possible front four averaging 225.

NORTH FAVORED

Those statistical differences may cancel each other out. Regardless of their bearing on the game, however, the North must be favored to chalk up its fourth win in five games. The reason: The presence in the offensive lineup of Tom Jackson, Bob Daniele and Dan Trondson, who collaborated to help bring Terra Linda three straight MCAL championships.

The value of having such an explosive and well tuned passing attack — Jackson at quarterback, Trondson at end and Daniele at flanker — is incalculable.

By contrast, the South will go with the scrambling game of San Rafael quarterback Lowell Widmer, and, on paper at least, the team doesn't have the speed necessary to make his kind of game work.

If Widmer's sweeps and pitchouts, which rely for their success on his timing, don't work, the South will probably settle into a ground attack built around 210-pound Drake fullback Bob Sutherland. After leading the MCAL in rushing in 1968, he was sidelined last year with injuries but seems to have recovered completely.

HOLE OPENERS

Opening holes for Sutherland will be an all-league contingent of Redwood Giants, including tackle Tom Wickert (227), center Phil Simon (190) and end Ross Gondak (230). San Rafael's Dan Coleman (230), the other big man on the offensive line, will probably start at a guard spot.

Wickert, Gondak and Cole-

Golfing Lawyer Has Good Case

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI) — In their fourth try, professional golf's tourists are finaliy learning how to tame the big Pleasant Valley Country Club course.

The pros have never really knocked the sprawling New England layout in three earlier visits, and nobody has ever been fined for comparing it with much-maligned Chuska, Minn, site of the recent U.S. Open.

But the touring pros haven't exactly taken par apart at Pleasant Valley, either. At least, not until this trip.

They were troubled by rain and wind in the opening round Thursday but Dan Sikes showed the way with a six-under 66 and a total of 27 entries broke par.

FAST START

Another 26 matched par 72 in the opening round of the $160,000 Avco Classic, meaning that more than one third of the field got away to a fast start.

Sikes, a veteran of 10 seasons on the tour, gained his two-stroke lead with what he said was the best putting round of his career. Since Pleasant Valley's greens average over 10,000 square feet in size, Sikes appeared to have the winning formula.

Sports
Independent-Journal, 37
Friday, August 21, 1970

But Sikes, a golfing lawyer from Florida who decided he could make more money with his golf practice than his legal practice, wasn't satisfied with his first round effort. He would have liked another stroke because he said players his age, 39, have a tendency to run out of gas in the late rounds.

There were plenty of players ready to drain Sikes' gas tank, too. No less than 10 of them were bunched two and three strokes behind him.

The veteran Billy Casper was among a foursome tied at 68 and Billy had a personal point to prove in addition to going for the $32,000 first prize.

Casper has only missed the cut in a tournament once during five years on tour. That was a year ago when he had an 81-70 to get prematurely bounced out of the AVCO.

Casper improved his first round score of a year ago by exactly 13 strokes, from 81 to 68, on Thursday and joked that he'd like the same margin of improvement in today's second round.

DEFENDING CHAMP

If Sikes didn't have enough to worry about from Casper, Joe Carr, Bobby Mitchell and John Schlee, all of whom had 68s, defending champion Tom Shaw headed a rugged crew at 69.

Shaw hasn't been having a particularly good year on the tour, but was delighted with his three-under title defense start and was accompanied by five others entirely willing to overhaul sikes.

FASTEST RUN IN THE WEST

Construction has just been completed on the $25.5 million Ontario Motor Speedway, whose first main attraction will be the California 500 on Sept. 6. The track, in the heart of Southern California's vineyards, is equipped with a 2½-mile Indianapolis-type oval, a 3.19-mile road course through the infield and a drag strip. Practice begins Saturday for the first race, which will carry a guaranteed prize on $500,000 and $51,000 in lap money. Mark Donohue of Media, Pa., runner-up at Indianapolis this year, is expected to be the first driver on the oval.

49er Rookie Ace Taylor To Get A Good Lookover

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—Highly regarded rookie Bruce Taylor, a whiz on punt and kickoff returns, may see heavy activity Saturday night at one of the cornerback positions for the San Francisco 49ers.

Taylor, of Boston University, reeled off 84 yards in punt returns last weekend when the Niners lost their pre-season opener to Cleveland.

Coach Dick Nolan said Thursday Taylor will see increased playing time behind starter Johnny Woitt at the right corner Saturday night in Miami against the Dolphins.

Nolan said the quarterbacking alignment will remain the same for the second exhibition game. John Brodie will direct the offense through the first half and Steve Spurrier will take over in the second.

Bill Tucker and Jimmy Thomas will start in the backfield for ailing regulars Ken Willard and Doug Cunningham. Guards Elmer Collett and Kevin Hardy and defensive end Stan Hindmans also are out with injuries.

Randy Beisler may start at tackle if the shoulder injury of Cas Banaszek is not healed.

"Banaszek says he's ready," Nolan said. "But he's the kind of fellow who would insist he's ready if his arm was falling off."

Athletics Seek Revenge

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Oakland A's would savor a bit of revenge at this stage of the American League West pennant chase.

Tonight they face Sudden Sam McDowell, the man who stopped Oakland's five-game victory skein last week. McDowell beat the A's 4-3 and sent them into a brief tailspin which has left them 5 1-2 games behind first place Minnesota.

McDowell, 17-8 and the league's strikeout king, matches his tough fastball against Jim Hunter of Oakland. Hunter, 15-10, is long overdue for his 16th victory. He has been struggling to find his pitching rhythm ever since the All-Star break.

ROAD TRIP

Tonight's contest is the opener of a nine-game road trip which also encompasses Baltimore and Detroit.

An important statistic to watch in any pennant race is the loss column in league standings. The A's, idle Thursday night, lucked out when Minnesota lost its game to New York. But Oakland is still seven games behind the Twins on the loss side.

Raiders Hurting For Ram Battle; 3 Vets Sidelined

SANTA ROSA (UPI)—The Oakland Raiders may have to face the Fearsome Foursome of the Los Angeles Rams without benefit of three starting offensive linemen.

All-pro guard Gene Upshaw, guard Jim Harvey and tackle Bob Svihus all were hobbling Thursday when coach John Madden continued drilling the Raiders for their game in the Los Angeles Coliseum Saturday night.

All three players aggravated injuries in Oakland's last preseason contest against Philadelphia. Because that game was played on a Monday night, none of the veterans has had time to recuperate sufficiently for the Saturday night affair.

Madden was worying almonst as much about the offensive line of the Rams. Unfortunately for Oakland, every lineman in the Los Angeles unit is healthy.

"Their offensive line is certainly one of the best in pro football," Madden said. "This The Raiders traditionaly use season for our defensive linetheir exhibitions as opportunities to test rookies and backup players. The Rams, 2-0 inthis pre-season, always play to win.

"Yes, I think the Rams go all out to win every exhibition," Madden said. "George Allen is a verteran coach. By that I mean he likes a team to have as many veteran players as possible. He likes them to play as much as they can, even in the pre-season."

World champion water skier Mike Suyderhoud of San Anselmo was the hands down favorite to win the men's division of the 28th national championship meet today at Canton, Ohio.

In yesterday's competitoin, 16-year-old Bob Boivie of Novato placed third in the boys' jumping event with a mark of 115 feet. Wayne Brimbitch, 15, Pompano Beach, Fla., won with a record jump of 127 feet.

Suyderhoud, who broke his own universal record in the jump last week with a 165-foot effort at Fall River Mills, Calif., will be virtually unopposed in that event. His strongest overall competition will come from Ricky McCormick, independence, Mo., and Alan Kempton, Tampa, Fla.

Giant Kids Take On Cub Vets

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Two teams of opposite intention meet tonight at Candlestick Park in the introduction to a three-game series.

The Chicago Cubs are going with their veterans in a determined scramble to eradicate a four-game deficit in the National League East pennant fight. The San Francisco Giants, resigned to the fate of an also-ran in the West, stick with youngsters in a major rebuilding effort.

Bill Hands (14-10) or Ken Holtzman (13-9) will pitch for the Cubs tonight against tall righthander Frank Reberger (4-5) of San Francisco.

The game opens a 10-game stand at home for the Giants, who must play St. Louis and Pittsburgh after the Cubs leave town.

Giants manager Charlie Fox is determined to keep his club over the .500 mark for the remainder of the season. Juan Marichal's win Wednesday night against Pittsburgh evened San Francisco's record at 61-61.

Fox is toying with the idea of playing Don Mason at second base instead of Ron Hunt with Tito Fuentes at shortstop in place of Hal Lanier. If Fox decides to go ahead with the experiment, he says the purpose would be "to see if we can get the double plays we aren't making."

LOS ANGELES — Two Marin County swimmers, Denise Ham of the Marin Aquatic Club and Robin Bachrach of the Dolphins of Marin, competed but failed to place yesterday in the opening day of the National AAU Swimming Championships at the Los Angeles Swim Stadium.

Jo and Kathy Hislop and Ann Engel, all of the MAC, will compete in events on Sunday to complete Marin's efforts in the meet.

Miss Ham and Miss Bachrach both swam the women's 100-meter butterfly, and although they finished well back Miss Ham improved her career best time in the event by two tenths of a second with a 1:09.35 clocking. Miss Bachrach's time was 1:09.72.

MAC coach Don Schwartz said of Miss Ham, "Her first 50 meters were a little too slow, but she came back on the last half of the race very fast to do her best time."

In the feature race yesterday, 17-year-old John Kinsella of Oak Brook, Ill., won over what was called the best men's 400-meter freestyle field in history and in so doing claimed one of four world records set on the day.

"I knew if I won it would be a world record," the 6-foot-3½, 200-pounder said. "The field was that good."

Kinsella's time was 4:02.81 and he turned back Mike Burton, the Olympic gold medalist in the event, and West Germany's Hans Fassnacht, holder of the old world mark of 4:04.0, in the process. Burton was second in 4:03.31 while Fassnacht was a badly beaten seventh.

"That was the first time I ever beat Mike," said a smiling Kinsella. "I'm gearing myself for under four minutes. I think someone will do it by next year and I hope to be the one."

The other world records were set by incomparable Debbie Meyer in the women's 400-meter freestyle in 4:24.34, Mike Stamm in the men's 200 backstroke in 2:06.33 and Alice Jones in the women's 100 butterfly in 1:04.11.

Miss Meyer, the 18-year-old Sacramento, Calif., schoolgirl who won three gold medals at Mexico City, broke her own world mark of 4:24.5.

It was Miss Meyer's eighth national outdoor championship, and the first for Stamm and Miss Jones.

The other first-night winners were triple world record holder Mark Spitz in the men's 100-meter butterfly in 56.12 seconds, Brian Job in the men's 100 breaststroke in 1:06.49, Susie Atwood in the women's 200 backstroke in 2:22.05 and Linda Kurtz in the women's 100 breaststroke in 1:16.66.

The four-day meet continues today withe finals in six events.

In 1949, when the American car buyer had his choice of cars like the De Soto, the Hudson or the Studebaker, two intrepid souls bought Volkswagens. It turns out they were more farsighted than foolhardy. Because today there aren't many De Sotos, Hudsons or Studebakers around. But there are quite a few Volkswagens. More than three and a half million at last count. Seldom has so little come so far.

FISH AND GAME

Going On A Diet? Don't Eat Fish!

By AL GIDDINGS

Sometimes I wonder just what to say about the fishing in the Bay Area with all of the problems beginning to come to the surface regarding pollutions by sewage, pollutions by insecticides, pollutions by detergents, and now pollutions by mercury compounds. It's a problem to me, too! I sometimes wonder if we should be eating these fish from the bay and the delta area.

I canvassed some of the boys at the Department of Fish and Game office last week and most were undecided.

I finally called Dr. Kahn of the State Health Dept., putting the question directly to him, saying, "Would you yourself eat fish from the delta and the bay today?"

He didn't seem to be perturbed by the question, and his answer "Yes" at least seemed reassuring. You can take it from there! Tests are being made and supposedly some answers will be out in six weeks as to just what gives! Anyway I feel better.

I quit smoking again last January, winning 500 more ghost shrimps off the pigeon, Marty Medin, but I gained 20 pounds. Everyone accuses me of overeating, but now I know it's just the mercury I've been eating that's in the fish I've been catching all year. This has given me this added weight! Everyone knows that mercury is one of the heaviest of the elements, so there's the answer for us fat fishermen.

THE BASS FISHING has been almost nil along the flats and the shallow shoreline area. Here again, I know the answer is the sewage plants just killing off the environment in the areas of their discharges with the 50 per cent poisonous effluent given off. Bolinas Bay is now off limits for all water contact sports due to the sewage dangers to health!

Fishing in the channel areas of the San Francisco and San Pablo bays is paying off at the Brothers Islands and down to and outside the Golden Gate. The fish and the feed are staying in the cleaner channel and ocean waters. I don't blame them!

Frank Sue called me the other evening saying he was going for stripers, outside the gate, but he didn't plan to keep any. I told him to bring me three 12 pounders, and the poor guy had to apologize when the smallest of his three fish weighed 18 pounds. You don't believe it, I know! I gave one to Carol Lato of Woodacre, and one to Mrs. Celli of Fairfax! Give them a ring and ask them!

SALMON FISHING is fair out of Sausalito, though small fish still make up most of the bag. The Mellos — Molly and Joe — have continually scored at Tomales taking about 50 salmon there since July 7. Last Wednesday, their catch was one 25, two 20s and two small fish. I've been watching for boats off California City which might be the signal for the run of salmon due to start there, but no activity yet.

WANT TO hear a pip? My friend, Frank Sue, wanted to try for a buck last week, so after the fish delivery, I took him out to the ranch explaining, I thought, all the pertinent details. We separated, and when Frank got back, he told me about seeing a forked horn. I questioned him as to why he didn't shoot. His answer that I forgot to tell him "how big the forks were supposed to be" left me speechless!

AND BOB BERTRAND, the sergeant of the Pt. Reyes sheriff's substation, according to LeRoy Martinelli, was involved in a pleasant accident the other day. A buck, and a good one too, four on one side and three on the other, ran into one of Bob's bullets. Bob's first buck, too!

THE WATERFOWL regulations for this year will be adopted today when the Fish and Game Commission meets. California had an 86-day season last year with a six-bird limit. The season is expected to be longer this year, and the bag limits are expected to be larger. A lot of thanks should be given to Ducks Unlimited for its every day, every year efforts spent in money and time which is now paying off to all of us. Let's join Ducks Unlimited right now.

THE F. & G. DEPT. and the State Health Dept. have alerted sportsmen to the annual plague threat in four California counties. A quarantine on the trapping of small animals, especially squirrels and chipmonks, is in effect in Plumas, Lassen, Shasta and Siskiyou counties. Two confirmed and three suspected cases of bubonic plague in humans have been reported with the possibility of exposure increasing with the spread of animal die offs. No danger reported from either rabbits or deer.

THE DELTA survey of striped bass populations for the Bay Area has come up with a total adult striper population of 1.2 million fish for this year.

THE DEER kill for the coastal counties as of the 13th day of the season is 5,225 bucks as compared to 5,582 last year, according to the tag returns. Marin County had 214 kills reported last year, as compared with 149 for this year. Get your tags in! I know —they're all in camp waiting to be validated.

North Marin All-Stars Are Favored

man will probably fortify the front line defensively along with Tamalpais end Jan Brink. Brink, like Sutherland, was out of action last year, but he gained a reputation in his junior campaign as one of the meanest linemen in the league.

The North line, although smaller, will be rich with all-leaguers. San Marin's Dennis Miller at center and Kerry Atkinson at guard, and Terra Linda's Chris Fenton should be able to supply Jackson with time to find Daniele and Trondson through the airways.

COX A THREAT

Although the North doesn't figure to be doing too much running, it will be able to keep the South honest by giving the ball to all-league fullback Tom Cox of San Marin.

One aspect of great importance in any all-star game concerns position distribution. On defense neither team has the edge in that category, but offensively the South may be in trouble. Besides being short on tackles and flankers, the Southerners are overly rich in running backs and ends. It will be interesting to see what Widmer, a spotty passer, is going to do with five receivers.

The North suffers from underpopulation at only one position. Suffice it to say that if something happens to Jackson, the team will be as a boat without a rudder.

KEY MAN

Perhaps the key to the South's chances is Widmer, but not as a quarterback. For two years he has been one of the best safeties in the MCAL, and he'll need all his talent in this game. Except for him, the South's defensive secondary might as well not be there.

Widmer will probably operate as a free safety and cover Daniele most of the time. If he can contain him, the South may be able to stop the North cold.

Nate's Only Hangup Is Money

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Pivotman Nate Thurmond, who announced retirement after a second operation in January, is strengthening his knee in the hope he can return to the San Francisco Warriors of the National Basketball Association.

"I've been injured twice, and it's depressing," Thurmond said. "But you can get injured walking across the street. I'd rather be permanently injured playing my sport than stepping off the curb."

The only hangup is money.

"I'm asking for $200,000 a year for five years," Thurmond said. "If they're willing to give Rick Barry $167,500, I think I'm worth $200,000. He's had two operations on his knee, too, only its the left one instead of the right."

GIANTS' JOHN TADDEUCCI

Veteran Executive At 33

By RALPH CHATOIAN

The San Francisco Giants' press book says he's the promotions director, but when you ask him, he'll tell you his title is that of director of group sales.

"Titles with the Giants organization don't really mean that much," says John Taddeucci of San Rafael, only 33 but already a veteran in the Giants' front office. He joined the Giants' organization in 1960, the day before the team's first game in Candlestick Park. His first job was that of team statistician.

"Working with the Giants is not an impersonal relationship because it's working for a family company, a rarity today," said Taddeucci. "That's one of the pleasures of my job."

KIND HEARTED

Says Taddeucci about the Giants' president and owner Horace Stoneham: "He's one of the most kind-hearted fellows you can ever meet." Granted Stoneham is Taddeucci's boss, but when John praises Stoneham, it comes across with fondness for the man, not just words.

An observer close to the Giants has said that Taddeucci is regarded very highly in the organization and has been sitting in on most of the high level meetings, especially since vice president (Charles (Chub) Feeney left the Giants to take over as National League president.

JOHN TADDEUCCI
A pleasant job

Actually, John is one of the few westerners in the Giants front office, as perhaps 70 per cent of the staff are New Yorkers who came with the Giants from that city in 1958 when the team moved west. Taddeucci is a native San Franciscan who was schooled at St. Ignatius High and University of Santa Clara.

Being on the inside, he's frequently asked questions concerning Willie Mays and his baseball playing future. His answer: "I think Willie Mays will play as long as he thinks he is valuable to his teammates. Mays has a terrific eye for talent, his own and other players'."

In listing Giant players of the past 10 years who have left the biggest impression on him, Taddeucci names Mays, Harvey Kuenn, now retired from baseball, coach Jimmy Davenport, first baseman Willie McCovey and outfielder Kenny Henderson, saying, "that 24-year-old man will be playing outfield for the Giants for a long time.

"These players, to me, really have great competitiveness."

The dark-haired, always impeccably dressed Taddeucci says that his is far from being a hum-drum job. Instead of working with numbers or forms, he's working with people, either ball players or fans.

REAL FANS

"You see people who are really Giant fans," says Taddeucci, "and they practically live and die baseball, either at the ballpark or listening on the radio. Working for these people is a very rewarding experience."

High point for Taddeucci, of course, was in 1962 when the Giants won the National League pennant.

"I'll never forget that night after the Giants won the pennant by beating Los Angeles in L.A.," he said. "I looked out of a window at the press headquarters in a San Francisco hotel and saw Market Street going wild. It was such a great feeling to be part of that celebration."

AVERAGE PLAYER

Taddeucci wasn't any more of a baseball player than the average kid, although he did play the game when he lived across the street from Funston Park as a youngster. His 7-year-old son, Dominic, is an avid ball player in a San Rafael Pee Wee League.

"He had a fractured arm this season and still played baseball with his arm in a cast," John laughed. "He couldn't swing but he bunted in two runs."

In addition to Dominic, he and wife Margi have two other children, Maria, 5, and Christina, 3.

Nancy Swadesh Admits She Was Primary Author Of I-J Pamphlet

Longtime Marin Democratic leader Nancy Swadesh, a vice president of the Americans for Democratic Action, has confirmed that she was the primary author of a pamphlet attacking the Independent-Journal and mailed to Marin Democrats last May.

Mrs. Swadesh — in a deposition in connection with the I-J's $5 million suit against her and two other Democratic leaders who signed the pamphlet — said that she gained most of the material she used from union officials.

Publication of the pamphlet was paid for by International Typographical Union 21, which has been on strike against the I-J since Jan. 7, she said.

The pamphlet called on Democrats to cancel subscriptions to the I-J, cease to advertise in the I-J, and boycott those stores that continued to advertise during the strike.

Mrs. Swadesh said that she agreed to work on a draft of a letter to be sent out to Democrats after a meeting called by Roger Kent, another defendant in the suit, at his home on March 22.

"Materials that appeared in the Independent-Journal, a letter that Mr. Olson had written outlining the strike as the union saw it and a good many conversations . . . with either Mr. Jenkins or Mr. Olson . . . " were used by her in preparing the draft, she said.

(Leon Olson is president of Local 21 and David Jenkins is an official of the International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union.)

After she wrote the letter draft, which included the assertion as did the final pamphlet, that "the paper wants to destroy the union," Mrs. Swadesh said she sent it to Kent and Robert Politzer, another defendant in the suit and chairman of the Marin Democratic Central Committee.

After they indicated approval, she said, she mailed it to union officials, who made additions and mailed the pamphlets.

Mrs. Swadesh said that as far as she knew, no one else contributed to the cost of the publication, which was sent to approximately 2,500 people who had "indicated an interest in Democratic activities over a period of years."

Asked if she would have signed the pamphlet as it finally appeared, Mrs. Swadesh refused to answer upon the advice of her attorney.

She did say, however, that several statements in the mailer had been added after she had written the original draft.

She had no information, he said, to support statements in the pamphlet such as: "Management's insistence on more than a $40 per week cut in pay for most workers."

Nor did she, she said, write the phrase accusing the I-J of "elimination of the apprenticeship training program (responsible for helping training minority youth.)"

(In the suit against the three Democrats, the I-J said that the I-J was already paying the proposed scale of wages and had agreed to further increases proposed by the union. The I-J has since proposed a further increase in wages for journeyman printers.

(Furthermore, the I-J contended that the paper "has always encouraged the training of minority workers, a record the union cannot boast.')

The information that "the paper wanted to destroy the union" came mostly from the union, Mrs. Swadesh said, but she also based the statement on "trends around the country" gleaned from reading.

Mrs. Swadesh, who said she discontinued her subscription to the I-J in 1963 but often buys copies at newsstands, said that her statement that the I-J has a "public be damned attitude" was based on a "general impression."

Furthermore, although she admitted she was aware that the San Francisco Chronicle and Examiner were distributed in Marin County, she considered the I-J a monopoly because "it is the only daily newspaper in the county . . . "

Mrs. Swadesh, who said she had started her career as a reporter, claimed that the Examiner and Chronicle likewise exert a public-be-damned attitude.

A deposition taken by Kent confirmed that the pamphlet had been drafted by Mrs. Swadesh following the meeting at his home. He said it was decided to mail the flyer after the I-J declined to discuss the strike with a committee to be appointed by the Marin Board of Supervisors.

Mrs. Swadesh, Kent and Politzer have all said that they have no intention of mailing any more pamphlets.

The suit by the I-J against the three for damages is still pending in Marin Superior Court.

Meany Is Censored By Letter Carriers

HONOLULU (UPI)—The nation's mailmen have passed a resolution censoring AFL-CIO President George Meany for urging Congress not to make their pay raises retroactive.

However, the National Association of Letter Carriers, at its biennial convention, also voted Thursday not to break off from the AFL-CIO.

Former Aide Awarded Appreciative Tribute

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The State Department announced Thursday Secretary of State William P. Rogers has awarded a "Tribute of Appecriation" to the late Dr. William M. Chapman, San Diego, Calif., for his long service to the department.

Chapman, who died June 25, was the first special assistant to the secretary for fisheries when the position was created late in the 1940s. Subsequently he served in an advisory capacity at a large number of international conferences dealing with various aspects of ocean affairs.
